

DEFECTS FOUND IN CLEAR LAKE PLAN

Defects in the proposed legislation for development of the Clear lake water project were pointed out at the meeting of promoters of the movement, local business men and others at the chamber of commerce. The plan was explained by J. M. Devers, assistant attorney-general, and W. H. Anderson of Albany, one of the chief movers in the project.

Some means should be taken to ascertain the sentiment of the people of Eugene on the plan, it was urged by Senators Fred Flek and Jack MacIntyre of Lane county. Statistics on the possibility of Clear lake as a water project were questioned by J. W. McArthur of the local water board, who said that while Eugene was primarily interested in the water supply from Clear Lake, other cities in the valley are largely concerned with its power possibilities and that of the McKenzie river. "I doubt if there is unlimited power in the McKenzie river. I have made a survey both at Clear lake and on the McKenzie, and I would estimate that 40,000 horse power could be developed through the Clear lake project. On the other hand, the McKenzie has few good power sites. One of the few good ones is now being used by the city of Eugene."

The broad condemnatory powers given the municipal corporation under the proposed law, to take over private and public owned water and power systems, and inadequacy of the amount, $15,000, set as a limit on bonds issued by approval of the voters for water and power development, were other points in the legislation questioned.

Senator Magruder urged that some prompt action be taken on the bill, and it is considered possible that a public mass meeting may be called to consider the bill.

The schedule of talks for the county agent has not yet been set but several will be held next week.

Two Offensives Launched Against Judge by Rivals

By HAROLD MATSON (NEA Service Writer)

DENVER, Feb. 6.—Judge Ben Lindsey must go. The powers that rule Colorado have decreed it. The powers are the units of the Ku Klux Klan.

By its recent victory at the polls the Klan controls the government of the state.

Because of his bitter opposition to the Klan, and by reason of the subtle power of the juvenile court over which he presides, the Klan is said to look upon Lindsey as its worst enemy within the state.

Two Plans Two offensives have been begun against Lindsey.

The first is a post election contest, based on the charge that there were illegalities in the voting.

The second is a proposed law to abolish the court, based on the theory that better results would be forthcoming through a unified court system.

All cases, juvenile and otherwise, would be handled by the district court, which would be increased from seven to nine judges.

The Klan feels that it won a moral victory over Lindsey in the recent elections. But it seeks more than a mere moral conquest.

In undertaking to oust him, the Klan is trying something that has been tried before.

The Klan backed Royal C. Graham, county judge, for Lindsey's post. Lindsey came through with 117 more votes.

But in the past, Lindsey had rolled into office with his majorities counted in the thousands.

Then the Klan announced that it would demand recount of the ballots. Should this fail, the abolition of the court would be the next attempt.

Permitting that Lindsey actually is doomed. He can challenge the result of the recount, if it is unfavorable.

But to carry through his challenge he must finance a third court, which might cost $50,000.

Even if he did just that, he still would face the attempt to remove him by abolishing the court.

"Here's Why" In either case, Lindsey admits, the Klan can win.

"Why does the Klan want my office?" Judge Lindsey asks. "Because I defied them. More seriously, however, because the juvenile court, in their hands, would be the most powerful weapon they could hold."

"Dealing with particularly private affairs, the court would give them an opportunity to pry into the personal affairs of most any person."

Lee Pattison and Guy Maier Coming For Concert Here

Guy Maier and Lee Pattison, the pianists who will be heard here in a two piano recital at University Woman's building on Tuesday, Feb. 10, are now so widely known that, as the critic of The New York Tribune said in commencing a review of one of their recent recitals: "When thinking of music for two pianos, one is instinctively led to think of Guy Maier and Lee Pattison."

The reason is that these artists have succeeded in popularizing a long neglected form of art and have raised it to a standard hitherto unapproached. After commenting on the different numbers played the same critic went on to say: "As usual, it seemed a perfect blending of the two parts. Two pianists, indeed, were playing, but to a listener keeping his eyes shut it would have seemed a single player, except for the fuller volume of sound, and a very good player at that, with smooth, skillful technique, a lightness of touch and a palette of many colors for his expression. Theme and accompaniment were tossed from one to the other and taken up with no hint of the junction, the synchronization was so exact. Each pianist always knew what the other was doing; the four hands struck chords always together."

PREPARATIONS FOR REVIVAL ARE MADE

The organization of the Demarest Union revival received the attention today of the advance agent of the party, Rev. C. G. Wrenn, and the executive committee of the campaign. Dr. J. Franklin Haas of the First Methodist church is the chairman of the executive committee, and Dr. C. E. Dunham of the First Baptist, the secretary. Plans for fitting up the armory for the campaign were entered into with C. E. Turner, chairman of the building committee. A large choir platform, arranged in tiers, is to be erected on the stage, and an extension to the main platform built for the speaker and the two pianos.

A large chorus choir is being organized, and the feature of the music of the meeting is receiving every attention. Agnew Demarest, assisting evangelist of the party and music director, is a trained musician who has been abroad and has behind him many years of organ and concert work, in addition to his seven years' experience in the evangelistic field, it is said.

The Demarests finish their work in Toronto tomorrow and then start on their western trip to open their Eugene engagement February 22.

In Salem, Oregon, where the Demarest Evangelistic party held a five weeks' union meeting last spring, the "Statesman" has to say: "The net results of the five weeks' meeting are twelve hundred converts to the Christian life, and hundreds if not thousands of professing Christians and good moral citizens set earnest toward better citizenship."

VISITORS' DAY PLAN FOR PLANT TALKED

In order that Eugeneans may have the opportunity of inspecting the municipal power plant and the large amount of new mechanical equipment installed during the past year it is probable that a special day will be arranged some time in the spring when a general invitation will be issued to the public to visit the Walterville plant, according to C. A. McClain, superintendent of public utilities.

"Visitors are always welcome at the power plant and the workings are explained but it has been suggested that a special visitors' day be arranged when a large gathering may view the extensive improvements installed during the past year or more," Mr. McClain said.

It has been suggested that the visit to the power plant be similar to the program held about four years ago at the celebration of the anniversary of the taking over of the plant by the municipality.

Arrangements for the annual outing of the Cascadians, the mountain climbing club of Yakima, Wash., are under way and the trip this summer will be to the Three Sisters, according to word received today by the Eugene chamber of commerce from the officials of the Yakima organization.

Information is asked of the chamber on obtaining packers for the trip in the vicinity of McKenzie bridge and Foley's, Packers and guides from Frog camp in on the skline trail will be needed, the communication states. A safe place for the parking of cars while the party is climbing the mountains is also asked. The date of the outing has not yet been set.

Eugene Boy Holds City Sales Record

Jimmie Wallace, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Kobe, 1022 Charnelton street, was notified today of his promotion to the senior degree in the League of Curtis Salesmen—an organization maintained for its more successful salesmen by the Curtis Publishing company of Philadelphia.

As a local representative of his company Jimmie has his own business cards and stationery, and as an additional reward for the successes he has achieved, he is entitled to membership in the Eugene Y. M. C. A., paid for by the Curtis Publishing company.

Jimmie is proudly wearing his senior pin, and to his friends is showing the certificate of his new rank, bearing the signatures of the sales manager of the company and the secretary of the league. He is in the fifth grade of the Washington school, and says he has already started to work for promotion into the "experts" degree—the next rank in the organization.

Club Charters of County are Asked

Application has been made to the state boys and girls club leaders for charters for 13 clubs organized in Lane county. Two others have been organized and charters for these will also be asked, according to the report of Arnold Collier, county club leader. A total membership of 170 boys and girls is reported for Lane so far. All of these clubs have been organized since the first of the year. Last year a total of 29 clubs were reported in Lane.

Four Oaks Grange Has Anniversary

A crowd of 100 or more persons gathered at the new grange hall of the Four-Oaks grange, five miles southwest of Eugene, last evening for a basket dinner and program given in observance of the tenth birthday anniversary of the organization. A basket dinner was served at 7 o'clock, with the crowd gathered around one

SHAFT GOES DOWN FOR CAVE RESCUE

Large crowds are hampering the work. A Red Cross hospital unit has been established on the grounds. Physicians are constantly on duty prepared for emergency service.

Workers were somewhat discouraged by the nature of the strata they had penetrated with the diamond point drill. Further drilling to the 40-foot level indicated that there was no limestone or sandstone of depth necessitating blasting for at least 45 feet from the surface.

Collins' Dog Knows Chinese Chow, a dog of uncertain pedigree, seems to know that his master, Floyd Collins, is being detained in Sand cave. All day Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Chinese Chow hung around the cavern entrance, without a chance to go into the cave. Men kicked him and threw sticks and stones at him, because he was in the way. Yesterday somebody recognized Chinese Chow and the Collins family took him home.

The shaft being sunk near Sand cave entrance is going down with painful slowness. Miners dig a foot or two and then halt for timbering to prevent the side caving in. Half of Friday night was spent on a timbering job and this morning the mine was little more than 20 feet deep.

At 10 a. m., today, Collins had been entombed 192 hours and it had been 45 hours since the last rescuer heard him mumble, "I'm covered with dirt, Oh, God, help me!" These were the last words anyone heard Collins say.

Ideals and philosophy of the Rotary club were explained to 10 new members elected during the last year, who were guests of the educational committee of the organization at a dinner at the Osburn hotel last night.

The guests were Professor Orin E. Stafford, Mahlon Sweet, Carl Kopp, Fred Moxley, W. T. Gordon, Paul Kelly, J. A. McKeivitt, Arthur Morris, Benn E. C. Robbins, Ralph Martin, others at the banquet were Carl H. Washburn, president of the club, E. U. Lee, vice-president, Dr. C. R. Wiloughby, chairman of the educational committee, and J. A. McLean.

Following are the talks given during the evening: "Rotary Philosophy," by Dean E. C. Lee, vice-president of the local club; "History of the Rotary International and of the Rotary Movement," by Lari Washburn.

Dog License Funds Of Lane are Light

Although efforts have been made to bolster the county dog license fund with appeals to owners to pay the tax there has been but little headway so far as only 230 tags have been issued at the office of the county clerk for 1935. This is less than half of the number of dogs reported in the county last year and at that time it is believed that there were many dog owners who failed to obtain the 1934 license. The dog license fees go into the fund to pay sheep owners for loss of their flocks by dogs. This fund is now overdrawn.

Mammoth Slide is Blocking Highway

ROSEBURG, Ore., Feb. 7.—A mammoth slide of rock and dirt is blocking the Pacific highway about one mile west of Myrtle Creek, the pavement being entirely blocked for about 300 yards. The slide occurred last evening shortly after one of the big stages had passed the point. A big bluff of rock swept across the road into the river and motorists were forced to make the trip south over the old Roberts mountain route, which is extremely dangerous at this time of the season. The resident engineer states that the highway will be closed until this afternoon.

U. S. a universal symbol for security and rectitude

The initials U. S. on a bond give it a margin for security and reliability. In the Courts it means justice. On a passport it assures protection. In China it means unselfishness and square shooting.

So, too, in the realm of Lane County banking, U. S. is a symbol for security. It inspires confidence because the U. S. National Bank has aided business fairly and squarely, progressively and intelligently for the past thirty years. Let it be your aid in banking.
