COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ. Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption. Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga. (Adv.)

GOVERNOR VETOES SCHOOL CONTRACT BILL AS PROPOSED

STATE HOUSE, SALEM, Ore., Feb. 9.—Holding that house bill No. 91, introduced by the committee of education, is in the interest of the school book publishers, Governor Pierce today vetoed the measure. It is a measure providing for renewal of contracts between the state and the companies.

Oregon laws, proposes to remedy a situation arising over the renewal of text book contracts, which will expire in June, 1925," says the veto message. "The present law provides that the state text book commission shall adopt one-third of the text books at each biennial meeting. As former adoptions were made every six years, it follows that when the contracts expire next June, there will be two thirds of the text books unadopted. The law provided for this in stating 'all contracts with publishers for books not changed shall remain in force until the re-adoption, replacement or substitution of said text books.' This means that a text book company which has already enjoyed a lucrative contract for years will have its contract extended for two years. The state of Oregon stands ready to comply with this provision of the law, but I am informed by the state superintendent of public

ADJUTANT GENERAL IS EXONERATED BY REPORTS TO STATE

STATE HOUSE, SALEM, Ore., Feb. 9.—(Special).—Adjutant General George A. White was cleared of charges of petty irregularities in his office made by Major Charles E. Gjedsted, when Atch J. Tourtelotte, certified public accountant employed by Governor Pierce, and a general military staff, composed of prominent men in the state, made their reports Saturday.

Both reports showed that there were no irregularities, and that a spirit of malice actuated Major Gjedsted in making the charges.

"It is our opinion from an inquiry into all of the facts," read the report, "that Major Gjedsted's affidavit was inspired by a spirit of revenge for his discharge from the office. Further, that the affidavit and the efforts of Major Gjedsted to obtain publicity as a result of his action showed him to be undependable and that he has by his conduct outraged all the principles of soldierly conduct, trustworthiness and other manly qualities."

Mr. Tourtelotte gave General White an unequivocal clearance and clean bill of health.

"There is no indication of any irregularity of any nature in the adjutant-general's office or its administration," said the Tourtelotte report.

Comments in Reports.

In addition to finding no basis for Major Gjedsted's public charges of petty irregularities, both reports commented upon the disclosure that the vouchers which Major Gjedsted attempted to question were prepared and sworn to by Major Gjedsted.

When asked by Lieutenant-Colonel E. C. Libby, of the general staff, to explain this conflict in his own affidavits, Mr. Gjedsted refused to answer. He made the same reply to the accountants representing the governor.

The report of the general staff was signed by Lieutenant-Colonel Eugene Mosherberger of Woodburn, Lieutenant-Colonel Eugene C. Libby of Portland, Major Joel C. Booth of Lebanon, Major Fred M. West of Portland and Captain J. E. Shearer of Tillamook.

CONTRASTS ADD BEAUTY TO NEW SPRING STYLES

by Peggy Paige

Just as it is the night that enhances the brightness of twinkling stars, and quiet that brings out the deepest beauty of music, so it is that contrast lends interest wherever it is found.

Bright prints and embroideries never seem so gay and colorful as when used in combination with sombre black. Rich blacks never seem so deep and rich as when combined with white, and satins are never quite so lustrous as when combined with dull and sombre crepes.

Mildly Fashion, in her new Spring frocks, has contrasted everything she could lay artistic hands on—she's used light colors and satins to relieve dark frocks, bright buttons to contrast with "quiet" colors in fabric, dark over-drapings to enhance the brightness of colorful panels and godets.

If you would be interesting and attractive this Spring—somewhere, somehow, work in a contrast!

machine. This machine is an old one, brought to Alaska three years ago, in a half sporting, half commercial enterprise, organized by sourdoughs or pioneers of the north.

"Everything looks fine," agreed Mackie, "although the temperature of 55 degrees below zero has made things very difficult. I froze one of my hands this afternoon while sitting in the cockpit of the bus warming up and testing the engine."

Anti-Toxin Received

The Alaska railroad received at Seward Saturday, 1,130,000 units of diphtheria anti-toxin and at Nenana, late yesterday, put off 510,000 units, bringing the remaining 620,000 here for the plane to carry.

Dog teams of the United States mail left Nenana at 4:15 yesterday afternoon with the anti-toxin put off there from the railroad.

Dr. Curtis Welch, stationed at Nome for the United States public health service, has announced that he will send special relays of mushers (men traveling with sleds and dog teams) out from Nome across Norton Sound to meet the mail teams and speed the serum.
