

HOUSE VOTES TO OVER-RIDE VETO ON TRAFFIC BILL

STATE HOUSE, SALEM, Ore., Feb. 21.—With just the exact number of votes necessary to override the governor's veto the house today passed senate bill 34 which provides for the employment of 25 traffic officers under the secretary of state and an increase in pay.

The house killed house bill 422 today. The measure, introduced by the Jackson delegation, would have provided for a preliminary county convention scheme.

House bill 416, defeated and then reconsidered, was ordered referred back to the forestry and conservation committee for an amendment to provide that the law shall not be applicable as far as contract making is concerned until February, 1927. The bill would authorize the state forestry board to classify denuded lands for reforestation with exceptional low taxation rates. It will likely be voted upon Monday.

House joint resolution 20, calling for the appointment of a commission to study reforestation and to submit a code for action of the next legislature was adopted.

The house today passed house bill 132, by Representative Kilbuck, providing that the state board of control shall have direct supervision over the preparation of budgets rather than the budget commission.

Sum of $50,000 would be appropriated for the children's farm home in Benton county by house bill 88 passed by the house this morning. The money is for the building of cottages and school rooms.

The house passed house bill 447 providing for an Americanization commission and an appropriation of $2500 for 1925 and 1926 for carrying on education work among foreign population of the state.

Among bills passed by the senate today were: S. B. 247, committee on Crater—For protection of bear in Crater Lake park. S. B. 428, Hamilton—Increasing salaries of water masters.

BUGLE CORPS WILL PLAY AT MEETING

A large number of delegates from the Eugene American legion post, headed by Kenneth C. Able, commander, and the drum and bugle corps, headed by George E. Love, past commander and state head of the Forty and Eight society, will attend the district legion convention in Corvallis March 14, it is announced.

Eight districts in Oregon will convene during March, and the district of which Corvallis and Eugene are members, will include legion posts from Salem, Dallas, Silverton, Independence, Albany, Brownsville, Toledo, Newport, Monroe, Junction City, Eugene, Creswell, Springfield, Nott, and Cottage Grove.

George Griffith of Salem, state commander, will be a speaker at the meeting, and Carl Moser of Silverton, state adjutant, will also be present. Protest is Filed On City dog Pound

Remonstrance against the present location of the city dog pound was filed in the office of Judge George A. Gilmore, city recorder, today by 25 residents in the neighborhood of Twelfth avenue and Madison street, near which the pound is located.

The petitioners urge the removal of the pound to some other section of the city where it will not be an annoyance.

"Veiling and howling of the dogs impounded here is a very disturbing and annoying nuisance," the complainants read. It will be submitted to the city council at its next meeting.

"Play Jury" is to Judge Naughty Acts

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—(Special)—A play on Broadway against which fair complaint seems to be laid, will hereafter be passed upon by a "play jury" of 12 citizens, any nine of whom may either send the production to the store house or order it expurgated, without appeal from their decision.

District Attorney Bantoo announced he had reached this decision today after the plan was presented to him today by spokesmen for more than 40 organizations, managers, playwrights, actors and impartial friends of the theater.

PRaise GIVEN POOR FARM BY JURY FOR FINE MANAGEMENT

Highly commending the manner in which the Lane county poor farm is conducted, the grand jury late this afternoon turned in a report on their findings following a visit to the institution yesterday. The county court and Mr. and Mrs. Victor Hoare, managers of the farm, are praised for the change in conditions a time farm noted since the last visit of the grand jury, the report states.

Owing to the fact that there are several cases yet to be completed by the jury a request to the court has been made that they be convened again Tuesday in order to complete their work and final reports.

In the report on the county farm the jury states that they find the inmates well taken care of, food plentiful and well served and conditions highly satisfactory. "A careful, sanitary and businesslike management," is noted in the report by the grand jurors.

OREGON SWIMMERS FACE MULTNOMAH

University of Oregon will face the Multnomah club of Portland in a dual swimming meet tonight in the Wagoner's building tank, starting at 7:30 o'clock. Eight events will be on the program, 100-yard free style, 100-yard back stroke, 100-yard breast stroke, 220-yard dash, 220-yard swim, 50-yard dash, men's diving, and 100-yard relay.

Three special events, in which the co-eds will participate, also will be on the program. The girls will take part in the 20-yard dash, 20-yard breast stroke and fancy diving.

Several weeks ago Oregon met Multnomah in Portland, and the result was a 34 to 34 tie.

Each team will enter two men for each event, except the relay. The first three places will count. Oregon is coached by Rudolph Fahl, and Multnomah by Jack Cody.

The list of officials is announced here after that of Washington. Bill Hayward, starter and referee; Bob Mautz, and L. Palmer, judges of finish; John Burke, Del Oberstuffer and Harry Scott, timers; and Harry Scott, L. Palmer and Happy Keuhn, judges of diving.

66 PER CENT OF 'Y' FUND GAINED

With 66 per cent of the $12,500 quota subscribed, Y. M. C. A. budget week campaign workers are concentrating their efforts for a final drive next Monday. No reports for today's results are available as the usual daily luncheon was not held this noon.

Relative of George Occupies his bed

Colonel John C. Lewis Realizes Life Ambition
(By NEA Service)
LOUISVILLE, Ky., Feb. 21.—Perhaps the happiest man in these parts in Colonel John C. Lewis, 81, said to be Washington's nearest living relative.

For he has realized a life-long ambition. He has visited Mount Vernon, Virginia, seen the Washington home, and has slept all night in the bed of the father of his country.

Colonel Lewis is the great grand-nephew of George Washington.

Ever since when as a child his close relation to Washington was traced out for him on the family tree, he had longed to visit the scene of his ancestor's manhood.

Proud of his family record, Colonel Lewis made the wishes of George Washington his own.

But it was only after he had passed his 81st birthday, that he had the chance to realize his cherished ambition—to sleep in the bed where Washington dreamed.

The Daughters of the American Revolution heard how Colonel Lewis had modeled his life as nearly as possible after that of Washington.

It issued an invitation to him to visit the estates, and to sleep in the bed.

Colonel Lewis was overjoyed. He accepted the invitation, and lay down to a comfortable dreamless sleep.

In the morning he awakened with a sense of vigor he had not felt for years.

"It was worth waiting for," he tells his friends.

Colonel Lewis' great grandfather, Colonel Fielding Lewis of Fredericksburg, Pa., married Betty Washington, sister of the first president.

George Washington had no direct lineal descendants.

Colonel Lewis is a veteran of the civil war, having served under General Robert E. Lee, "Stonewall" Jackson and General Joseph Johnson.

He was in the famous Shenandoah campaign in Jackson's army.

He was wounded in the battle of the Seven Pines.

Retiring, he founded the largest department store in Louisville.

But his friends say his biggest thrill came the night he was permitted to sleep in the bed of George Washington.

FIRE PREVENTION PLAN IS POPULAR

Plans for the county-wide celebration of American Forest week are rapidly taking shape, announces Nelson F. Macduff, supervisor of the Cascade national forest, who conferred with rangers at Oakridge and Reserve this week about the observance in their districts.

"Boys and girls of Eugene are carrying the idea to their parents, and through the young people we expect to do our most effective work," says Mr. Macduff.

"The idea of a week devoted to the interest of forests originated in the Pacific northwest five years ago, under the name of Forest

PROTECTION WEEK

The idea has spread rapidly, and for the past four years it has been the subject of proclamations by the president, as well as many governors and mayors.

Much has been done in the last year. Mr. Macduff points out, to bring forest protection home to people of Eugene and Lane county.

"Here in the district of the Cascade national forest," said Mr. Macduff, "we shall continue to stress forest fire prevention and behavior in the forest as the main point of the week. Other phases of forestry will be brought into the campaign, but fire prevention is our most urgent problem."

22ND BODY AT MINE RECOVERED

taining oxygen and the concussion of the explosion brought loose coal and a shower of timber down on the workers.

Cutting Machine Used. Mine experts said a cutting machine, working close to the wall of an abandoned mine had cut through a partition releasing a flood of gas that had accumulated in the old workings.

A flame from a miners' lamp ignited the gas and caused the explosion. In four instances, fathers and sons were victims. These were Earl and Lex Robertson, Phillip and Wayne Walters, Florence and Emil Levecoy and Earl and Frank Hawhee.

The sole survivor of these working near the entrances wrecked by the blast was Elmer Davidson. Today he was recovering from cuts and bruises.

Cobb Lamb, a member of the rescue team after an exploration of the workings said there was a possibility that some of the bodies would never be recovered. There were many bad falls, he said, that had covered some of the bodies, making it almost impossible to retrieve them.

Plans are Made to Take Trout Eggs

BEND, Ore., Feb. 21.—Pearl Lynes, superintendent of the Tumalo hatchery left yesterday for the Eysing station at the head of Fall river to make preparations for taking trout eggs in the streams and lakes of the Cascades.

From Fall river, Lynes with three other men will go on skis into the Crane prairie country where traps will be placed in the channel of the river near the upper end of the prairie. This is the first time fish traps have been placed here and so the eggs will be to a large extent experimental, Lynes said.

Pullman Surcharge Elimination Downed

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—The house commercial committee today refused to favorably report a bill authorizing elimination of the Pullman surcharge.

For quality cigars, Prince Nemo.

SUPERVISOR HOME FROM FIELD TRIP

Nelson F. Macduff, supervisor of the Cascade National forest, has returned from a field trip to Oakridge where he conferred with J. E. McFarland, district ranger, with regard to the comprehensive trail plans for the forest as well as the local observation of American Forest week.

On his return Mr. Macduff stopped at Westfield where he conferred with H. E. Haefner, who represents the national forest there. At West Boundary Mr. Macduff went over plans for forest week with H. J. Engles, ranger, as well as plans for O. A. C.'s annual summer camp.

The big sawmill of the Western Lumber company is being tuned up ready for spring business. Mr. Macduff reports. The mill, at the rate preparations are being made, should be operating at full capacity within

Inauguration Will Be Covered by net Of Radio Stations

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—A coast-to-coast radio net to carry the inauguration of President Coolidge, was outlined today in an announcement of the American Telephone and Telegraph company and the Radio Corporation of America. It will be the first time the country at large has been able to listen in such a way.

The ceremonies at the capital will be picked up by microphones of the long distance company and transmitted by existing stations over the country. These in turn will send their own signal to the air.

NAMES

You meet Mr. Howard and Mr. Walters in a gathering. Their names are to you but two of many you hear.

A few days later you meet Mr. Howard again. And again. He becomes a friend, perhaps an intimate in your social as well as business life.

Mr. Howard's name grows to mean a lot to you. Mr. Walters is rarely seen again and soon forgotten.

In this newspaper are other names—names of advertised products. Day after day you see them. They are like old friends—to be trusted. Their names mean economy, full value and integrity.

The unadvertised products—perhaps you see one in a store—or in a friend's home. Soon the name is forgotten—a stranger about whom you know little.

Fill your medicine closet, your pantry, your wardrobe with products whose names are guarantees of their integrity—advertised products. Like intimate friends—you know what they are and will do.

Read the advertisements and know the names that are worth knowing in the market place
