BEND, Ore., Feb. 25.—The skeleton of a man found last Saturday on Aubrey Heights was positively identified today as that of Peter View, father of A. View, 574 Lafayette street, Portland, and Mrs. C. S. Strahl, 870 East 41st street, north, Portland.

Identification was made by the hat and mackinaw found near the body, the gold watch, eye glasses and the case for the glasses. Mrs. Strahl said the mackinaw was the same worn by her father when he left Portland early in 1920. He was 65 years of age at the time he left home.

Mrs. Strahl and her brother read the account of finding the skeleton in a special dispatch to a Portland paper, and with Mr. Strahl came to Bend, arriving early this morning.

Mrs. Strahl said that her father, who was a millwright by trade had $1200 in his possession when he left home and came to Bend. He had been in poor health. He started to build houses here, she said.

An account in the name of Peter View, at a local bank was closed out March 1, 1920, according to officials of the bank. A checkbook on the bank was one of the things found near the body. Five dollars in cash was found in the coat pocket. The skeleton was found late Saturday in a clump of bushes by Ray Solberg, a high school student. Efforts at first were centered on identifying the body by means of a gold watch found in a pocket of the coat.

STUDENTS PLAN TO BEAUTIFY SCHOOL

An offer from the Junior chamber of commerce of Eugene high school, to beautify and landscape the grounds of the school building, read last night at the meeting of the school board in the city hall, was accepted by the board. Pupils of the school will do the work of adding flower beds, vines and shrubbery to the school lawn.

The board favored the plan suggested by M. J. Thompson, representing the Ku Klux Klan, whereby a chapter from the Bible, the English revised edition, be read to their classes every day, and a committee of three, with W. A. Elkins as its head, was appointed to draw up a schedule of study.

Teachers will be appointed the latter part of next month, according to O. H. Jones, secretary of the school board. The board now has on file many applications for teaching positions in Eugene schools, but will give first consideration to those now acting as teachers.

"The board is unusually well pleased with its teaching force this year," said Mr. Jones, "and considering the handicap many of them have been under on account of shortage of room and lack of teaching facilities, the work has been uniformly good."

Detroit Has Record (By NEA Service) DETROIT, Feb. 25.—In the 24 years that the American League has been in existence, Detroit has won the pennant on but three occasions, 1907-08-09. It has yet to win a world series.

But while the Tigers haven't done so much in a championship way, they can at least lay claim to one rather unique record. And that is that Detroit has never finished the season in last place.

On several occasions the Tigers have wound up in the second division; have landed fifth, sixth and seventh, but thus far have always managed to escape the cellar. They had an especially narrow call in 1902, a disastrous season, by Baltimore alone saving them from finishing last.

Y. M. C. A. LACKING $1000 ON BUDGET

Although $1000 remains yet to be collected towards the Y. M. C. A. budget, the board of directors of the organization have assumed responsibility for this amount and declare they will see that it is raised. The sum of $10,834.70 was actually reported at the close of the campaign Monday night.

Division "A" in the final check up led Division "B," the former securing $5,515.70, and the latter $4959. The team captained by Dr. S. W. Moody secured the greatest percentage of quotas, reporting 128 per cent.

The campaign just closed is known as the annual budget-week campaign and is conducted annually to supplement the natural income of the Eugene Y. M. C. A. The $12,500 quota set for this year is virtually the same as raised a year ago.

W. K. Newell acted as division chairman, with two division leaders, J. C. Holt and A. E. Brigham. There were 14 team captains. Ten of these were men's teams who covered the business district and four were women's teams who confined their efforts to the residential districts. Daily luncheons were held throughout the week giving the progress of the drive. Interest in the campaign remained at a high pitch throughout the week, and drive leaders said that this year's organization was the most loyal ever seen in Eugene.

Spence, state market agent, was criticized for political activities at the last election in house concurrent resolution No. 16 introduced today by Representative Roberts, Miller and Mann. Senators Roberts and Carnier, who signed themselves "wheat raiser and republicans."

Pointing out that in the federal service it is a misdemeanor for public servant under civil service to take part in political campaigns, the resolution declares that Spence should be censured by the state, although there is no law to touch him.

Spence is charged with expending his activities "in an effort to split the vote so as to defeat a candidate slated to be not only the ideal candidate, but the idol of the republicanism and a democratic form of government." The document also asks that the house and senate go on record "unambiguously and unequivocally oppose, upbraid and condemn said market agent for the party played by him in said late campaign."

Further, it is resolved, says the resolution, "that this legislature hereby goes on record as unambiguously opposed to appointees of the state in the future taking any ultra-active part
