

Social Events of Week

One of the more picturesque costume parties of the winter was the colonial affair given recently by Evangeline chapter, Order of Eastern Star. The officers of the group in their costumes are shown above and are from left to right, Mrs. J. B. McFall, Mrs. Maciel Beck, Mrs. F. R. Hunt, Mrs. F. M. Baker, Mrs. W. F. Walker, Mrs. Carrie Knight, Mrs. R. S. Huaton, E. S. Tuttle, Mrs. George McLean, Mrs. William B. Neal, Mrs. F. Eggiman, Mrs. Susie Gerot, Mrs. Rose Powell, Mrs. A. P. McKenzie, Mrs. A. D. Sickafosse, L. J. Couch.

ENGROSSED in the multitude of alterations and plans that annually come with the time of spring those who ordinarily give social affairs their time and thought have perhaps it was because of the needed calm that followed the busy preceding weeks, and again it was more than likely because one and all found it a delight to make ready for things typically spring and more or less overlook the dying glimmer of winter formality, that brought on the abrupt lull.

At any rate there was the suppressed atmosphere about which plainly told folks were taking time for other duties and activities and allowing social gaieties to await another time.

Already there are hints that plans are out for the final weeks of work in the clubs. Within another month or two or three perhaps a number of the clubs will have finished their programs for the year.

The distinctive social event of the week just ending was the large tea for which Mrs. E. E. Snodgrass and Mrs. C. A. Burden extended invitations for this afternoon at the Osburn hotel. Added to the visiting list this week was Mrs. W. H. Matthews, an interesting guest from Spokane who was a visitor at the home of her sister, Mrs. W. W. Calkins.

On Tuesday will be held the opening and reception of the Congregational church in the new edifice. The affair will be one of a number of events which will be given during the church's dedication week which starts tomorrow, and in which a large number of Eugeneans are actively interested.

Approaching examinations at the university have brought an end to the social functions for the winter term on the campus, but with the opening of the spring term comes an avalanche of class picnics, house picnics, aside from a long list of all-campus festivities which are exclusively spring's.

The fresh glee holds prominence tonight as the largest and most important event for the campus folks during the formal period of the winter months.

On Thursday afternoon the March tea for faculty women at the university will be held and will be one of the larger social affairs of the coming seven days.

Interesting will be the annual conference of the Oregon State Editorial association which Eugeneans will entertain next week-end, and which always brings with it some number of affairs that are of great importance to the activity of the city at that time.

With St. Patrick's day awaiting but a week or so away, hostesses will find it a delight to choose from the brilliant verdant motifs of the time. A number of entertainments are centering around the day.

In compliment to Mrs. Lloyd Small who is soon to leave Eugene, Mrs. E. E. DeCon presided at an informal tea on Monday afternoon at her home, inviting a few intimate friends of Mrs. Small in for the occasion. A bouquet of daffodils centered the attractive tea table. Those calling for the afternoon were Mrs. Small, Mrs. W. E. Milne, Mrs. R. C. Crow, Mrs. F. L. Stinson, Mrs. Raymond Wheeler, Mrs. H. G. Tanner, Mrs. Roger Williams, Mrs. E. L. Packard, Mrs. Harry Yocom, Miss Marie Ridings.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Roome were dinner hosts Saturday evening, asking as their guests Mr. and Mrs. Chester Stevenson, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Holden, Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Smith, Mr. Rooms chose daffodils as the predominant feature of the decorations. Following the dinner bridge was played.

Another interesting event of the social activities will be the concert this coming Tuesday evening in the auditorium of the First Methodist Episcopal church with Florence Easton, soprano of the Metropolitan Opera company, as the soloist. The musicale is one of a series being sponsored by the students of the University of Oregon. It will be given at eight o'clock. Miss Easton is a singer of fine and rare qualities, and Eugene music lovers are greatly appreciative of the opportunity to hear her in local concert.

The Jolly Girls met Monday evening in the L. O. O. F. temple for a combined social and business meeting. The novel feature of the social time was the "Irish dinner," Miss Jessie Walker was chairman of the committee of hostesses for the evening, and was assisted by Mrs. Echo Neal, Miss Halverson, Mrs. C. M. O'Day and Miss Weltha Trafer.

Eugeneans are anticipating the concert of March 19 at which time Mrs. Fred J. Clark, mezzo-soprano, and John Stark Evans, organist, will be presented at the auditorium of the new Congregational church.

Mrs. W. H. Matthews Of Spokane is Feted Guest

Mrs. W. H. Matthews of Spokane, Washington, who has been visiting for the past several weeks as the guest of her sister, Mrs. W. W. Calkins, has been the honored guest for society this week.

On Wednesday Mrs. Calkins presided at an attractive luncheon at her home complimenting Mrs. Matthews.

Mrs. A. H. McDonald was hostess for a theater party Wednesday evening for about a dozen friends of Mrs. Calkins and Mrs. Matthews.

On Thursday Mrs. Matthews was a guest at the U. D. Bridge club which Mrs. Seth Laraway entertained at her home at a one o'clock luncheon and afternoon of bridge.

Mrs. Wilson R. Coffey will entertain with a bridge luncheon at her home Tuesday, complimenting Miss Henrietta Lawrence of Portland.

Eugene friends are welcoming home Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Yoran and Mrs. J. W. Kays who returned this week from Los Angeles. Mr. and Mrs. Yoran have been in the southern city for about three months, while Mrs. Kays went down during the Christmas holidays to visit her sons, Warren and Willis Kays.

To a large number of Eugene society the coming week brings no more interesting event than the reception to be given Tuesday afternoon and evening at the new Congregational church on Thirteenth and Ferry streets as a part of the dedication week ceremonies of the church. The reception is open to the public.

On the evening Wednesday Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Small will leave Eugene for Seattle to make their home.

Two Entertain for Afternoon Affair At the Osburn

Mrs. P. E. Snodgrass and Mrs. C. A. Burden were hostesses for a most charming tea at the Osburn hotel this afternoon, extending invitations to one hundred or more. The palm room and tea room of the hotel were gorgeously arrayed in the various-colored blooms of spring, the one large table being notably attractive with its huge bouquet of flowers in the center.

At the doorway of the room were little Elizabeth Shumaker and Jean Taylor to bid the guests to the palm room where Mrs. Snodgrass and Mrs. Burden received. Assisting about the rooms were Mrs. David Auld, Mrs. Lamar Tooser, Mrs. C. A. E. Whitton, Mrs. A. A. Rogers, Mrs. Ernest Straud, Mrs. Lawrence Harris, Mrs. W. T. Gordon, Mrs. John Benefield, Mrs. Frank Jenkins, Mrs. Blaine Hovey.

Pouring at the tea table were Mrs. Frank L. Chambers, Mrs. Adlie Osburn, Mrs. W. P. Jewett, Mrs. Herbert Clark, while assisting in serving were Miss Lois Paisley, Miss Gertrude Livermore, Miss Clare Whitten, Miss Frances Pierce and Miss Dorothy Mansell.

During the afternoon a number of the girls of Mu Phi Epsilon gave a musical program.

Quite the merriest and most pleasurable event of the season for a number of children was the large birthday party given this afternoon by Mrs. Seth Laraway, in honor of the birthday anniversary of her daughter, Euphena Laraway. Mrs. Laraway was assisted by Mrs. W. O. Swan, Miss Ida Patterson, and Miss Florence Huntress. Swings, and numerous other play time fixtures had been arranged in the Laraway hall where the party was given for the pleasure of the guests, while the many games enjoyed by children were played, followed by a birthday luncheon.

The Amusement club dance planned for March 10 has been postponed until March 17.

Mrs. Fred Chambers entertained for a very quaint and attractive affair on Thursday afternoon at her home when she had a table of club members to come for a one o'clock luncheon. Mrs. Chambers had told her guests it was to be a real old-fashioned country dinner affair, and so they all came attired in old-fashioned costumes, representing the several eras of style for many years back.

Mrs. Seth Laraway entertained for luncheon at her home Thursday for the U. D. Bridge club. Invited guests for the afternoon were Mrs. W. H. Matthews of Spokane, and Mrs. E. R. Bryson. The club is planning for a no-hostess meeting in two weeks.

After a visit of a month or more at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Ingalls, Mrs. Earl H. Zeller left the first of the week with her children, Ruth, Marian, and Robert, for their home in The Dalles.

Fortnightly club members held an interesting program on Thursday afternoon of this week at the chamber of commerce rooms. The subject for the afternoon was Japan. Mrs. Mary Seigart had as a topic, "Feudal and Military Traditions Leading to Social Efficiency." Mrs. Blaine Hovey had "Japanese Seal for Expansion, Economics vs. Military," and Mrs. E. F. Carleton had "The Japanese Legislation in America." In two weeks the club will have another meeting.

Mrs. S. M. Calkins was hostess Tuesday to the Eastside division of the Central Presbyterian Ladies' Aid society at her home.

The Rebekah lodge members enjoyed an evening of entertainment Wednesday in the L. O. O. F. temple, following a dinner.

Mrs. Fred J. Clark arrived this week from Waterloo, Iowa, with her two children Mr. and Mrs. Clark will reside on Eighteenth avenue east, near Alder street.

Program for Benefit Musicales-Ball Announced

The large ball and musicale to be given on April third at the Woman's building on the campus under the auspices of the local branch of the American Federation of Arts will be attractive for many reasons and will merit the generous patronage it will undoubtedly receive from the public. Civic pride and interest in the university will prompt many to buy tickets, but to insure every one who attends a worth-while entertainment whether they dance or not, a musicale in which a great variety of talent will appear has been arranged. Following the musicale will be the dancing, while for those who do not seek this form of diversion opportunity will be given to view the Murray Warner Oriental collection to which has been recently added many new pieces. Mrs. Murray Warner will also at this time give an illustrated lecture on Chinese art as presented by the collection in the larger room of the museum.

Feature dancing by a group of university students will add interest to the ball. The hour for the opening of the musicale is set for eight o'clock. Dancing begins at nine o'clock, and the feature dance will be presented at ten o'clock. The art museum will be open all the evening while Mrs. Warner's lecture will be given at nine o'clock.

The patrons and patronesses of the occasion are Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Chambers, Mr. and Mrs. Carl G. Washburne, Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Newell, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Ruth, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Lawrence, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Schroff, Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Zane and Miss Maude Kerns and members of the art department of the university.

Musicalé Will Be Given For Tea On Thursday
For the final monthly tea of the winter term university faculty women will be entertained at Alumni hall Thursday afternoon of the coming week. An especially interesting musicale has been arranged for the occasion. Solos will be given by Betty Nelson, soprano; Harriet Baldwin, pianist; Gwendolyn Hayden, violinist; Beulah Clark, flutist; Jean Harper, pianist, and Mrs. Merton Camerou will give a reading.
Hostesses for the afternoon will be Mrs. E. L. Packard, Mrs. Delbert Obersteuffer, Mrs. Karl Outbank, Mrs. Thelma Parsons, Miss Jane O'Reilly, Miss Barbara Page, Mrs. Edith Patten, Mrs. Ellen M. Pennell, Miss Mary H. Perkins, Mrs. Alfred Powers, Mrs. George Rebec, Mrs. W. J. Reinhart, Miss Marie Ridings, Mrs. Oscar Richards, Miss Bernice Rise, Mrs. E. C. Robbins, Mrs. H. E. Rosson, Miss Gladys Platt.

An interesting visitor entertained on the university campus this week was Miss Grace Louks, of the student department of the national board of the Young Women's Christian association. Miss Louks has been here to discuss with various student groups the problems of a campus, and has held several interesting informal lecture hours. On Thursday evening she was the guest of honor for a supper for which members of the university Y. W. C. A. cabinet entertained at the Anchorage. Miss Louks' office is in New York. She left Eugene this morning.

St. Patrick's day motifs made a gala setting for the benefit bridge tea given Tuesday in the chamber of commerce rooms by Mrs. Juanita Pennington on table etiquette and entertaining. The lecture is being given under the auspices of the Home Science club.

Eugene women are particularly interested in the lecture to be given the coming Tuesday in the chamber of commerce rooms by Mrs. Juanita Pennington on table etiquette and entertaining. The lecture is being given under the auspices of the Home Science club.

Mrs. Harmon Anderson presided at an attractive luncheon at her home yesterday, the occasion being a meeting of the Friday Bridge club.

L. O. E. Club Elects Officers for New Year

Costumes of every season, style and color were out in a dazzling display Thursday afternoon when the L. O. E. club members were entertained at the Elks temple for a costume party and afternoon of bridge. Mrs. "Biford" McKy and Mrs. Charles Jones were hostesses in the card rooms, and Mrs. Robert Bidde, Mrs. A. W. Stien, and Mrs. Harry Devereaux presided in the dining rooms. Mrs. W. G. Stuart, Mrs. J. H. Dunphy and Mrs. Jess Lewis received honors at cards for the afternoon.
Mrs. Hugh H. Earle is the new president of the club, officers having been elected at the meeting. Mrs. O. E. Lee is vice-president; Mrs. Robert Bidde, secretary; Mrs. P. J. Hanns, treasurer.

On March 19 the group will be entertained with Mrs. W. H. McDonald as hostess in the card rooms, and Mrs. S. J. Nazor and Mrs. P. J. Hanns will be the hostesses in the dining rooms.

On Monday afternoon members of Shakespeare club will meet in the chamber of commerce for regular session. It has been decided by the club members to postpone the presentation of the play, "Twelfth Night," from April 23 until the last Monday in May which will be the last meeting date of the present club year for the group. The birthday observance of Shakespeare which will be an event of April 23 at the home of Mrs. Carl G. Washburne will be an afternoon Shakespeare musicale.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl O. Immel are planning to leave in about two weeks for Los Angeles, California, to spend several weeks visiting with relatives of Mr. Immel.

Sunshine club members were guests of Mrs. Laura Harris yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Fred E. Smith was hostess to Home Science club members at her home Monday. Mrs. Frederick G. Sticksel will entertain the group at its meeting on March 16.

Mrs. Laura Harris was a gracious hostess yesterday afternoon at her home for the members of Sunshine club. The hostess had chosen yellow as the color scheme in the decorations of daffodils and other spring flowers. Invited guests for the afternoon were Mrs. Lawrence T. Harris, Mrs. E. B. Wetherill, Mrs. M. C. Harris, Mrs. S. J. Wilson, Mrs. E. K. Wheeler, Mrs. Elizabeth Seaffe.

THE THIRD GREAT MOMENT OF A WOMAN'S LIFE

By CYNTHIA GREY
TOM had been Sylvia's childhood playmate, and it had been more than a year since he came to call on her as her first beau.
Since then they had spent many a happy hour together, and it didn't take a magnifying glass to see that they were in love . . . deeply in love.
Tom hadn't told Sylvia he loved her . . . yet she knew he loved her, and he believed—a young man is rarely certain his best girl really loves him—she loved him.
Although they had been together many times they had never "potted" . . . another sure sign that they really loved each other.
Tonight Sylvia and Tom had been to the theater. They had stopped for a little dinner after the show, and mother and dad had retired long before they arrived home.

It was a clear night—ideal for distant radio reception on the family set. Faintly but clearly from one of the stations on the far away Pacific coast came the strains of Dance music.
Sylvia and Tom couldn't resist a good-night dance . . . they waltzed quietly over the parlor floor.
And then the orchestra swung into the alluring melody—"Mandalay." It was those same entrancing strains that came over the radio when Tom first came to call on Sylvia.
"Do you remember, Tom?" Sylvia asks.
"I never will forget, Sylvia" . . . and then with a sudden impulse he added . . . "dear."
The music had stopped, but Tom still held her in his arms. The color in her pretty cheeks deepened . . . her heart was beating faster . . . she almost forgot to breathe.

She tried gently to pull away. So thought . . . in fact, she knew . . . that if she turned her face toward him Tom would kiss her!
And so she turned her face toward him.
And instantly Tom kissed Sylvia . . . a boy's kiss, quick and light. It was over in a second. Tom, half ashamed and with the blush of a young boy, says something that doesn't mean a thing and starts to leave.
But Sylvia knows she will remember this little moment as long as she lives.
For it is really one of the few Great Moments of a woman's life . . . this unforgettable one that brings with it the first kiss!

WALK and be Healthy
HAPPINESS IN EVERY PAIR
Maybe you are thinking of that celebrated candy brand "Happiness in every box." We might have said just that, since shoes also are sold in boxes.
And Graham's Shoes so often mean real happiness—that tingling-joy kind of happiness that romping children get out of life.
Why?—because we fit them for comfort —and because they carry a full measure of good looks —and because the materials and making are down-right through-and-through honestly good.

Something Needs Cleaning Now
Save Wear by Having It Done at Once!
Winter weather is hard on clothing. Not only the over-wraps and furs, but the suits and dresses, too, are being impregnated with foreign matter. It comes from the chimneys. Sharp, gritty particles that work underneath the surface of fabrics and damage them. Soot that smudges the surface.
