Income Tax Due

Only four more days are left in which Eugene taxpayers may avail themselves of the free income tax assistance of the deputy agents now at the city hall, announces James Furbush, local internal revenue officer. Persons who are postponing filing of their returns until the last minute may anticipate a rush to the offices in the city hall that will result in thousands of dollars being poured into the coffers of collectors of internal revenue in excess of the amount shown to be due upon the face of returns, according to an announcement from the Portland internal revenue office. This is due to misunderstanding or lack of knowledge of the provisions of section 290 of the revenue act, which provides for the reducing of 25 per cent of the tax on earned income. If taxpayers had consulted their local officers these errors would have been avoided. The credit is determined by computing the tax on the earned income in excess of the personal exemption and credit for dependents and taking 25 per cent of such tax.

Pavilion Planned

Basketball, as a result of the close race between Oregon and O. A. C., is running a football a close race as a profitable athletic contest, and Oregon officials are beginning to realize the money that is being lost each year as a result of an inadequate basketball court. The proposed new pavilion to be located on the campus would cost $20,000, it is estimated. By utilizing the earnings, the committee plans to make the building pay for itself. Funds for the erection of the structure, however, must be raised by the student body. According to tentative plans, the building will provide three practice floors extending across the room, and one floor extending lengthwise. Movable bleachers will take care of the crowds in important contests when the single court is to be used. The building will be of wooden construction reinforced with steel girders and designed to meet the needs of the university for the next 15 or 20 years.

Swimmers Pass Test

Twelve of the 14 men taking the American Red Cross life saving test at the university passed and are ready for the final quiz, according to information received at the office of Miss Grace Norton, Red Cross secretary. The last examination will be given today. Those taking the test are E. Harris, G. H. Mason, O. W. Richards, J. C. Stovall, R. Van Atta, J. Ross, J. C. Proffitt, E. D. Conway, H. E. Jones, A. P. Goss, G. J. Majovski, R. Yaden, and W. B. Hamilton. Another class in the life saving work will be examined immediately. The classes are open to any student in the university who is interested, and may be substituted for the regular gymnasium work. Those in charge of the work, and forming the board of examiners, are I. E. Palmer, R. Fahl, L. Webster and R. Bartlett.

To Name Officers

Officers and directors for the coming year will be elected at the annual meeting of the Oregon State Motor association to be held at Portland next Monday, according to announcement today of J. S. Maglady of this city, member of the board of directors from this district. Seven of the regional directors in the state outside of Portland were appointed and will be elected at the annual session. It is expected that the program of the association for the coming summer will be taken up at the meeting next week, Mr. Maglady states.

TWO INJURED, 15 SHAKEN, IN BIG EXPLOSION

Butcher Shop and Apartments Above are Partially Destroyed by Blast

H. O. Fowler, Father of Glenn Fowler, and Wife Are Both Injured

HERN, Ill., March 10.—(AP)—H. O. Fowler, father of Glenn Fowler, one of the principals in the Klan and anti-Klan fighting here, and his wife, were injured today by an explosion which tore out a corner of Fowler's butcher shop. Fowler and his wife were sleeping in the rooms above the store. Glenn Fowler, who was a body guard for the late S. Glenn Young, was not at home at the time of the blast. Police expressed the opinion that the blast was caused by an explosive placed under the shop by unidentified assailants. Fifteen other occupants of the Fowler apartments were badly shaken up by the dynamite explosion. Mr. and Mrs. Fowler were hurled out of bed to the sidewalk below. It was necessary to dig them out of the debris of brick and mortar. Neither was seriously injured. Windows for blocks around were broken by the blast. Estimates of the damage were between $5000 and $10,000. Police arrested two suspects.

BAD CHECKS READY TO USE UNCOVERED

Harry Morrison, recently sentenced to serve five years in the state penitentiary following his conviction here for obtaining money under false pretenses, had many ambitious schemes that involved plans to pass a number of large checks, according to Sheriff Taylor. A large number of checks, some signed with "disappearing ink," a fluid that fades out after several weeks, have been uncovered since Morrison was sent to state prison. While in the county jail here Morrison revealed the hiding place of these to a fellow inmate and pointed out the ease of obtaining money on them. These checks have been found by Sheriff Taylor. One check, certified and stamped by a check protection device, is for $2200. Others are also for large amounts, many of them on Portland banks. The blank checks were evidently stolen as many of them bear stamps that it would be impossible for Morrison to obtain except in the bank.

Hotaling, sister-in-law of the clubman, were declared to be unfounded by the county grand jury last night and the matter was dropped. King was ordered dismissed from custody, but Louis Madison, supposed gunman, who, according to King's story, had been hired with Al Reels, another suspected gunman, to do the killing, was held on a charge of burglary. Reels has never been captured.

ANCIENT TOMB IS UNEARTHED BY EXPEDITION

Egyptologists Believe Sarcophagus may be That of Seneferu

Pharaoh Lived About 4,000 B. C.; Doubt Expressed By Scientists

BOSTON, March 10.—(AP)—The tomb found at Giza by the Boston-Harvard expedition is not that of either Seneferu or Cheops, Dr. George A. Reisner, head of the expedition said here today. Dr. Reisner, who before leaving Egypt planned the work that resulted in the uncovering of the tomb said he believed the sarcophagus disclosed by the expedition to be that of a member of the royal family, probably a princess.

LONDON, March 10.—(AP)—Egyptologists here agree that if the tomb found by the Boston-Harvard expedition deep down in the rocks near the great pyramid at Giza proves to be that of the pharaoh who immediately preceded the renowned pyramid builder Cheops, its importance is far greater than that of Tut-Ankh-Amen because it is some thousands of years older and the contents may throw light upon that remote period about which very little is known.

Of Fourth Dynasty The pharaoh Seneferu—whose name is variously spelled by English Egyptologists—was the first ruler of the fourth dynasty (about 4,000 B. C.) while Tut-Ankh-Amen reigned as late as the 18th dynasty, the history of which is fairly familiar. Moreover, Tut-Ankh-Amen was a relatively unimportant king while Seneferu was regarded as one of the founders of the Egyptian empire, and a man of great enterprise and energy.

Sir Wallis Budge, who lately retired from the post of keeper of Egyptian antiquities in the British museum, told the Daily Express

PRINCE OF WALES RULES AT 'LEVEE'

LONDON, March 10.—(AP)—The Prince of Wales, acting in the place of King George, today is presiding for the first time at a "levee" one of the medieval pageants of swords and silk, gold braid and gleaming spangles, staged by the British royalty in accordance with long standing custom. Ambassadors in all the finery of their full dress costumes will join richly uniformed military men of high rank in making absealence to the prince, their gorgeous attire, bespangled with medals and decorations, brightening the courtyard and reception rooms of St. James palace with an ensemble of color hardly to be equalled elsewhere these days.

Levees are exclusively masculine affairs, and to the man of social ambition they mean quite as much as court presentations do to matrons and their daughters. Unless one is summoned to a levee or court, one cannot procure a ticket for the royal enclosure at Ascot and unless one watches the racing at that aristocratic course from the royal enclosure, one must certainly have not "arrived" in London society.

ALIENATION BILL FAVORED

LINCOLN, Neb., March 10.—The Nebraska state senate by a vote of 23 to 9, today passed Senator Cooper's so-called "anti-sheik" bill which makes alienation of the affections of a husband or wife a felony punishable by a fine or a penitentiary sentence, or both. The bill now goes to the house.

PRESIDENT IN ACCORD WITH SENATE PLAN

Question at Issue is Control Of Government by his Party, is Word

Campaign Pledges at Stake, Is View on Whole Question, he Declares

WASHINGTON, March 10.—(AP)—President Coolidge fully supports the action of senate republicans in replacing insurgents in important committee places with regulars, and considers that the question at issue is one of making it possible for his party to govern the country.

The whole question, as the president sees it, was whether congress was to be organized in such a fashion that the republican party could carry out its campaign pledges.

The chairmanship of the important committees and a majority on each one, he believes, should go automatically to members of the dominant party. There should be no objection to the exclusion of others from the responsibilities.

Approval of the committee lineup by which the LaFollette insurgents are demoted from their previous committee ranking, was voted by the senate late yesterday, 74 to 11 after five hours debate.

Before the vote on final approval of the insurgents gave up their fight as a futile one, after the real test of the ability of the party organization to put through its program came on the proposal to displace Senator Ladd of North Dakota, one of the insurgents, of the chairmanship of the public lands committee.

Mr. Stanfield Wins. The result gave 58 votes for Senator Stanfield of Oregon, the majority candidate, against 13 for Ladd and three for Senator Jones, democrat, New Mexico. Two democrats, Wheeler of Montana, LaFollette's running mate on the independent ticket last November and Copeland of New York voted for Ladd, while 25 voted present.

Senator Bruce of Maryland cast the only democratic vote for Stanfield.

After that there was merely a protest from the insurgents over the selection of Senator Watson of Indiana as chairman of the interstate commerce committee on which he was outranked by Senator LaFollette.

Sues Former Husband for Return of Loan

BIG CROWD WAITS FOR RENEWAL OF DENNISTOUN TRIAL

LONDON, March 10.—Hours before resumption of the Dennistoun trial today, a long line of sensational seeking persons, including more than two score women, waited outside the doors of the law courts. Some had equipped themselves with blankets and flasks of hot tea, for the day was bitterly cold.

Mrs. Dennistoun is suing her former husband, now the husband of the Dowager Countess Carnarvon, for money allegedly loaned him before their divorce. She has testified that, to further his own military ambitions, he encouraged her in becoming intimate with the late Sir John Cowans, former British quartermaster-general.

There was a mild sensation when General Marshall Hall, defense counsel, in cross examining Sir George Lewis, Mrs. Dennistoun's solicitor, who was called as a witness, attacked the validity of the divorce granted to the Dennistouns in Paris in 1921, on the ground that it was collusive and that neither party was domiciled in France. The witness insisted that Colonel Dennistoun lived in France when the divorce was granted, and that he would have remained there had he not married Countess Carnarvon, Mrs. Dennistoun, who went to the country over the week-end, on the advice of her physician, appeared in court, looking pale and not well. Neither Colonel Dennistoun nor his wife was present during the early proceedings.

Farm Drainage to Be Demonstrated

Arrangements have been completed for the demonstration of farm drainage which will be held at the C. F. Hyde farm near Pleasant Hill tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, according to announcement today of O. S. Fletcher, Lane county agricultural agent. F. E. Price, drainage and soils expert of the Oregon Agricultural college who planned the drainage system at the Hyde farm, will be here to conduct the demonstration, Mr. Fletcher said. All farmers who are interested are invited to attend the meeting. The ditches are being dug and the tile installed at the present time and the actual work of the drainage system can be seen, it is announced.

WATER AQUEDUCT WOULD MAKE TWO RIVER CROSSINGS

The chief feature of the new water pipe line for Eugene from the McKenzie river to the city, proposed under the item of $375,000 to be submitted to the citizens in the city bond election April 15, would be a gravity pipe line between six and seven miles long from the river to the present filtration plant inside the city.

This is according to the plans for the line prepared by Stevens and Koon of Portland, engineers selected by the water board to carry the work and supervise the survey. The pipe would be either 27 or 30 inch, in constructing the line it would be necessary to provide two river crossings. The intake would be on the far side of the McKenzie river, with the first submarine crossing in its immediate vicinity. The other submarine crossing would carry the water under the Willamette river at Eugene.

In Eugene the new reservoir, planned under the $135,000 item on the bond election ballot, would be the chief feature of the distribution system. It will be located on Skinner's butte, and would have a capacity of three million gallons.

The new plant would work satisfactorily with the plans for the proposed Clear lake water project, in the event that they may be carried out in future engineers, according to C. A. McClain, superintendent of the water board.

April 15 Date of Eugene Election

April 15 is the date for the Eugene municipal election for the passage of the various bond issues, announced Mayor E. B. Parks today, instead of May 15 as published yesterday afternoon. "We want everyone to carefully consider each item on the ballot," said Mayor Parks, "and when the time comes to vote, be prepared to vote intelligently—not just vote 'no' because it happens to be because the city is asking for money for a certain purpose." "It is every citizen's duty to acquaint himself with the merit of city bond issues and to learn why the money is needed. Every citizen is entitled to vote, whether he owns property in the city or not."

NOMINATION IS TURNED BACK BY SENATORS

Final Action is Taken After More Than a Month of Bitter Strife

Insurgents and Democrats Carry on Fight Against His Approval

WASHINGTON, March 10.—(AP)—The senate today rejected the nomination of Charles B. Warren of Michigan to be attorney general and then refused to reconsider its action. Action was taken after a fight of more than a month, during which a group of democrats and insurgent republicans waged a vigorous fight against senate approval.

The senate vote was 29 to 41. Senator Reed, republican, Pennsylvania, breaking a tie and changing his vote so that he might move a reconsideration. Immediately after the result was announced, Senator Reed offered that motion, which was subject to debate. Nine republicans and the farmer-labor senator, Shipstead, Minn., joined 30 democrats in opposing the nomination, while Senator Overman, of North Carolina, was the only democrat to vote for confirmation.

Senator Walsh, democrat, Montana, moved to lay the Reed motion on the table and on that there was a real split. When president pro-tempore Moses announced rejection of the nomination, a wave of applause swept around the galleries.

When Senator Reed, Pennsylvania, changed his vote, that of course increased the number of republicans voting against confirmation to ten. This strategy by republican leaders was resorted to only to avert every effort had been made to bring in another republican senator.

During this delay, there were repeated demands from the democrats that the result be announced without more delay.

Air Mail Service To Examine Planes At two air Fields

OMAHA, Neb., March 10.—(AP)—Commercial aviation will move up another step in the ladder of progress March 15, when 10 airplane manufacturers, all of America, will offer their best airplanes for rigid inspection of the United States air mail service. The tests, to be conducted at Hazelhurst field, Mineola, L. I., and at the San Francisco air mail field will be to determine the best type of machine for carrying mail.

According to Superintendent Carl Edge of the air mail service at Omaha, the tests will mean a departure from the use of the old De Havilland type of army planes for carrying mail and will be one of the biggest forward steps in the history of commercial aviation.

Depositions Read At Teapot Hearings

CHEYENNE, Wyo., March 10.—(AP)—Trial of the government suit for annulment of the Mammoth Oil company lease on the Teapot Dome naval oil reserve today involved the reading of a series of depositions made by witnesses for the government who are not present at the trial. The depositions, including that of Colonel J. W. Zevoy, attorney for Harry F. Sinclair, were taken by stipulation between counsel.

Only one witness, L. E. Eddy, formerly in charge of leasing oil lands for the government, gave verbal testimony during the morning session. This examination, relating to information possessed by the interior department concerning placer claims within the Teapot Dome reserve prior to negotiation of the Mammoth lease was brief.
