

BANQUET PLANNED FOR OREGON TEAM AT OSBURN HOTEL

The University of Oregon basketball squad, which depended after Monday's game with the Oregon Aggies, will be feted at a banquet tonight at the Osburn hotel, starting at 6 o'clock.

The Websters, in spite of the fact that they lost the third and deciding game of a post-season series for the championship of the northern section of the Pacific coast conference, to the Aggies, have finished their most successful season in years. In the coast conference they won six and lost two, and in the post-season series, lost two and won one.

Russ Gowans, three-year letterman, played his final game Monday, and incidentally, it was his last in his long career. He was the outstanding star of the game which the Aggies won by one point, 27 to 26, shooting five baskets, four from mid-floor. Gowans will be one of the principal speakers.

Dean H. Walker, will be toastmaster. The list of guests will include: Virgil Bari, athletic director; Jack Benefield, graduate manager; Dean Sheldon, Dean Howard, J. H. Johnson, Coach Billy Reinhardt, Bill Hayward, track coach and trainer, Randall Jones, president of the student body, Vic Blaisy, vice-president of the student body, and several others. The sports writers association will be represented by George Godfrey, president, and Sam Wilderman, treasurer.

After the banquet those attending will be guests of the Hoag management at the second show, which starts at 9 o'clock. Ed Tappan and Ken Stephenson are in charge of the banquet. The players who will attend are: Russ Gowans, Ray Oberberg, Howard Westgren, Frank Reinhardt, Howard Holton, "Chuck" Jones, Ted Gillenwater, Jerry Gunther, Farley Stoddard, Louis Anderson, Llewellyn, Earl Chiles, Pat Hughes and Nick Carter.

Billy Evans Says

By BILLY EVANS
IT IS the uncertainty of baseball that enables it to retain its popularity. The coming season presents many unusual situations.

What will Eddie Collins do as manager of the Chicago White Sox? Conceded to be one of the brainiest players in the history of the game, will he succeed as manager? I feel sure that he will.

Stanley Harris set a tough precedent for first-year managers when he won a pennant and a world series in his debut. I look for no such a happening from Collins. He hasn't the club to turn the trick.

"The White Sox will not finish last," is the only statement that he has made so far. Last season the Sox reposed in the cellar at the finish.

That statement is characteristic of Collins. He is far more inclined to feel his way rather than splurging. When Collins says his club is too good to finish last he is confident of the fact.

I will be greatly disappointed if Collins fails to win a ranking among the truly great managers of the game. He knows his stuff.

Next in importance, perhaps is the case of George Sisler. All things considered, he made a most remarkable comeback last season after a year of idleness, due to eye trouble.

However, he was not the Sisler of old. His batting average dropped over 100 points. He just finished inside the 300 mark. Sisler says he will hit at least 40 points better this year. If he does the chances of the Browns will be greatly enhanced.

What about Walter Johnson? Will the big fellow be able to have another big year, thereby retaining the great honors that finally came his way in the world series?

In a sense the status of Johnson is almost as uncertain as that of Sisler. He has tasted of baseball's greatest glory and must step very fast to retain that prestige.

There are some who believe that Walter is tarrying a bit too long that he should have retired as baseball's greatest hero.

It is very possible that Johnson may early demonstrate that he is far from through. If so, well and good.

Use of Head as Tee May Cause Death

PENSACOLA, Fla., March 11.—Use of his head as a tee sent John Gates, 15 year old negro caddy at the Pensacola Country club to the hospital with a fractured skull.

Play was dull on the course and Johnny was taking a nap. A fellow caddy placed a ball on his head and after taking a couple of healthy swings drove.

He missed the ball. Doctors today despaired of saving Johnnie's life.

Spaghetti Contest Won by De Palma

LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 11.—Ralph De Palma, Italian automobile racing driver, nosed out his countryman, Pietro Bordino, also of the speedway, by a spoonful.

The event was a spaghetti eating contest at a dinner program given last night in honor of eighteen racing drivers by A. M. Young, of the Los Angeles Speedway association. De Palma's time for the one and one-half pints of elongated food paste was one minute, 17 seconds. He was awarded a bust of Caruso.

YORK AND PERRY TO FIGHT MONDAY

A 10-round bout between Lou Perry of Portland and "Slow" York of Eugene will be the headline event of a boxing card at the Winter Garden next Monday night, announces Jack O'Neill, boxing promoter.

The promoter had a hard time finding an opponent for York. First Frankie Webb refused to meet York; then Mr. O'Neill wired the Portland Boxing commission to select a man for the bout. They replied they would send Dale Freeman, but a day later the promoter had a telegram saying Freeman refused to go against York.

After consulting with York's manager, Eddie Ecton, the promoter was told to send any 135-pound man, so Lou Perry was chosen. "It looks as if the Portland boys don't want any of York's punches, since he beat Closson," said Mr. O'Neill.

A six-round go between Ed Hathaway and Harold Davis is scheduled for the semi-windup. "Nardy" Mayhew, the battling jellhop, will meet Day Morrill in the first preliminary. They are light welters. Jack Milton and "Feevee" Bond, bantamweights, are to be a preliminary bout.

Martin Seton and Lou Davis are booked for the third preliminary, and Pat Clifford and Henry Hickman for the fourth. The Watson twins, 96 and 100 pounds, meet in the curtain raiser.

Expert With Rifle To Give Exhibition Here on April 13

One of the very best things that "Ad" Topperwein does in his daily shooting exhibition is the drawing of heads of people who are in the public eye, drawing them on a sheet of tin with rifle bullets instead of with the brush on canvas.

Mr. Topperwein who is a member of the Winchester Shooting team will shoot here on April 13 and he will cut out the profile of Uncle Sam, an Indian head, President Wilson, or our old friend Mutt.

The likeness is cut out on a piece of sheet tin about two by four feet, set out in front of his audience, and Topperwein sits on the ground about 20 feet from his tin canvas and puts in the bullets with a 22-Winchester automatic. While this is a remarkable bit of work it isn't the only kind of shooting he does.

The event will begin at 3:30 in the afternoon and is as free as the air. The exhibition was moved up two days as Marshfield and Olympia are being added to the schedule.

Sport Oddities

By ARTHUR CARLSON
ONE of the most remarkable athletic personages the universe has produced is Johnny Weissmuller, the greatest swimmer of all time. Weissmuller, as you no doubt know, holds more swimming titles than any nator in history.

As a boy he grew up in the streets of Chicago and played in Lake Michigan. At the age of 15 William Bachrach, famous swimming coach, took the youngster in hand and taught him how to use his marvelous natural powers. And two years later, or when he was but 17, he was heralded the greatest swimmer in the annals of the sport. Since then he has gone on smashing one record after another, until even that has become more or less monotonous.

Observance of training rules has been one of Weissmuller's biggest tasks, however. For like most youths Johnny liked his ice cream and pie and other fancy desserts. But to his credit it must be said that he has been a strict disciplinarian since getting into the swimming spotlight, which no doubt more than a little accounts for his wonderful success.

"I've been swimming since I was 10," Johnny said on one occasion not so long ago. "I like speed. It's easy— but training is hard work." And he heaved a well-merited sigh.

Another time, after having won several sensational races, Bacarrah, his coach, ventured in a pto congratulate him.

"That's all right," said the youngster with a grin. "But how about the rigors of training discipline? Are they lifted now? Can I have a real feed of frankfurters and ice cream as last?"

Some flowers need careful culturing to attain their full fragrance. Mr. Hornsby is the kind of flower that can blossom with complete splendor and serenity in an ashheap.

If consistency is a jewel Mr. Hornsby is a whole rope of pearls. He has led the National league hitters for so many years the name of the man he succeeded is lost to memory of the oldest inhabitant.

Mr. Hornsby has no weakness at the plate. Unless it is for fresh mobile shrimps. His record for shrimping from a sitting position, form and distance considered, is 4523.
