SCANNING the weekly news one finds society items somewhat obscure in the list of many and important activities and interests. The usual routine of luncheons, teas, afternoons of bridge and sewing concentrated itself this week into club entertainings. For unobtrusive but appreciative of the social life, clubs entered into an absorbing program that kept most everyone busy. But "town doings" also kept society folks active. The concert of Florence Easton Tuesday evening was indeed one of the greater attractions of the year's musical activities. The reception given the same evening in the new Congregational church was another notable affair of the week.

However, the outstanding event has been the annual newspaper conference. And all Eugene has extended its hospitality to the hundred or more visitors, and aside from the formal program of the conference many small and informal affairs have been given, honoring many of the representatives here. In the social way the important features of the conference program were the banquet given last evening in the Osburn hotel, the luncheon held today on the university campus, and the tea given yesterday for the women of the visiting party.

Society welcomed a flock of visitors this week. Mrs. Huddle of Chicago has been the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. John Howard, and a number of functions is being planned in her honor. Mrs. Arthur Robinson of Portland is another visitor of the week, being a guest of her mother, Mrs. A. W. Sims, and her sister, Mrs. Herbert Roome. Mrs. George T. Gerlinger of Portland has been here most of the week. The departure of Mrs. Murray Warner yesterday for Chicago is being widely regretted.

The coming week brings no more interesting event than the affair for which Mrs. Charles Larson and Mrs. John L. Bland will be hostesses Saturday. Amusement club members are planning for a merry party Tuesday evening when they gather at Dreamland hall for a dance. Several of the larger club groups are having meetings, including Fortnightly, L. O. E., and Monday Book club.

Exciting times are lurking around the campus this week-end as students give last preparations for the examinations to be followed by the longed-for quietness of spring vacation. And with the coming of the vacation ends the most brilliant and active social winter on the campus for many years.

And while rain generously alternated with the sunshine to eliminate a possibility of monotony in the weather, and to almost blot out the idea of spring's arrival, Eugeneans, most fortunate with the lovely March breeze and the riotous array of near-by wildflower beds, have ventured to look ahead and plan for the yearly week-end trips that always precede the regular vacation move to summer cottages. Indeed, March rains have been no deterrent to some who have already made the pleasant jaunts.

To honor Miss Henryetta Lawrence, who is visiting from Portland as the guest of her sister, Mrs. Thomas I. Chapman, Mrs. Lynn S. McCreedy entertained informally at her home Tuesday afternoon, inviting about a dozen in for tea. Mrs. Morris Starbuck was hostess for a one o'clock luncheon at her home Thursday, having as guests the members of the L. O. E. club. A huge bouquet of pink carnations, hydrangeas and other spring flowers in pastel shades centered the table. Mrs. E. O. Immel assisted the hostess. Specially invited guests for the afternoon were Mrs. W. E. Powell and Mrs. W. O. Starbuck.

Mrs. Murray Warner Leaves to Stay in Chicago

Mrs. Sam Bass Warner invited about twenty friends to her home Thursday afternoon for an informal tea affair, complimenting Mrs. George T. Gerlinger, who has been in Eugene this week from Portland, and Mrs. Murray Warner.

Eugene society which only so recently welcomed Mrs. Murray Warner home after her several months' tour in China had her farewell yesterday. Mrs. Warner left for Chicago where she will make an extended visit with her mother, Mrs. Perkins Bass of that city.

Mrs. Gerlinger is a member of the University of Oregon board of regents. A most interesting affair of this week was the informal luncheon for which Mrs. Dan Clark was hostess at her home Thursday, honoring Mrs. C. S. Magowan who is spending the winter here with her daughter, Mrs. Florence Magowan. Those present at the luncheon were all former acquaintances in Iowa. Mrs. Clark had selected a large bouquet of buttercups, lamb tongues, and violets for the attractive centerpiece. Covers were placed for Mrs. Magowan, Mrs. F. M. Carter, Mrs. R. H. Fields, Mrs. Thomas Wells, Mrs. Bruce J. Giffen, Mrs. Dan Clark.

Shakespeare club members met Monday to continue their study of "Hamlet."

Mrs. L. F. Henderson has returned to her home in Hood River. She has been visiting at the home of her daughter, Mrs. George P. Hitchcock.

Mrs. M. M. Tuft entertained informally at her home yesterday afternoon, inviting a few in for the tea hour.

One of the interesting evening events was the reception given Tuesday evening at the new Congregational church, honoring Rev. and Mrs. Fred J. Clark. About three hundred persons called for the event. In the receiving line were Mr. and Mrs. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Wetherbee, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Douglas. Presiding in the dining room were Mrs. O. C. On Thursday afternoon members of the university chapter of Pi Lambda Theta, women's national honorary education fraternity, were hidden to the attractive Sheldon home. About thirty called between two and three o'clock and six o'clock. Honor guests for the afternoon were the pledges of the organization.

In compliment to Dr. Miriam Van Waters, a visitor on the campus the past week, Mrs. Sheldon entertained about thirty of Dr. Van Waters' friends Sunday afternoon at her home between the hours of three o'clock and six o'clock. Mrs. E. C. Robbins presided at the tea table, while Miss Dorothy Gurley, Miss Jeanne Gay, Miss Henriette Guay, and Miss Mary Allene Davis assisted in serving.

Important of the club activities this week was the meeting of the Ladies' auxiliary of the chamber of commerce on Wednesday evening. Mrs. W. F. Gilstrap and Mrs. Annette Chavick were new members admitted. For the evening's program Miss Taylor gave a reading, and W. F. Gilstrap a tuba solo accompanied by Mrs. Roy Curtis at the piano. Mrs. F. L. Armitage was chairman of the committee on hostesses and was assisted by Mrs. Harmon Anderson, Mrs. Fred Assenheimer, Mrs. H. C. Auld, Mrs. Carl Baker, Mrs. John L. Bland, Mrs. A. A. Brauer, Mrs. Lawson G. Bradley, Mrs. S. Burr, Mrs. A. H. Bowen, Mrs. A. B. Burr, Mrs. H. Blackstrod, Mrs. W. H. Beck, and Mrs. R. A. Brodie will be in charge for the next session.

Plans for the function are already practically completed, under the direction of Mrs. Herbert Clarke, president of the state alumnae. Assisting her are a number of prominent matrons interested in the association and the fund which it will benefit.

The bridge tables will be sold to town and faculty circles, and matrons who desire to entertain groups of friends in that way will be most cordially invited to do so. By the same plan, any club groups desiring to take two tables or more and play as clubs will be welcomed, and they may either furnish their own prizes or play for the prizes which the organization will give.
