

FIRE PREVENTION PROGRAM IN LANE TO BE INTENSIVE

The Cascade national forest's campaign this year for forest fire prevention will be the most elaborate ever attempted, according to Nelson F. Macduff, supervisor of the forest. The "Four C's" of Cascade Careful Campers' contest, conducted among the young people's clubs of the city, is expected to be a valuable method of educating Eugene people in care with fire. The greatest proportion of campers using the Cascade forest in summer time come from Eugene, Mr. Macduff says, in explaining the intensive work to be carried on here.

"Some local people have asked me why we don't carry on this campaign during the season when the fires are likely to start," says Mr. Macduff. "My reply is that we are too busy then fighting fires to do anything else. We are trying to prevent fires by this method—not put them out after they are started."

The forests of Oregon are estimated to contain 450 billion board feet of lumber—enough to build 45 million homes. Those of Lane county are estimated to contain 63 billion board feet.

The lumber manufacturing industry of Oregon produces annually a finished product worth $110,000,000, employs 45,000 persons with annual payroll of $70,000,000, and distributes more wealth in the state than the wheat, fish, wool and apple industry combined.

"Yet, every year thousands of dollars worth of trees are burned up or ruined in Lane county because people are careless with fire. Game birds and animals are burned up, driven out. Thousands of acres are kept barren because people carelessly and ignorantly burn them over year after year. Many farmers burn slashings without taking the precautions required by law to prevent slash fires spreading to other lands.

"Many farmers set fire to fern patches and burned or logged over land in the mistaken belief that burning such lands over year after year increases the growth for pasture. Instead, such areas are kept barren or producing nothing but coarse fern. Many sawmill men or loggers neglect to put spark arresters on their steam engines and donkey engines and to take other precautions against fire as required by law. As a result, sparks from these engines set fires that every year destroy thousands of dollars worth of property and trees.

"Every fire which spreads over the hills of Oregon's forests destroys homes of game animals and birds, and the trees, big and little, which otherwise would furnish lumber for homes of human beings. Anyone who sets fire in the state's outdoors carelessly or ignorantly is as bad as the man who would set fire to your home."

SHERIFF TO SPEAK AT INSTITUTE HERE

Sheriff Frank Taylor will speak at the meeting of all Lane county chapters of the Women's Christian Temperance union in Eugene Wednesday. The assembly will be in the form of an all-day institute at the Baptist church, Wisconsin Jewell, national lecturer, will be present to address the gathering, and Mrs. M. E. Guley, president of the organization in the county, expects a packed house for the meetings.

Miss Jewell is to speak at Frances Willard junior high school at 11:30 o'clock in the morning, and again at 3:10 o'clock in the afternoon at the Lincoln Parent-Teacher association.

Following is the program of the institute:

11:10—Report from Creswell.

11:20—Report from Springfield.

11:30—Report from Eugene.

11:45—Departmental, Mrs. Watta.

SCOUT TROOP WILL STAGE NIGHT CAMP

About 17 boys from U. H. S. belonging to Troop 1 Boy Scouts are planning on an overnight hike in the hills due east of Eugene during their spring vacation next week. This will be an older boys hike and wool socks, shirts and blankets are required, as well as some sort of tent. Most of the boys have pup tents. The trip will be made rain or shine, and the boys will receive instructions on how to provide proper drainage around the tents in preparation for any heavy rain that might set in during the night.

Several types of lean-tos will be constructed and at a later date they will be used for shelter for another overnight hike. It is desired that all tents must be built without use of paper with a limit of two matches. In the wet condition of the woods this had ought to be quite a test of fire building ability. All beds will be built up off the ground by use of logs and branches. Several of the boys are experts in this art from their experience at summer camp last year, when beds were made as comfortable as highly advertised mattresses, so they claimed. All lean-tos and tents will face the huge campfire which will be built and stories and songs will be in order just before taps.

Court to Convene For Term April 6

Tomorrow Judge G. F. Skipworth of the circuit court will leave for Corvallis where he will hear cases in the Benton county court. Yesterday the circuit court here was closed until Monday, April 6 and the jury panel was excused until that date. It is expected that about two more weeks of the term will be necessary to clear the cases now on the docket. No new grand jury has as yet been named by the court.

Royersford, Pa.—"My daughter was sickly from the time she was 13 years of age. She was irregular and also had severe headaches, and pains in her sides and back. She was this way about six months before I began giving her Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helped her very much. She is not bothered by headaches, backaches, or cramping any more, and has not missed but one day. We recommend it to other mothers with girls who have these troubles."—Mrs. Quigg, 210 Main Street, Royersford, Pa.

Pains That are needless Relieve at once

Rheumatic pains, lameness, soreness—pains you can end at once should be stopped. The means should always be on call. The modern relief is Red Pepper Rub. It so excels the old ways that there is no comparison. It is saving sons of pain. Nothing else creates such concentrated, such penetrating heat. And heat that doesn't hurt. Apply Red Pepper Rub and the tingling heat is instantly apparent. In 15 to 20 minutes that heat seems to reach the depths. Then the pain and soreness disappear. At first the results seem like magic. No other method ever brought them. Then you come to know that most pain is easily avoided.

But these troubles often appear at night. That means hours of suffering. A jar of Red Pepper Rub on your shelf would prevent them.

So many people suffer nervous pains—pains that this method can end in less than five minutes. Get this Rub today and have it ready to end every such pain at once.
