

NEW YORK FIGHT COMMISSION HAS BOXERS UNEASY

NEW YORK, March 25.—Jack Dempsey, champion heavyweight, retains his title in a telegraphic bout with the New York state athletic commission yesterday, but the right-of-way of the officials tore the champion from Boyle's thirty acres in Jersey City, dazed Tex Rickard for the moment, and pushed the negro challenger, Harry Wills, back into his chair. From all indications, the blow passed the champion, but it shook Dempsey else in pugilism. By placing Dempsey on the ineligible list, the commission put every heavyweight, every manager of heavyweights and every promoter in the land on guard.

New York's rulers of the ring had sent Dempsey a challenge filed recently by Wills, but the champion pursued a waiting game. The officials led a 15-day ultimatum. Still the champion waited. The moguls in the next move swung the heaviest blow they ever have delivered. From the Pacific coast came the news that the punch had landed on Dempsey somewhere in the motion picture lot, and he could not be located.

Not satisfied with taking the 3,000-mile swing at the title holder, the commission smote the prospect of giving a championship bout to New Jersey when it was made known that promoters associating themselves with Dempsey will suffer suspension.

Rickard thereupon announced that he would do nothing to antagonize the commission and that the matter of the Wills-Dempsey contest, so far as he is concerned, must await the time when Dempsey comes to terms with the New York commission.

DEMPSEY LAUGHS
LOS ANGELES, March 25.—Sports followers here today were awaiting the return from "the country" of Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion and were speculating indignantly on what the champion would have to say about yesterday's action of the New York boxing commission in placing him on its ineligible list.

Dempsey, however, in a statement yesterday morning anticipating the commission's move, said he considered it good long distance comedy. "They make me laugh," he was quoted as saying.

The general opinion in sport circles here is that the New York body's action really makes little difference to the champion, for it is believed that his announcement of several months ago that he would marry and retire still stands.

AUGUSTA, March 25.—In many of the training camps, adjusting the feet by three times daily is one of the most important features.

Not so with the Detroit Tigers. It is the thought of Manager Cobb that the players came south to train, not to sit.

It is a well-known fact that in weight reduction, care as to diet is not necessary. No matter how hard one exercises, it is an easy matter to get the weight back on by too much food.

Over-eating has shortened the careers of many of the stars. As a matter of fact, it is a greater evil to the full player than many other forms of dissipation.

Two meals a day is the order of things in the camp of the Tigers and it is religiously adhered to.

Manager Cobb, to assist in further carrying out his two-a-day routine, has arranged the one practice session to best suit his orders.

The Detroit club starts practice at 11:30 a. m. The players are to report at the clubhouse at 11. The session lasts from two to three hours, according to the work needed. So that it is between two and three in the afternoon when the players reach the city.

The dining room is closed tight at that time of the day. After a long winter very few of the athletes are going to the restaurants a day at their own expense. So there is nothing to do but await the evening call.

For a team in its second week, Detroit, aided by good weather, stiff workouts and proper care as to eating is in great shape. Some of the athletes look ready for the word now.

in the period of the forward pass and open style of play.
Schulz captained the Michigan eleven in 1908, his senior year. And in his final home game was the outstanding hero of one of the most dramatic incidences ever witnessed on a football lot.

The Wolverines were playing a brilliant Pennsylvania team that bleek November afternoon. And Michigan was going down to overall losing defeat—the worst in Yost's Michigan regime.

Late in the second half, with Michigan fighting desperately, to avert even further disaster, Yost sent in a flock of substitutes. But not for Schulz. For, though the giant center had been rendered practically useless from the Penn attack, he refused to leave the game.

Finally Yost could stand it no longer and a replacement was sent in for the Maine and Blue leader. It was one of the few times during his entire football career that he had failed to finish a contest. And he was reluctant to quit. But Yost was firm and the great Schulz, bruised and battered, was led limping off the field.

It was too much for Schulz, however. And the gritty captain, playing his last game before the home crowd, and with his mates going down to humiliating defeat, wept like a child as he was being escorted from the stadium.

It was a scene I shall never forget—the great Schulz, towering above the rest of the combatants, literally dragged off the field, tears streaming down his mud-spattered cheeks, as he frantically protested his removal from the game. Is it a word it is a pitiful sight.

But it showed that even giants in stature and men stout of heart "break down" in the greatest of all college pastimes. And surely it displayed the spirit of the man—Schulz. And the spirit of the game—football.
