SALVATION ARMY PLANS CAMPAIGN

The Salvation Army will launch a financial drive in Eugene and Lane county during the latter part of April, announces Jesse Roe, adjutant of the local group. Eugene Jack Pardy, who was in Eugene recently, named a committee of 10 local citizens to act in an advisory committee in laying plans for the drive.

Among those named on the committee are George McMorran, B. B. Brundage, J. E. Turnbull, Mrs. W. F. Jewett, Frank Jenkins, Paul R. Kelly, Judge G. F. Skipworth and Lawrence Simmons.

Approximately $9000 will be needed by the Salvation Army to continue its charity and rescue work in the county next year, it is estimated. This amount is only one-half of the total needed to finance the organization during the year, Adjutant Roe says, but the remaining $9000 is raised inside the organization, from members and street meetings. Eugene people will be asked only for the money needed to finance the relief work, the administration of the fund being carried on without expense.

Ensign Maude Lee of the Salvation Army Rescue home in Portland will be in Eugene in April to speak before women's organizations on rescue work being done by the organization last year. Seven young women were admitted to the Portland home from Eugene during the last year, it is stated.

The chief work now being done by the local Salvation Army is a continuation of charity and relief activities. Cases being handled are nearly all among local families, and not transients, as might generally be believed, states Mr. Roe. Funds used for this purpose are raised week by week, as the Christmas charity funds were entirely used during the winter season.

LABOR OFFICE NOT TO CLOSE AT ONCE

There is no immediate prospect of the United States employment office in Eugene closing its doors as a result of the withdrawal by the city council of its financial support, announced F. L. Armitage, superintendent of the office, today.

The office has been kept alive since the war chiefly by the Booth-Kelly and other lumber offices, according to Mr. Armitage, together with a small appropriation by the city. At times, particularly after the war, Mr. Armitage has conducted the office at his own expense.

"There has been no government appropriation for the employment work since the war," said Mr. Armitage. "Last year, through the influence of E. J. Adams, secretary to Senator Stanford, the Eugene chamber of commerce and city officials, congress made a temporary appropriation rather than have the office close."

"If the city is not interested in its own employment problem certainly the government will not be, so the future of the office is problematical. Certainly if no source can be found by which to finance it the only alternative will be to close the office."

Club Organization In Lane far Flung

From the two extremes of Lane county east and west, Roosevelt Beach and Vida, came two applications today for county clubs to the office of Arnold Collier, county club leader. About 100 miles separates these two communities which give an idea of the extent of the area covered by the county club program, Mr. Collier comments.

The following is the roster of the

Internal Bureau Hearing is Ended

WASHINGTON, March 31.—The special senate committee investigating the internal bureau concluded its hearings yesterday. Chairman Clegg said he would permit the investigators to continue their work on tax cases until June 1, when the investigation will be formally closed.

FIRE FIGHTING IS TOPIC OF RANGERS

statement brought out. The case cited was where the blaze jumped from a ridge to the lower part of another part of a ridge. A jump of three-quarters to one mile is not uncommon when the weather is favorable for fires.

Approximately 60 foresters and guests attended the banquet last night in the palm room of the Osburn hotel, at which Nelson F. Macduff, supervisor of the Cascade national forest, presided as toastmaster.

Carrying large paddles, Smith Taylor, C. B. McFarland and H. J. Engle, the largest men in the crowd, were told by the toastmaster to enforce the rule that all persons called upon should either tell a witty story, dance a jig or sing a song. No one had to be punished.

Representatives of the three national forests—the Cascade, Siuslaw and Umpqua—were introduced, as well as officials from the district office at Portland. Music was furnished by a three-piece orchestra. A dancing number by a Eugene youth, masquerading as a girl, was a feature.

Copies of "The Cascadian," a fun newspaper published by the Cascade forest were distributed to each guest at the banquet table.

Meetings resumed at the assembly room this morning, and will continue for another day.

NO WATER USED BY FIRE DEPARTMENT

Eugene's fire department has not used water on any fire in the last three months.

This announcement was made today by W. E. Nushbaum, city fire chief, who compiled his report for the month of March. Most of the fires, the report shows, were roof and small blazes, easily extinguished by the use of chemicals.

The fire trucks have traveled 59 miles, or 883 blocks, since January 1, says Mr. Nushbaum, and more than half this distance, 33 miles or 480 blocks, were traveled during March.

In March one 60-gallon tank of chemical solution was used on fires, as well as one 4-gallon tank, two 35-gallon tanks and 14 one and one-half gallon tanks.

The most disastrous fire of the month was at the George Lammers dwelling, 710 Hilyard street, when the roof burned off, doing $840 damage.

Bankers to Speak At School Session

Schedules of talks to be given at the Eugene high school next Friday by the Lane County Bankers association were announced today by Miss M. Ethel Taylor, chairman of the committee on arrangements. The speakers will be W. W. Calkins, president of the United States National bank, Morris Starbuck, First National bank, and J. Harold Bestgen, Bank of Commerce. The topics will be "The Federal Reserve System." These will be the finals of a series of three lectures given by the bankers to the student groups during the past few weeks.

LEAVE FOR PORTLAND

C. A. Hoyt and C. P. Devereaux left this morning for Portland where they will attend the Northwest meeting of the representatives of the Western States Life Insurance company. Mr. Devereaux and Mr. Hoyt are Eugene representatives for the company.

MARCH BUILDING TOTAL $185,430, RECORDS REVEAL

Building figures in Eugene for the quarter ending today totaled $655,355, it is announced by W. H. Alexander, city inspector of buildings.

March's record showed $185,430 as the estimated cost for the 63 new structures for which permits were granted. Combined with January's total of $16,400 and February's $300,025, the total is now well over two-thirds of a million dollars.

Permits were issued this month for 63 buildings, bringing the total for the year to 190. Of the March permits, 35 were for new homes, and the total for the year of 95 is thus reached.

The noteworthy point in connection with this month's report is the number of new residences over $4000, stated Mr. Alexander. "Ten permits were issued for dwellings costing more than the amount, among them being the following:

- "M. O. Beasonette, $6000, 1665 Fairmount boulevard; and 1807 Fairmount boulevard, $4000; W. K. Hamilton, 1168 Eleventh avenue west, $4000; A. L. Hargrave, 1035 Commercial, $7500; Hargrave and Lindsay, remodeling Bank of Commerce, $12,500; Cecil Henderson, 700 Ninth avenue west, $4500; E. M. Drew, 2065 University, $6000; Mrs. M. O. Foster, duplex apartment, 328-31 Twelfth avenue west, $4000; S. R. Jenkins, garage, 544 Commercial, $5000; Eugene Fruit Growers, annex, Eighth avenue east and Ferry, $9000; W. B. Mikesell, 2223 Alder, $4500; H. B. Manville, 164 Eighteenth avenue west, $4000.

DOLLAR A WORD PAID SLOGANIZER

A few years ago people were amazed when Kipling was paid a dollar a word for a story. Now such instances are quite common. But the man who coined the "Safety First" goes far ahead of the dollar a word record.

He is known as the "Greatest Sloganizer in the World," and often gets as much as fifty dollars a word for a slogan of two words. He continuously travels all over the United States and Canada writing slogans for business institutions of all kinds, and is so far ahead of the dollar a word record.

Any man—or woman—can earn more by learning more about words. And the dictionary is the quick route to word knowledge. The New Universities Dictionary is the one best volume of its kind, and every reader who owns the book should through acting upon the plan outlined in the coupon printed today in another part of The Guard.

Early day Record Of Schools Found

Interesting sidelights on the early history of Lane county are contained in a book in which are inscribed the minutes at the organization of the first school district in 1824. The book is loaned to E. J. Moore, county superintendent of schools, by O. C. Callison. District number 1 was organized at Pleasant Hill and the land, which is still owned by the district, was presented by Elijah Bristow. The names of 61 boys and girls between the ages of 4 and 20 years who resided in the new district are inscribed in the book. "But few of these little children are still alive as this was written nearly seventy-one years ago," Mr. Moore said today. The little book contains the records of the school district up to 1861. The names of men who are prominently mentioned in the history of Oregon and the Willamette valley are listed as members of the board.

WELL ONE DAY IN BED THREE

That Was the Life of Mrs. Hollister Until She Began Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Wyandotte, Michigan.—"After my baby was born I did not do my own work for six months and could hardly take care of my own baby. I always had a pain in my right side and it was so bad I was getting round shoulders. I would feel well one day and then feel so bad for three or four days that I would be in bed.

One Sunday my mother came to see how I was, and she said a friend told her to tell me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. So the next day I got a bottle and before it was half taken I got relief. After I was well again I went to the doctor and he asked me how I was getting along. I told him I was taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and he said it did not hurt my one to take it. I am always recommending the Vegetable Compound to others and I always have a bottle of it on hand."

6 Granted Divorces By Judge Skipworth

Today was motion day in circuit court and Judge G. F. Skipworth heard several divorce cases. The judge also called two more jurors to complete the panel and they will report Monday, April 6, at 9 a. m. The court will be resumed with Judge Kendall on the bench. The new jurors are J. W. Maltman and J. W. Blanton, both of Eugene.

The following divorce decrees were granted by Judge Skipworth: Mary E. McAlister from Arthur C. McAlister. Mary Jane Glass from Alvin Glass. Raymond Wallace from Fay M. Wallace. Effie F. Rust from John A. Rust. Leontine Lusk from Dale E. Lusk. Jennie Loucks from John E. Loucks.

Bids for Shoals Power to be Asked

WASHINGTON, March 31.—Bids for the purchase of hydro-electric power developed by the Wilson dam at Muscle Shoals, Ala., will be invited by Secretary Weeks.

Estimates given the war secretary by army engineers reveal that the Wilson dam will begin development about July 1, of 100,000 horsepower daily.

The decision to sell the power was made because of the failure of congress to dispose of Muscle Shoals development through legislation covering that phase of the Alabama project.

CIZEK METHOD IS TO BE DISCUSSED

The theory and practice of the Cizek method of instruction in the fine arts, which has produced exceptional results since its introduction in the State School of Arts and Crafts at Vienna, will be discussed here Wednesday night by Dr. Hans C. Kollar, critic and archeologist who brought to America the Cizek exhibition of the work of Austrian children in creative art forms. Dr. Kollar will speak in the University of Oregon fine arts auditorium at 8 p. m.

An exhibition of the Viennese children's work in painting, modeling, drawing, embroidery and etching will be on display in the auditorium from 4 to 6 p. m. The exhibition and lecture are free to the public.

Prof. Cizek is a famous art teacher whose pupils are for the most part not children, but young men and women. By special arrangement, the State School of Arts and Crafts is open to children on Saturdays and Sundays. Materials are furnished free, and the children work as they will, helped by a word dropped here and there from Prof. Cizek as he walks among them.

Dr. Kollar's lecture is expected to be of particular interest to parents, teachers, prospective teachers, and art lovers. His lectures in the Portland art museum brought thousands of children and adults. The Cizek method has aroused great interest and enthusiasm ever since the work of the students was shown in the Metropolitan Museum of Art more than a year ago.

Permits to Cross Routes are Given

Applications for three grade crossings for the new Chambers railroad near Cottage Grove and applications for three grade crossings by the Shanon Lumber company were granted today by the Oregon state public service commission at a hearing held this morning at the county court room here. Thomas K. Campbell, member of the commission, was present with a secretary of the board for the hearings. The other members of the state board are at Washington, D. C., to attend the rail hearings under way there. There was no opposition to any of the applications for the crossings in Lane county.

Rev. J. F. Haas is Luncheon Speaker

Rev. J. Franklin Haas, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, read an interesting paper on "Fools and Kings" at the luncheon meeting of the Rotary club today. Rev. Haas elaborated on the belief that humble beginnings often lead to successful careers; that the chances for success are greater when one starts from the bottom. Paul, the apostle, he cited as an example.

Several visitors were introduced at the meeting, from California and other neighboring states.

DIVORCE IS ASKED
