

ROTARIANS HEAR OF RELIEF WORK AMONG ARMENIANS

M. R. Paroungian, representing the Near East relief, was the principal speaker at the luncheon of the Eugene Rotary club today. Mr. Paroungian was introduced by R. A. Booth of Eugene, an old-time friend.

In his address, Mr. Paroungian told of the work of caring for the 25,000 Armenian orphans, left parentless during the World war. Of the number, he said, 2,000 are still under five years of age. The orphans are cared for until they are 15 years of age. Education is offered, 44 different trades being on the list. The speaker told of the work of a former Oregon Agricultural college student, who was teaching agricultural work in the relief field.

The children are being given the Anglo-Saxon type of education, the speaker said. "They are taught the spirit of love for all mankind, even their enemies."

"They bless America for the opportunities that are being offered to them. Three times a day they sing 'America' in English, and in their prayers they ask God to bless the Americans who have been so generous as to help them in their need. They salute the American flag, because it was America who started the work, and made life bearable for them."

For the past eight years, Mr. Paroungian said, the relief work has been going on, and will continue for four years more. Every year, he said, a full report of every dollar expended is made to congress.

"A dollar given here," he declared, "buys more than a dollar's worth of material for the orphans, through the channels of monetary exchange and differing values in other countries."

"Those boys and girls who are being helped will be the life blood of the country over there in the future, and America is doing the helping."

He told of the valor of the Armenian forces on different fronts during the war. It is the children of those who lost their lives during that conflict who are now being aided, he said.

Talks before the American Legion, Kiwanis club, Lions club and many other organizations of the city are to be made by Mr. Paroungian.

Reports on the district Rotary convention were given at the luncheon today by Walter Fell, L. C. Graham, E. E. Chadwick and W. D. Smith.

REPORT IS FILED IN M'CLINTOCK POISONING CASE

CHICAGO, April 14.—(AP)—Sufficient mercury to kill a person within ten days was found in all the organs of Mrs. Emma Nelson McClintock, according to the completed report of Coroner's Chemist William D. McNally, submitted to Coroner Oscar Wolff today.

Investigation shifts
CHICAGO, April 14.—Investigation of the death of Mrs. Emma Nelson McClintock, whose exhumed body was found to contain mercury poison, has shifted temporarily to Galveston, Tex. from where in 1909 a physician was summoned to attend her in Bayview, Texas, when she was attacked by her final illness.

Galveston authorities have been asked to question Dr. William C. Fisher, who was practicing there in 1909, if he attended Mrs. McClintock and what he prescribed for her. Physicians who attended her after she returned to Chicago to die have said they prescribed no mercury.

The coroner's jury later this week will resume its inquiry into the death of William McClintock, son of Mrs. McClintock, as the final step preceding the arraignment of William D. Shepherd, his foster father, on a charge of killing him with typhoid germs.

Pedigrees of Prisoners at Lane County Jail for Past 23 Years Given in Ledger

For 23 years a big ledger has been in use at the Lane county sheriff's office, every prisoner "booked in" in that time has his name and pedigree inscribed on its pages. Yesterday the last page of the volume was turned and a new book has been ordered and will soon take its place.

May 8, 1902, during the administration of Sheriff W. W. Withers, is the first notation in the volume that has been the official record book of seven Lane county sheriffs since that time. The names of Sheriffs W. W. Withers, Fred Fisk, Harry Brown, J. C. Parker, Dillard A. Elkins, Fred Stetkel and Frank E. Taylor are on the book. Their signatures signifying that they had taken over the record from their predecessors in office.

A glance back through the pages of this book which is soon to be put away in the safe after 23 years service on the counter, shows many brief but interesting items of the criminal history of Lane.

After the name of each prisoner is a space for the writing in the disposition of his case. Whether dismissed, sent to the state penitentiary, escaped or paroled. After one name, a terse comment, written in red in the margin, is the final record of the last execution in Lane county and is recorded April 17, 1903.

Lyons was convicted on a charge of murdering Sheriff W. W. Withers and he was booked on the ledger February 9, 1908, following his arrest.

A total of 2239 names of inmates who have spent time in the Lane county jail are inscribed on the pages of the big book. Some indication of the increase in number is shown by the figures. In the entire year of 1903 there were just 38 prisoners registered. During 1924 there were 361 and for the present year up to yesterday afternoon, when the last name was listed, there were 67 enrolled.

Under the column headed "charge" there are some unusual items judging by present day standards. "Selling liquor without a license" is one that sounds strange in this modern day when "possession of liquor" seems to be the major charge after the names of many who appear on the records since the advent of prohibition.

In reciting the last public execution in Lane county John Marsh, county constable, today pointed out the spot on the east side of the present jail building "right behind that third big tree from the corner of Eighth avenue was where the gallows was erected for the execution," Mr. Marsh said. A high board structure was built to shut out the sight from the public, the constable recalls.

Sheriff Withers was shot by Lyons when the county officer went to a house west of Junction City to place him under arrest on a theft charge. Lyons was arrested shortly after near Creweville being taken from a freight train on which he was attempting to go south.

Siuslaw Planning Forest Programs

Observance of American Forest week, April 27-May 3, on the Siuslaw national forest will be in the form of special programs carried out by rangers and other employees, according to R. S. Shelley, supervisor. The rangers are in possession of the forest program handbook of suggestions made by the department, and various talks will be made before community assemblies, schools and granges, on various phases of fire prevention.

"We are laying special emphasis in our part of the program on the work in district schools," says Mr. Shelley. "We feel that little or no progress can be made until the people of this section get the importance of this work in mind. Until they do we shall not have the necessary foundation in public opinion to provide the basic legislation concerning forestry, or the will to enforce. If American Forest week starts the ball rolling even so little it will justify the time and energy given to it by patriotic and public spirited citizens."

It is an easy matter at present by the use of the X-ray to penetrate pieces of steel three inches in thickness, Professor Pulin asserted, but what is sought by scientists is an apparatus to enable them to examine

STOLEN GOODS ARE FOUND HERE

Word from Portland police late this afternoon was that the goods to the furnishing goods store near the University of Oregon recently reported burglarized.

Finding a number of pairs of new shoes and several neckties on the mill race near the Mannerud-Huntington Fuel company yards this afternoon is believed to be a clue to recent Portland burglaries as some of the ties bear the name Jones and Joblinger, 231 Washington street, Portland. The new ties and socks were thrown on the ground and a large number of cardboard boxes were found bearing the firm name of well known makers of men's furnishings were nearby. This has led Earl Luskey, deputy sheriff of Lane who investigated the find, to the belief that a large amount of new merchandise was sorted over and only the best of it taken along, possibly in a car that stopped on the road as the spot is only a short distance from the Pacific highway although out of sight from anyone on that route. The Portland authorities were notified of the finding of the goods.

We Thank You

It was far better than we expected. It was the greatest sales day in the history of Stanley merchandising, but we know our good friends in and about Eugene will give us many more big days.

Just keep coming, folks, we are with you. We thank the thousands for their kind words and for their business—and we want every one of you to feel that you are partners in this business—Help Us Help You.

One of our old-time customers came in yesterday wearing a suit of clothes he bought at Stanley's ten years ago, and he bought the suit for $5.99.

Another old friend wore in a suit, overcoat and hat he purchased at Stanley's ten years ago.

Another friend, an ex-groceryman, said: "Stanley, your store is fine; it is grand, and your prices are the greatest I have ever seen, but it is too grand to appeal to the farmers. They won't like it."

But we say they will like it, 'cause there's nothing too good for the farmers. The way they came yesterday, and the way they bought, would convince anyone that farmers want the best just the same as city folks—we all appreciate clean, neat stores in which to buy our eatables.

It was the ex-merchant who was off his trolley—there's nothing too good for any of us when the price is right—and Stanley prices are always right.

So keep coming, folks; farmers, city people and all. We are not stuck-up—we're just as common as an old shoe, and we were glad to meet every one of the twenty-five hundred and more who were here yesterday.

Just send your friends, and let us keep business humming. We'll take care of the prices and everything—and we'll help to make you happy.

Again we thank you.
Yours truly,
GEO. C. STANLEY.
