through the business district today by E. J. Moore, county superintendent of schools. These posters will be placed in the windows by local merchants to advertise the program.

John Chastanqua—Albery Furry, well known in Eugene as a singer, and last heard here as the principal soloist for "The Seven Last Words" given by the university choir, has been selected by M. Roucher, director of the "Mikado," for the Ellison-White Chautauqua company, to sing the role of "Pooch Buh" in the "Mikado" the second lead. The opera company, which starts on the road May 20, will tour Canada and will be under the supervision of the Ellison-White branch there. "Doc" as he is familiarly called, won the role of "Pooch Buh" through the request of Ellison-White for a male soloist from the University of Oregon. He was selected by John Stark Evans, assistant dean of the school of music, for the try-out, which took place in Portland last week.

Club is Organized—Students in the school of journalism and the school of architecture and allied arts have organized the John Henry Nash Graphic Arts club for the purpose of stimulating interest in the study of fine printing and the kindred arts. The club is named in honor of the internationally-known printer who spoke last March at the Oregon Newspaper conference and before Portland audiences on the subject. "Printing as a fine art and the making of fine books." The charter members of the club are Hal A. Kirk of Oregon City, Wayne E. Island of Salem, James W. Leake of Portland, and Richard T. Carruthers of Astoria. Dean Eric W. Allen of the university school of journalism is an honorary member.

R. O. T. C. Rating Expected—As a result of the recent inspection by Major H. L. Jordan, officer in charge of R. O. T. C. affairs for the ninth corps area, the University of Oregon unit will be recommended for inspection for distinguished rating award next year, according to Lieutenant Colonel W. S. Sinclair, commander of the local unit. "Major Jordan was pleased with the showing made by the men of this unit, as evidenced by their attention in both drills and class work, and our unit will be recommended by him to the army inspection board from Washington, D. C.," said Colonel Sinclair.

Students Are Actors—Eight student acts, each reported to be of high class Orpheum quality, are billed for production at the Junior Vaudeville next Friday and Saturday, May 8 and 9. Training for Service KEEPING pace with America's telephone needs means keeping ahead. The work of preparation never ends.

There must be complex engineering studies, careful financing plans, and thousands of manufacturing operations before new facilities can be built and made ready for public use.

And when they are ready, the workers must also be ready, skilled in the multitude of tasks incident to the operation and maintenance of telephone plant and equipment.

In every important center in the country, new members of the telephone forces are in continuous training, preparing to meet tomorrow's telephone needs.

For your telephone system is a living, growing organism. Last year 836,163 telephones were added to its national service. Millions of miles of wire interlace the continent, to interconnect your telephone with nearly 16,000,000 others. Tomorrow there will be more telephones, for the nation demands and expects them.
