PIONEER MOTHERS TO BE IN PARADE

"Among other features of the Pioneer School Pageant will be the number of pioneer mothers who will be in the procession either riding old time side saddles on which they came across the plains or riding in representative floats showing some feature of their experiences," according to E. J. Moore, county superintendent of schools. "Two sisters who are grandmothers will ride side by side on their side saddles from one school district. They used these side saddles later in going to and from their primitive school house in one of these districts. It is remarkable the interest some of these aged pioneers are taking in this demonstration in their honor," Mr. Moore said today.

Parade to Be Long.

From present indications the line of parade will be taxed to the utmost to find places for all the floats and the school children who will be in line. The city authoritatives are preparing to stop traffic on Willamette street and the North end of Olive street while the procession is being formed and every precaution is being taken to prevent accidents.

Each marching school district is requested to put its school flag on a staff and carry it in front of their marching line, and it is sincerely hoped that spectators on the sidewalk will remove their hats in honor of the girls going by. The high school band will lead the procession.

Mayor to Attend

The Mayor and city council will be there in an open car and two Scout bugle bands will be distributed among the grade schools of the Eugene district to give music to the occasion. It looks as though the capacity of the town would be over taxed to provide seats for the occasion but many of the districts will make it a picnic and bring their own lunches with them. It is hoped they will observe enough courtesy to throw their waste paper and garbage in the cans which have been provided for the purpose so as to leave the streets and parks as free from rubbish as possible, the superintendent states.

MR. JARDINE WILL RIDE AT ROUND-UP of the Idaho agricultural department.

When Stephens was in Washington recently he had a talk with his old pal, the new secretary of agriculture, who informed him of his intended tour through the west and his intention to visit the government warm at Manhattan.

Gets Tough Broncho.

"Better come up at the time of the Mandan round-up and I'll get you a tough broncho to ride," suggested Stephens.

"I will if I can make it," returned Jardine. "I'll let you know."

"Bet you can't stick on an 'outlaw,' let you pull leather," dared Stephens.

"Bet I can still ride 'em straight up," was Jardine's response.

Today Mr. Stephens made public a letter from Mr. Russell, saying in part:

"The plan for Mr. Jardine's trip as originally outlined, did not call for his being in Mandan until a little later than July 2, 3 and 4 (round-up dates). However, I have made some changes and I believe there is every reason to believe he will be there at that time. The secretary has expressed a very keen desire to be there at that time and will be ready to ride as many bronchoes as you can lead before him."

"We'll try to accommodate him," said I. H. Connelly, general chairman of the citizens' committee, which stages the rodeo annually.

"He'll have plenty of opportunity to tackle tough horses."

When a mob attempted to lynch a negro at Los Angeles after he had stabbed a white man in a quarrel, M. Markowitz, a fruit peddler, hopped from his wagon and after overpowering the negro, kept the crowd from him until police arrived. "I love my country and want the law to take care of this man," he told onlookers.

Missing Canadian Sought in Eugene

Eugene police are searching for George M. Brown, of Edmonton, Alta., who is wanted by police in that city for desertion of his wife and children. Brown left his home February 9, according to word received by W. G. Judkins, chief of police from A. G. Shute, chief constable of Edmonton, and on February 24 wrote his wife from Eugene. She has heard nothing from his since.

The missing man is described as 36 years old, height 5 feet 8 inches, weight 150 pounds, and complexion very dark. He is of Scotch descent, and was employed by an auto battery service in Canada. It is thought he might seek similar employment in this section. Police have made inquiries in Eugene but are unable to locate the man. Any one knowing of his present whereabouts is asked to communicate with the chief of police.

Motion day in Court is May 12

Tuesday, May 12 will be motion day in the circuit court here and Judge G. F. Skipworth is expected to be back at that time, according to announcement today. Judge Skipworth for the past few weeks has been holding court in Multnomah county. The opening for motion day is set for 10 a. m. The first of the June court circuit term will be Monday, June 1 and the calling of a new grand jury panel will be ready for that time. It is expected that the new grand jury will be called the latter part of May.

Lane Timber Sold To Eugene Banker

Timber stumpage totaling 1,750,000 feet was sold at public sale at the Roseburg land office to C. D. Rorer, president of the Bank of Commerce of this city. This tract is in Lane county and was the only Lane area on sale by the government which disposed of approximately 22,000,000 feet at the sale. The majority of the timber tracts sold are Coos county wagon road grant lands. One tract was in Josephine county.

VINDICATION IS BRINGING MONEY

rated, the Fergusons immediately set up a news syndicate of their own—the "Capitol Syndicate, Inc."

Fine-spun considerations of dignity or pride of station in moneymaking affairs were not to be worried over. It's part of the Ferguson philosophy to look upon financial exploitation of their political honors with naive equanimity.

"Ma" put a price of $200 for each interview.

In this literary way the governor's first coup was the sale to a New York syndicate of exclusive rights to the story of her childhood, schooling and such.

And as a penman she proved an expert, causing a brisk demand for autographed photographs of the governor, sold through a downtown studio on a royalty basis.

Through the Ferguson syndicate is being circulated, among other things, editorial views printed under the heading "Ma Ferguson Says."

The views are written by an expert newspaperman and are read by "Ma" before being released for publication.

Prosperity of Ferguson's personal organ, the weekly "Ferguson Forum," published at Temple, has been enhanced considerably by "Ma's" election. Both circulation and advertising are responding nicely.

"Pa" Works for Railroad

Although subscription calls for two dollars in advance for a year, solicitors have met with few refusals. Particularly in departments which have appointive heads.

Oil companies, railroads, road contractors and material concerns and public utilities are among the business interests which advertise in the "Forum."

Most lucrative of all the family's endeavors in the connections established is Ferguson's employment with the W. T. Eldridge railway interests.

Jim's title is general counsel and his salary is said to be $20,000 per year—five times the pay of his wife as chief executive of Texas.

Duties Are Riddle

His duties remain more or less a riddle, as far as public information is concerned.

Writing official bonds for department heads of the state has provided pin money for Mrs. Ouida Ferguson Nalle.

The bonding concern which she represents has received a big share of the business of state officials since "Ma" and "Pa" began dictating appointments.

Dorrace Ferguson, the younger daughter, has profited nicely through social distinctions which also brought her a free trip to Cuba.

Ernest Nalle, very youthful grandson of the governor, shares in the general abundance of honors and emoluments to the extent of holding a commission as lieutenant colonel in the national guard.

It is said he receives no pay as such, however.

This may be remedied at the next session of the legislature, so capitol jokesters say.

MOOR'S MURDER STORY IS BACKED

of a statement made to authorities there that he had killed a man in a holdup in Portland. The telegram received from Sacramento, however, appears to confirm the confession made here Friday. Warden Dalrymple has notified Sacramento authorities that Moor will be turned over to them if they desire. The confession was signed by both Moor and his wife.

The confession states that Moor and his wife drove from Erie, Pa., to California, reaching Sacramento September 17, 1923, while attempting to hold up a man on September 23 he killed the man who proved to be Brown, says the confession. Moor believes a young woman was with Brown. Pursuit was begun at once, but because Mrs. Moor had the car in motion when the shooting took place the couple made their escape. The statement says they drove to Stockton and Fresno, later lived in Arizona and Texas and came to Oregon in July 1924, later going to Seattle, Wenatchee and Yakima. They returned to Oregon and located near Eugene.

Attacks Mr. Svarverud.

After the automobile theft at Eugene, Moor escaped to Iowa, and while being returned to Oregon from Clinton, Ia., attacked the deputy sheriff, Van Svarverud, who had him in custody, with a monkey wrench. He failed to escape.

Information from C. S. Moorill, superintendent of the California state bureau of identification, Moor has served in various prisons in the last 10 years and has been known by the names of R. C. White, C. R. White, Mac Moore and Clifford Rolland Moore. Records show that he has done time at the Indiana reformatory, Folsom, San Quentin, Reno and Denver.

STORY DOUBTED HERE

Although C. R. Moor serving time at the state penitentiary on a charge of car theft here seems to have considerable detail on his alleged killing during a holdup in Sacramento, Sheriff Frank E. Taylor of Lane county and Van Svarverud, chief deputy sheriff, are still of the opinion that Moor is having another of his "confession" spells.

While in jail here Moor told a thrilling story of one of the D'Autremont boys, wanted for murder during a holdup on the Southern Pacific, being at a lumber camp in Lane county. Moor told his tale to railroad detectives here and his evidence was taken down but investigation proved the story entirely false.

His tale of murder at Portland during a holdup which he made to Denver police while awaiting return to Lane county also proved false.

"Although we doubt it, there man be some truth in Moor's story of a killing as it is possible that this crime is running through his mind as in all cases he tells of shooting his victim through the chin," according to Van Svarverud. "He also told about a killing in Eugene but this was discredited at once as there had been no murder here for some time," the deputy said today.

Mrs. Moor and Mrs. Frank Parchen, whose husband recently escaped jail here, were living together at Salem recently, according to Sheriff Taylor. Mrs. Parchen is said to have been living under the name of Rose Parker, Sheriff Taylor said.

AMBASSADOR STIRS HOPE BY ADDRESS

helpfulness can be obtained only when the American people are assured that the time for destructive methods and policies has passed and that the time for peaceful upbuilding has come."

At his side as he spoke were the British prime minister, Stanley Baldwin, the Duke of York, King George's second son, other eminent and representative Englishmen and the interested envoys of several foreign countries, including Germany.

Mr. Houghton's remarks are given conspicuous typography and earnest editorial comment this morning. The Times says:

"This authoritative reminder that good faith and a real desire for peace are absolutely necessary if active American interest in Europe is to be developed and confirmed is of great weight at the present moment. It is moreverer, in accordance with the instinctive trend of British opinion.

"Mr. Houghton's significant speech has far greater direct political value than a torrent of rhetoric on the old theme of Anglo-American relations. Evidently the new ambassador means business."

R. O. T. C. DRILL OPEN TO PUBLIC

Extending an invitation to the public to attend the weekly drills of the University of Oregon R. O. T. C. a communication was received today by the Eugene chamber of commerce to read at the weekly luncheon tomorrow noon.

The following is the letter from Colonel W. S. Sinclair, commandant:

"It is requested that at your next luncheon meeting you announce to the assembled members of your club that a series of military ceremonies is being held on the military drill field on University street, opposite the I. O. O. F. cemetery. These ceremonies occur on Thursday afternoons at 5:25.

"The army officers in charge of the military work at the University of Oregon desire to extend an invitation to the business men of Eugene and their families to attend, so that they may get some idea of the progress being made by university students, whose military work constitutes a definite and important phase of the general scheme of National Defense."

Missionary Tells Of Conditions in Far-Away Country

SPRINGFIELD, May 5.—(Special)—Bible classes in which fathers, mothers and children all study together are conducted at Belenge, in the Belgian Congo by Mr. and Mrs. Elmer G. Boyer, missionaries of the Christian church, who arrived yesterday from Los Angeles, Cal., and are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Mitchell of Springfield. Mr. and Mrs. Boyer are stationed 500 miles from Moudombe, on the Congo river, where Miss Hattie Mitchell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell, is teaching the natives. The teaching and preaching is all done in the Lonkunda language, Mr. and Mrs. Boyer spoke at the Christian church in Eugene Sunday.

The natives are described by Mr. and Mrs. Boyer as the most faithful people in the world, and very devout. Living among them and teaching has its hardships as well as its rewards, however, and one is the tremendous heat. Where the Boyers were stationed they were right on the Equator, where the days and nights are of equal length. To protect themselves from the heat they must wear helmets instead of hats. They put on the helmets at Matadi, where they leave the ocean-going vessel for a river boat. Insects are considered far worse than panthers and leopards, and there is danger from diseases, such as sleeping sickness and tropical liver complaint.

The Boyers are eager to return to their people, and will sail from New York in July. After spending two months in Belgium taking courses in medicine they will return to Africa.

MARRIAGE TAKES PLACE

SPRINGFIELD, May 5.—(Special)—Miss Laura Evelyn Toll of Springfield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Toll of west E street, and Jack Grover Sevey of Veneta were united in marriage yesterday in the office of Wells and Wells, Eugene attorneys. Justice of the Peace H. J. Wells performed the marriage ceremony. Mr. Sevey left last evening to spend their honeymoon in the state of Washington.

BLASTING OF DITCH PLANNED BY COURT

If the ground can be cleared in the near future the blasting of the ditch across the county fair grounds as a part of the Amazon drainage plan will be done this summer and not be held up until after the county fair in September, according to Frank L. Chambers who is interested in the drainage of the Amazon area and has taken up the matter with the county court.

Mr. Chambers will endeavor to have the route of the ditch cleared and then the court will put a crew at work to blast the few hundred yards of the drainage system through the county property. With the blasting completed this spring it is expected that when the fall rains come that the ditch will be washed out and provide a clear way for the Amazon flood waters.

Stubborn Skin Irritations Healed With Cranberries

The mild acid juice found in Cranberries seems to kill the tiny skin parasite which is the direct cause of Eczema and most skin irritations. With the cause removed, the healing takes place quickly. Cranolene Healing Cream, used externally, is based on this discovery. In this cream the cranberry juices have been combined with soothing, cooling, healing oils. Instantly stops the itching and speedily restores the skin to natural health and color. Cranolene sold by Druggists 35c, $1 and $2.50 or sent postpaid on receipt of price. Address: Cranolene, Girard, Kansas.
