

OREGON'S TRACK MEN CHOSEN FOR TRIP TO SEATTLE

William Hayward, track coach of the University of Oregon, has practically picked the nineteen men who will make the Seattle trip for the meet with the University of Washington Saturday. Hayward is taking a full strength team but only sixteen men are eligible for competition due to the agreement between the schools.

A new system was inaugurated at the track meet yesterday. Aspirants who hadn't won a place on the team were given a chance to challenge the squad members and if they could win the race they were to be chosen. In most all cases the varsity man was able to keep his place.

Francis Cleaver won easily from Ralph Tuck in the high hurdles and won the right to take the northern trip. Hilder defeated Rodney Keating in the two-mile by about eight feet after running neck and neck during the last quarter. In the 440 Wilbur just barely gained the victory. He was running a dead heat at the straightaway with Ager but won by inches. Jefferies came in third with but one foot separating him from the second place man.

Maurer, Gerke and Swank broke the tape in a dead heat in the half mile and the coach will have to choose a man to enter for the Husky meet.

The half milers and the men who will enter the discus and shotput have not been selected but it is probable that Hayward will enter one or two men in each event. "Tim" Johnson, first string weight man, is now in the university infirmary with a severe case of mumps and will not be able to take the trip.

The Oregon team competes against the strongest track team in the northwest. The Huskies ran through the Aggies in its first dual meet by the score of 91 to 40. The Stanford meet and the Seattle Relay carnival are the only meets the varsity has entered this year and its showing does not place it at more than a possible victory. The ineligibility ruling and illness has handicapped the varsity considerably this year.

The team which leaves Friday will be:

Extra—100 and 220 dashes.
Western—100 and 220 dashes.
Eugene—100, 220 dashes, high jump and broad jump.
Kinney—440 and relay.
Price—440 and relay.
Tetz—Mile.
Holder—Two-mile.
Kelsey—High and low hurdles.
Eby—High jump.
Rosenberg—Broad jump, pole vault and javelin.
Beatty—Javelin.
Cash—440 and relay.
Wilbur—440 and relay.
Mantz may enter in the shotput and discus.

CAN JONES BRIDGE THE GOLF GAP?

Not Since 1913 Has National Amateur Title-Holder Been Able To Repeat

BOBBY JONES

THIS year at Oakland in the Pittsburg district, Bobby Jones, distinguished father and family man, will be defending his title as amateur golf champion for the first time.

It is fashionable, and probably altogether correct, to call the Atlanta athlete the greatest amateur golfer who ever lived.

What does the coming season hold in store for this genius of the links? History proves that no ordinary mortal can hope to rule the clubhouse, intricate sport for more than 12 months hand-running.

Jerome Travers was the last amateur golf champion to repeat. He won in 1912, again in 1913, and was runner-up in 1914. This is the most remarkable demonstration of sustained championship form in the books.

Term Him Super-Star

Bobby Jones has been sold to the golfing public on the glittering basis of a super-star.

Is a super-star big enough to carry on from one year to another? Can Jones extend his championship reign from 1924 to 1925, and thereby bridge a gap in the records that has existed since 1913, a matter of 12 years?

Naturally the question must remain unanswered. Jones ought to have a better chance than any one who has held the title in recent years, for he is enormously gifted and is young and strong. But very often these details are not as important as dumb luck.

Jones has reason enough to remember Oakland, where this year's battle will be decided.

It was at Oakland in 1919 that he seemed a certainty to win his first title, and when he failed, many predicted he never would win, having passed up, as he had, such a glorious chance.

Jones Looked Certain

Jones eliminated Jimmy Manion in the first round, took Bob Gardner over the embattled bunkers in the second, checked Ruddy Knepper out in the third and downed the venerable Bill Fowles in the semi-final.

This sent him into the finals facing S. Davidson Herron, one of the best course players.

And who was S. Davidson Herron? Someone in the press tent leaped, he worked in one of the steel mills, and judging by his "Demopyne" like build, it appeared likely he might even be a puddler.

As a golfer few had ever heard of him apart from his local triumphs. Every golfer Jones had eliminated in the preceding rounds was considered more formidable, and naturally Bob was a heavy favorite to win. But he didn't. Herron triumphed him by the fairly decisive margin of 5 and 4.

It was one of the few times in history, incidentally, that a home player won a national championship on his home course.

PRACTICE SHOOT SET FOR MONDAY

The last practice trapshoot at the municipal aviation field traps will be held Friday, announces W. W. McCormack. The shoot will be held under auspices of the Lane County Sportsmen's association, Sunday the Eugene team of shooters will go to Corvallis to seek revenge for the defeat handed them by the Corvallis team at the last shoot by a margin of four points.

If Eugene wins Sunday's contest the tie will be shot off on neutral grounds, although it is possible, according to Mr. McCormack, that it would take place at the state shoot May 29, 30, and 31 in Eugene.

From 500 to 600 persons are expected in Eugene for the state shoot, from Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Montana. It is announced. More than $600 in cash prizes have been offered to the winners in the various classifications, and $1000 in trophies. Part of the trophies are now on exhibit in the display window of the R. A. Babl Hardware company.

All shooters will be classified in their ability, giving everyone an equal chance to participate for the prize money.

Kentucky Thrills At Approach of Far-Famed Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 14.—(Special)—King Horse, heralding the Kentucky Derby, already has advanced upon Louisville with its forefeet stamping the city as the temporary play grounds of the nation.

INSURE WITH HENRY TROMP

Finer Results, Easier Riding, Greater Strength, Lower Costs

One of the first considerations of the designers and builders of the new good Maxwell was to make sure of ample strength.

Transmission and rear axle are strong enough for the most powerful lugging through deep sand and mud. In every particular the car is built to do the job—whatever the job may be—and do it unflatteringly.

The new good Maxwell is in truth a car of exceptional quality. The motor is designed not only to deliver 58 miles an hour and accelerate from 5 to 25 in 8 seconds. It also combines such structural features as force feed lubrication to main bearings.

Facts like these account for the car's dependable service and low maintenance costs. We would like an opportunity to tell you the complete Maxwell story. But most of all we are eager to demonstrate the car's finer results and riding qualities.
