

GIRL SHOTS WHEN FATHER SEEN WITH WOMAN ON STREET

CHICAGO, May 20.—When Lucille Wunsch, 15 year old high school girl, last night with her mother found her father, William Wunsch, in company with Miss Agnes Simmonek, 28, who shot and probably fatally wounded Miss Simmonek and slightly wounded her father and mother who attempted to intercept her.

The girl was held by the police at Riverdale, a suburb where the shooting occurred. Her mother, who threw herself before the girl to prevent her shooting the father, said she did not know the daughter was carrying the weapon and was confronted Wunsch and Miss Simmonek.

Miss Simmonek, wounded in the side and in both lungs, will die, hospital surgeons said.

Lucille was detained by the chief of police at his home and officials were said to be reluctant to prosecute the girl at least pending some development in the condition of Miss Simmonek. She is one of Riverdale's younger village belles and her father is a member of the village board.

The girl is said to have been gadded in shooting because of gibes of schoolmates, who knew of her father's friendship for Miss Simmonek. The latter and Wunsch returned from an automobile ride when the shooting occurred.

Miss Simmonek told hospital doctors that Mrs. Wunsch and not Lucille, did the shooting and while the county highway police accepted this version, the Riverdale police said both Lucille and Wunsch arrested the former had not Miss Simmonek.

GIRLS IN COOS MILLS WEAR MEN'S TOGS

Trees Which Are Cut Down by Men Are Given Their Final Cut-up by Members of Fairer Sex.

Lumberjills in lumbermills of Coos bay.

(By NEA Service)

MARSHFIELD, Ore., May 20.—Equal rights means equal work here. Where there's a lumberjack there's a lumberjill-close by.

Which means that the big trees which the lumberjills cut down are cut up by the lumberjills, who are for the most part wives or sweethearts of the jacks.

The war introduced jills to the lumber camp, but peace has not taken them away. Instead, the employers are getting to like the jills more and more every day. Proof of this may be had in the photographs and radios which have been installed for the benefit of the jills.

"They work better to music," says the employer.

Jacks and jills doing the same work get the same pay; and that is an inducement which attracts scores of school teachers during vacation time.

All this the men don't mind—but they do complain that they can't cuss as much as they used to.

LANE LABOR CASES WILL AFFECT ROAD WORKERS IN STATE

SALEM, Ore., May 20.—Highway work all over the state will be affected by the court decree in the case of Stanley Gregor against Lane county, which is now pending in the circuit court at Eugene, and in which the county will be assisted in its defense by J. M. Devers, attorney for the state highway commission.

The question is whether the county can be forced to pay overtime wages to laborers who requested the privilege of working over eight hours.

The suit is brought by Allan Joy, a Portland attorney, in the name of Gregor, who has taken the assignments of all the other laborers involved. The case dates back as far as 1918 and the overtime wages alleged to be due total about $5,000.

The county employed a large number of men on roadwork and they were required to furnish their own board. Since they were in the country a long distance from their homes, they had to pay board, and expressed a preference to work 10 instead of 8 hours, so that they might pay board by the additional two hours labor.

There is a law that says eight hours shall constitute a day's work, more than that to be required only in cases of emergency, when double pay shall be allowed for the overtime. The suit is brought under that law, but the county claims the law should not apply for the reason that the men wanted to work 10 hours.

About a year ago, some of the same men complained to State Labor Commissioner Gram, demanding overtime pay, and at the request of Governor Pierce, Attorney Devers placed the matter before the Lane county grand jury, which did not indict the county officials, and now the laborers have instituted civil action.

Deserts his Drys

"Prohibition is nearer the grave than I," says Dr. J. P. Stoddard, 91, oldest living graduate of the University of Michigan, who says that while he was behind the early dry moves, that he now believes prohibition laws must be revised. He is a descendant of Jonathan Edwards, fiery theologian of early New England.

Walterville man Injured by saw

SPRINGFIELD, May 20.—Specialist—Walter Easton, of Walterville sustained a severe cut on his right arm half way between the elbow and the wrist yesterday at his home. Mr. Easton had been cutting brush in his yard and had hung a cross-cut saw by its handle in a tree. The saw was jarred loose, fell from the tree, and struck his arm, cutting nearly to the bone. He received surgical attention from Dr. Eugene Keister of Springfield, who took six stitches to close the wound.

Rainfall Total in Bend is .96 Inches

BEND, Ore., May 20.—A steady rain which began falling here early last night, continued this morning and at 8 o'clock a total of .96 of an inch had fallen for the 24-hour period ending then. This brings the total precipitation for the month to more than two inches. Range conditions all over central Oregon are reported to be in unusually good condition as a result of the rains. Heavy rains have been falling in the mountains and near flood conditions are reported from Crane Prairie. Grass on the meadows is in unusually good condition there, forestry officials who have just returned from an inspection trip report.

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore., May 20.—Enough rain fell in Klamath county last night to supply the country for an entire month, according to the local office of the reclamation service. Rainfall totalled .77 of an inch, or more than has fallen during the entire month of May for the past 10 years. Farmers throughout the county are jubilant. The only damage reported was to unmacadamized roads.

YATES HOTEL ON FINAL JOURNEY

The Yates hotel, alias the Eugene High school, alias the Lane County court house, is going on another trip. This time the historical building which was here January 29, 1855, will find its final resting place, it hopes, on the banks of the millrace, another historic old fixture of Eugene, at the end of Seventh avenue east.

The building was erected for the county by A. A. Smith in 1855, and occupied the center of the court house square. In 1890, after a legal battle that involved most of the town, it was moved from the center to make room for the passage of Eighth avenue and Oak street. The original structure was made by hand, of indigenous timbers, and was the most imposing architectural structure in the county for many years.

In 1907, when the court house was built, the faithful old building was abandoned over to its present position, an addition put on it, and the late John E. Campbell fitted it up for Eugene's first high school. When the high school building that is now the city hall was built, the old court house was fitted up and made into a hotel, which it has been since.

The guests of the hotel will be taken along when the structure is moved, announces George Clearwater, proprietor, and not one has signified any intention of leaving because of the journey. The new location will be ideal for living, as part of the rooms will overlook the millrace. Frank L. Chambers is now owner of the hotel, having purchased it from M. D. Mitchell. Henry Mitchell will erect a garage 40x111 feet on the present site.

Storm-Felled Tree Affects Power Line

SPRINGFIELD, May 20.—(Special)—The California-Oregon power line of the Mountain States Power company went out yesterday afternoon at 4:48 o'clock, due to a tree falling on the line near Dixonville during the heavy rains. The line was not in again until 7:14 this morning. During the trouble on the line the Springfield power plant put an extra turbine in operation, giving emergency help to the Roseburg power plant's load.

VIOLENCE RIFE AND RED TERRORS KEEP LISBON IN TURMOIL

LISBON, May 20.—(Special)—The population of Lisbon has fallen recently under the terrorizing influence of the Red Legion, a secret society of malefactors notorious for bomb outrages, assassinations and robberies. Several groups of these bandits have, during the last few weeks, carried out their exploits in broad daylight, entering the principal national banks and demanding, with pointed pistols, large sums of money, and imposing silence by threats of vengeance on the clerks and their families.

A few days ago, in a busy thoroughfare, a collector was assaulted and robbed of his bag containing several thousand pounds. While two men

Lemons Bleach the Skin White

The only harmless way to bleach the skin white is to mix the juice of two lemons with three ounces of Orchard White, which any druggist will supply for a few cents. Shake well in a bottle and you have a whole quart-pint of the most wonderful skin whitener, softener and beautifier.

Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon bleach into the face, neck, arms and hands. It can not irritate. Famous stage beauties use it to bring that clear youthful skin and rosy-white complexion, also as a freckle, sunburn and tan bleach. You must mix this remarkable lotion yourself. It can not be bought ready to use because it acts best immediately after it is prepared.
