

PROVES HELD POLAR PLANE PARTY WILL RETURN TO SAFETY

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(AP)—The safe return of the Amundsen-Ellsworth polar expedition was held today by Donald R. MacMillan, Arctic explorer, who believes that any of several reasons might have delayed the return of the fliers. The mere problem of locating the expedition by astronomical observations, MacMillan said might in itself require several days to accomplish.

Polar Party Gone For six days now

NEW YORK, May 27.—Today is the sixth since the Amundsen-Ellsworth polar flying expedition hopped out for the north, and the whereabouts of the six adventurers remain as much of a mystery as ever. When their two planes disappeared from the view of those at King's bay, Spitzbergen, all communication with the coast, as Captain Amundsen put without wireless equipment so as to carry as much motor fuel as possible. As to what has befallen the party, there are several possibilities, and the truth can be for the present only a matter of conjecture. Having reached the pole or its vicinity, the explorers may be spending some time in verifying their position and making the necessary records to have their feet to the scientific world. Again they may have discovered a passage in the Arctic and be engaged in exploring it. Another theory—and this is put forward by some who know the mettle of the discoverer of the South Pole, is that he knew it would be impossible to fly back from the pole, because the distance likely to be suffered by the planes on landing, that the out-land trip was made without mishap and that the members of the expedition, equipped with their hunting gear, sleeping bags, folding boat and other aids, now are on their way back on foot across the ice which covers the northern seas. The last possibility, and one which the admirers of the adventure, six months to envisage, is that disaster has befallen the expedition—that one or both of the planes have crashed and that few, or perhaps none of the explorers now survive. There is much discussion about the possibility of Amundsen's friends in Norway declare this talk is premature. The explorers, they say, are prepared for all contingencies; they are fully capable of taking care of themselves and his party, and he may be held open to turn up, sooner or later, at some outpost of civilization. Statements made at the White House yesterday would support any plans formulated by the secretary of the navy for an American relief expedition. Secretary Wilbur, questioned regarding the use for that purpose of the dirigible Los Angeles and Shen-

BRIDGE SLIDES OFF INTO RIVER

An expensive bridge accident—one that will probably cost the county approximately $800—occurred yesterday, when the Ferguson bridge across the Long Tom river broke from its moorings as it was being raised by a bridge crew, and slid off into the river.

The bridge is 80 feet in length, and was built more than a year ago. Because it was low, the bridge was virtually useless in the high water season as the floor was covered by the water. Workmen were instructed to raise the level four inches by Arthur Stricker, county bridge builder. After the span had been raised 3 1/2 inches at one end the workmen started to apply the jack for the remaining half inch. The big structure started to wobble, someone yelled to get out of the way as it was breaking loose, and it then slid off into the water, cracking several of its big board reinforcements in two.

County court members took the accident philosophically. "It's very fortunate no one was killed," commented Clinton Hurd. "It was just one of those accidents in which one is particular was to blame. Most of the bridge can be salvaged, however, and work will begin immediately in putting it back. This time it will be built at the proper level."

Mrs. Ernst Speaks On Fraternalism

SPRINGFIELD, May 27.—(Special)—Mrs. Rudolf Ernst, of the department of English faculty at the University of Oregon, addressed an audience of women last evening in the Springfield chamber of commerce rooms on "The Growing Fraternalism of Women." The affair was held under the auspices of the Springfield Civic club, and followed a short business session presided over by Mrs. Lida MacGowan. Mrs. Ernst traced the growth of women's position in politics, science, and other fields, in its historical sequence. She drew analogies from the women's movements in the foreign countries which she recently visited. American women were declared in advance of the women of England, France and Germany in this regard, but Mrs. Ernst expressed the belief that in those countries, too, there is an increasing comradeship between women and women and between men and women.

The girl recalls the trial, knowing how it will open the wounds that have slowly been healing. "But she has one comfort—Billy McIntosh's picture. Always Has Picture "I always carry it," she says. "Dear, poor Billy. Anybody would love Billy. "But Billy is gone. I can't say, in words, just what I would express. To talk about him and of all this is oh, so painful, can't you understand? "We would have been in Europe now, on our honeymoon—but this—he is gone. What can there be left?" No, there are no hysterics. Isabelle Pope is a thoroughbred, and thoroughbreds do not parade their troubles for the crowd. "But she is only a girl, after all. And so the clear gray eyes, that try so hard to look at life bravely and hopefully, fill slowly with tears. Miss Pope turns away so that they may not be seen. Appeal to citizens of Eugene to furnish flowers for the decoration of graves of veterans on Memorial day was made today by George E. Love, chairman of the Memorial committee. "As it looks now we will be extremely short of flowers for decoration," says Mr. Love. "We wish to urge every citizen of Eugene to give flowers to school children Friday morning to take to their schools. In the afternoon the legion will collect the flowers from the schools. "We want to decorate two or three hundred graves. Especially we need more color bouquets than we have for making wreaths. The Women's Relief corps, Ladies of the G. A. R. and the American legion auxiliary will make up the wreaths, and the boy scouts will aid in decorating the graves. "Any persons who are unable to turn their flowers over to school children may bring them directly to Mr. Love at his store, he announces.
