

EUGENE GETS LAND AS OUTLET TO NEW CITY WATER MAINS

Purchase of a piece of ground on Eighth avenue east near the Southern Pacific crossing has been made by the city of Eugene for an outlet for new water mains that will be connected from the city water works east and north of the S. P. right-of-way. The deed for the property which has a frontage of 52 feet on Eighth avenue east was filed for record today.

The property was owned by the J. W. Geary post of the Woman's Relief corps and was left by Mrs. Roper to the organization at her death four or five years ago. Negotiations for the site have been under way for some time and the title has just been cleared. The property contains a small house and this will probably be moved and the ground cleared as an outlet for the water mains, according to C. A. McCallin, superintendent of public utilities.

The property on the west boundary has a depth to the north of about 100 feet to the railroad right-of-way the east boundary has a dimension of about half of this due to the angle of the rail trackage.

E. J. ADAMS HERE TO SPEND SUMMER

E. J. Adams, secretary to Senator Stanfield, arrived in Eugene from Washington, D. C., yesterday, to spend the summer. He and Mrs. Adams have taken apartments at the Osburn hotel.

Senator Stanfield is still in Phoenix, Ariz., where he is conducting the public hearings investigating the administration of public lands. Mr. Adams reports. As some of these meetings will be held in Oregon the senator will probably come to Eugene directly from Arizona, and will be accompanied by Mr. Adams on his itinerary of visits to Oregon cities.

"Eugene is destined to become the Spokane of Oregon," says Mr. Adams. "The proposed railroad terminal and building record are related developments, however. They were due some time ago. After visiting some of the cities in the east, that have experienced little or no change in the last 20 years, one is certainly impressed with the future ahead of Eugene."

WATER TESTED AT BOY SCOUT CAMP

Every Boy Scout from the Eugene troops attending the big annual summer camp at Mapleton on Knowles creek is expected to gain from two to five pounds during the two weeks, according to Dr. D. C. Standaard of the camp committee.

Drinking water has been analyzed, and shown to have a high test of purity. The water comes from a bubbling mountain spring near a large maple tree, and because of absence of gas producing organisms is practically impossible to contaminate.

Each scout will be given a physical examination before going to camp, to preclude the possibility of carrying disease into camp. A garbage incinerator will be provided and a special scout detail placed in charge of camp sanitation and cleanliness.

Arrangements have been made with ranchers in the vicinity to plant an extra supply of produce for the scouts, the committee reports. A large chicken ranch 1 1/2 miles from camp assures a plentiful supply of eggs, and a Holstein dairy farm almost adjoining will supply from 5 to 10 gallons of milk a day.

The camp committee, consisting of K. C. Ables, Leland Johnson, Dr. D. C. Standaard, Will Robertson, will meet tonight with the executive board and troop committees to decide ways in which parents of every scout in town will be interviewed with regard to the camp. A prospectus, describing the camp and its program, has been printed and distributed.

With the completion of school examinations, a large number of scouts are anxious to get jobs to earn the money for the summer camp. Local citizens have responded liberally to the call for jobs, and anyone having any work a scout can do is asked to get in touch with their employment office in the Miner building, in charge of Leland Johnson.

CHINESE FIRE ON AMERICAN BOAT

The battle was unchanged, despite the fact that leaders of both the Yunnanese, who hold the city and the Cantonese, who are attacking the city from the island of Honan, had expressed themselves as willing to remove the fighting to some point outside the urban limits.

The Yunnanese reported the arrest in Canton of four Bolshevik Russians. The statement that the Yunnanese would not tolerate the principles of the Bolsheviks was added to the announcement.

Heavy fighting resulted last night from an attempt of Yunnanese soldiers to remove a cargo of rice from the steamer wharf.

A deputation of the Chinese chamber of commerce again applied to leaders on both sides today pleading for removal of the fighting outside of the city.

SHEPHERD CASE IS OPENED IN COURT

Clintock for years before her mysterious death and since had lived off her estate.

Shepherd, the prosecutor described as a man who never had earned more than $15 a week.

An extensive study of chemistry was ascribed to the defendant by the prosecutor, who referred to study in the Indianapolis, Ind., high school, a western drug store owned by Mrs. Shepherd's father and in a private laboratory hidden in a secret closet at the McClintock home in Kenilworth, a North Shore suburb of Chicago.

The prosecutor did not have regard for the pre-statement objections of the defense and stated the manner of Mrs. McClintock's death, said Shepherd was elated when he heard the news and remarked that he would "come out of it with his pockets filled."

Will Draw Up.
Crowe said Shepherd had drawn up a will for Mrs. McClintock, but did not know that shortly before she died she had made a new will.

Shepherd was referred to as a police court hanger-on at Indianapolis where Crowe said, he practiced without a license.

Crowe referred to the intended marriage of young McClintock and Miss Pope as an obstacle to the Shepherd plan which had to be removed so that the Shepherd plan of 17 years could attain fruition.

"If Billy had married and gotten into a different environment, the will Shepherd had drawn up on the day the boy became 21 would have become null and void," said Crowe.

The allegation that Shepherd then took up seriously the study of bacteriology was Crowe's next accusation, followed by the details of the youth's final illness. The prosecutor pounded the railing about the jury box and his voice rose.

Shepherd Seems Pale.
Shepherd, white with a prison pallor, seemed paler but once he turned and smiled at Mrs. Shepherd.

The prosecutor ended his opening statement in one hour concluding with a description of young McClintock's last illness after he said Shepherd had learned at the National University of Sciences how to slay the youth and had obtained the necessary germs from Charles C. Falman for a promise of $100,000 from the McClintock estate.

Defense Counsel Stewart sought to have Judge Lynch instruct the jury to disregard Mr. Crowe's remarks identifying Shepherd as an Indianapolis court shyster, both Shepherds as panhandlers, a reference to Shep-

The government has taken up the case and he will be held in jail here until arrangements for his re-entry into Canada can be completed. Moore came to the United States without undergoing the necessary requirements at the border, according to the government communication.

The World Shall Be Established

millions now living will never die

Shifting of governments has been the history of the world; and much suffering has resulted from the thoughtless unconcern of Powers—jealous, crafty, plotting for control of the world.

Professions of peace are now rampant, plans are afloat promising stability. Yet there comes to light a ceaseless, untiring working to create weapons of destruction—aircraft, poison gas, cruisers, bombs, liquid fire.

Designs against neighbor nations, which are really plans of annihilation, lack the promise of stability. Yet the prophecies revealing present tendencies show that peace, permanent peace, will follow the confusion, distress and reeling perplexity of our world.
