BIG TUNNEL ON CUT-OFF LINE NEAR THROUGH

Daylight Will Filter in on Friday, is Prediction From Bend

Celebration is Planned by Workmen on Both Ends Of the Tunnel

BEND, Ore., June 16.—(AP)—Daylight is expected to be seen through the tunnel under the Cascades on the Natron cut-off sometime Friday, according to telephone reports from Stewart and Welch, contractors in charge this morning. Celebrations by and for the workmen will be held at each end of the tunnel Sunday.

Hole is Small The tunnel, when daylight is cut through will be little more than high enough for workmen to get through below the timbers, according to W. J. Perry, lumber forester for the Deschutes national forest, who returned this morning from several days at Odell lake. He has been in charge of the timber being cut from the national forests for the tunnel timbers and tunnel "packing."

Six pumps are being run on the west side of the tunnel construction, pumping out the water. Since the tunnel grade is to the west, no pumps are needed on the east side and as soon as the tunnel is cut through the water from this side can be disposed of with less expense by gravity through the west entrance, according to information given out in Bend.

All the tunnel timbers and cord wood used for tunnel "packing," has been cut according to Perry. This included two and a half million feet of Douglas fir in the Deschutes national forest, used for timbering the tunnel and 100,000 cords of hemlock half from the Deschutes and half from the Cascade national forests. The timber sales were all handled through the Deschutes forestry office in Bend.

DEPUTY DROPS WOUNDED; MAY LOSE HIS ARM

Disturbers Are Taken When Posse Swings Into the Gun Fight

Battle is Result of Alleged Molestations at Olene In Past Week

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore., June 16.—(AP)—Three men were wounded at Olene, nine miles east of Klamath Falls last night in a gun fight between a sheriff's posse and three men who were reported to have been terrorizing the people of the community. Ed Kendall, deputy sheriff, is in a local hospital with bullet wounds in his arm and leg and underwent an operation late this morning in an effort to save his arm. Attending surgeons say his condition is serious.

Jim Burke, one of the alleged disturbers, also in a hospital, with a bullet wound in his foot, while an unidentified man, who was struck in the leg by a stray bullet, has not yet been located by authorities.

Trio Rounded Up Sheriff Bart Hawkins rounded up Burke and two of his alleged companions after Kendall had fallen to the ground from loss of blood. Ed Fuller and his son, J. Fuller, were the other two under arrest as a result of the attack.

Residents of the Olene district telephoned the sheriff's office last night that three men were terrorizing people of that section. They were reported to have fired several shots at a passing woman tourist, and to have attempted to hold up a man a few minutes later.

When Sheriff Hawkins and Deputy Kendall arrived at the scene, they saw they saw a small auto parked in a secluded spot off the roadway, with two of the three men crouching down behind the car. As Kendall shouted for them to throw up their hands, the man giving the name of Burke is said to have opened instant fire, the first bullet shattering Kendall's left arm and shoulder. A second man, Kendall felt the sting of a bullet in his left leg. In the gun play which followed, Kendall felt Burke with a bullet wound in the foot, was Sheriff Hawkins' version of the encounter.

Fuller Overpowered The sheriff said he then circled around the three men and overpowered them.

SHANGHAI, June 16.—(AP)—One foreign life for every Chinese life taken in the Shanghai riots was the slogan adopted by Chinese in posters distributed today after the killing of William MacKenzie, an English subject, yesterday. Otherwise the situation remains unchanged, a seething city of indignation and unrest.

Further reports received up to 11 o'clock tonight from Chungking, Kiangling and Nanking, reports on the Yangtze river described the situation at those points as increasingly grave. Foreigners at Nanking are considered in danger. Chinese employes there by Japanese and British firms are on strike. For British consular his family are reported to have taken up residence at the American consulate. The principal mission at Nanking, however, lies in the possible cutting off of water and food supplies.

Reporters Discussed. The presence of two reporters, however, provoked a half hour's discussion at the very outset, which followed a motion by Mrs. George T. Gellinger, of Portland, to bar the press from the entire meeting. Mrs. Gellinger stated that she had conferred with newspaper editors of the state and that they had agreed that the proceedings followed in the past, that of handing out reports to reporters, was satisfactory. "We have always given the press full reports," she said. "The controversy last time was caused by a correspondent of a Portland paper who had been dismissed from college, and sought to 'get back' thereby." Mrs. Gellinger did not refer to the extra edition of the Emerald, student daily, wherein several important actions not given in the regents' report to the press, were presented, nor did she mention specifically what treatment the newspapers had given the affair after the former meeting.

Second is Lacking. No regret would second Mrs. Gellinger's motion, Governor Pierce, Superintendent Churchill and Sam Koster, secretary of state, declared that "the press should nevertheless be welcome to attend all sessions, whether general or executive." A compromise was finally effected by agreeing to "go into executive session" if any matters of a personal nature should come up.

The newspapers therefore were allowed to sit through the first eight items of business, which consisted of roll call; report of administrative committee, which was accepted in full with but one or two minor changes; the announcement of gifts to the medical school; the granting of a site to Saint Jackson park to the government for a veterans' hospital; the authorization to erect a small building for the University Press, ratification of action of executive committee in granting of degrees to graduating class, and the matter of buildings to come out of the $5 a term fee voted by the students.

And such as they would hate to do it, the next time it occurs, the police will be required to make arrests on charges of carrying on a petting party on public people's property. This announcement was made today by night officers of the Eugene police department, who have received complaints from residents at Third and Pearl, asking them to stop the petting parties on the vacant lot there; that not only is it a scandalous proceeding, but an outrage on the peace and dignity of the citizens. Investigation is being made by the officers, who have orders to arrest the offenders.
