AMUNDSEN RETURNS

Senator Robert M. LaFollette Dies

Heart Failure Cause Of Death; Wisconsin Leader 70 Years old

Members of Family at Bedside; Health Not Of Best Since 1924 Presidential Campaign; Cheerful to Last

WASHINGTON, June 18.—(By the Associated Press)—Senator Robert M. LaFollette, for many years a stormy petrel of American politics died here today. He was 70 years of age.

Death resulted at 1:21 p. m. from heart failure induced by a general breakdown and an attack of bronchial asthma.

The Wisconsin senator and later independent presidential candidate began failing in health even before the 1924 campaign. Several weeks ago he contracted a severe cold which developed into asthma.

Although they realized the seriousness of Senator LaFollette's condition, members of his family had hoped until today that he would recover. Last night his physicians said he was resting but nevertheless he took a quick and decided turn for the worse in the night hours and hope was abandoned.

Senator LaFollette long was a victim of angina pectoris, a heart ailment and this, with his asthmatic attack, caused him to suffer greatly from shortness of breath. Violent coughing spells accompanied his illness.

Almost to the last, however, he insisted on cheerful reports being given out as to his illness and it was not until yesterday that it was admitted that his condition was serious.

Besides Mrs. LaFollette, all of their four children were at the bedside. They were Robert M. LaFollette Jr., Phillip LaFollette and the two daughters, Mrs. George Middleton of New York and Mrs. Ralph Sucher of Washington.

After all the storms of his long life, he died peacefully.

AMUNDSEN'S EXPEDITION RETURNS TO SAFETY

Above are shown Roald Amundsen, noted Arctic explorer, and the members of his expedition, who returned to Spitzbergen today after they had been thought lost in the far north.

Explorer is Safe At Spitzbergen; News is Meager

All six Members of Arctic Party are Well, is Word Received

Message of Arrival is Also Sent to Copenhagen; Details Lacking There, Too; Newspaper Alliance Sends Word

NEW YORK, June 18.—(By The Associated Press)—The North American Newspaper alliance announced today that Roald Amundsen, the explorer, has returned to Spitzbergen from his North Pole flight.

Bernon S. Prentice, brother-in-law of Lincoln Ellsworth, co-leader of the expedition, said he had received word that all six members of the expedition had returned safely to Spitzbergen.

Details Are Lacking

COPENHAGEN, June 18.—(By The Associated Press)—The reports of Captain Roald Amundsen's return from his polar expedition were received in Copenhagen this afternoon. They were not, however, accompanied by any details.

The Amundsen-Ellsworth airplane expedition of two machines hopped off from King's Bay, Spitzbergen for its attempted flight to the north pole on May 21.

The venture was one at which the world held its breath, for the plunge into the Arctic wastes was everywhere counted one of extreme hazard but those who knew from experience conditions in the north and well acquainted with Amundsen's ability to cope with them, were almost to a man confident that he would return safely.

Ellsworth as Observer. With Amundsen, as observer in the second airplane was Lincoln Ellsworth, aviator, engineer, athlete, and explorer in many of the run of the war parts of the western hemisphere.

In addition the expedition carried four men, two in each of the planes. They were Hjalmar Riiser-Larsen, lieutenant in the Norwegian navy and expert aviator, Lt. Dieckrichsen, an airplane pilot and experienced man of letters, Norway; Oscar Omdal, mechanic of Kristiansund, Norway, long associated with Amundsen's exploring work and a former student of aviation at Alameda, La., and Lt. O. Dieckrichsen, a former student of aviation at Alameda, La., and Lt. O. Dieckrichsen, a former student of aviation at Alameda, La.

MOVEMENT TO GET ROAD TERMINAL AT EUGENE EXPLAINED

The movement by Eugene to obtain location here of the Southern Pacific carshops and terminal was initiated by the city of Eugene. The Southern Pacific company did not seek to come in here, but finally, after long negotiation gave an understanding that it would come if the certain tract of 200 acres of land north of Blair boulevard which has since been placed under option were given to it in exchange for its lands in Springfield.

This was one of the points emphasized today by W. W. Calkins, chairman of the railroads committee of the chamber of commerce, in an address at the weekly meetings of luncheon, which was attended by 125 members.

Mr. Calkins made it clear that Eugene had acted towards securing the carshops and terminal only after the Springfield project had lain dormant for approximately a dozen years, and after Springfield had repudiated a movement initiated by Eugene towards a consolidation of the two cities. He showed how Eugene's action towards securing the improvements program for the fiscal year ending June 30 next, would exceed $100,000,000.

FAIMAN ON STAND AGAINST SHEPHERD AT CHICAGO TRIAL

CHICAGO, June 18.—(AP)—His sponsorship relinquished by the prosecution which for many weeks has had him under close guard, as its proclaimed chief witness, Charles T. Faiman was called as a court witness today in the Shepherd murder trial. He took the witness stand for direct examination by Judge Thomas J. Lynch at 11:38 a. m.

The step was over the bitter protest of the defense, which argued that the move would prejudice the jury and open up avenues of cross-examination for the state which otherwise would be denied.

Opens Accusation

Faiman, a dapper little blonde man, launched immediately into his accusation of Shepherd before Judge Lynch had asked him two questions of identification.

He talked in a barely audible voice and Judge Lynch, seated less than six feet from the witness stand, strained forward to hear what was said.

Faiman glanced nervously from the judge to the jury to himself and shifted about in the chair.

Faiman, proprietor of the National University of Science, a school housed in an old brick residence, said Shepherd sent him a letter inquiring about a course in bacteriology and that after he had sent a representative to see Shepherd, the accused man came to his institution.

Shepherd said he wanted to take a course in criminal bacteriology, Faiman said, Shepherd is a lawyer.

Shepherd wanted to see some germs Faiman testified, and was shown some on a slide.

Interested in Germs

The defendant said he would return, said Faiman, and upon the stand and displayed especial interest in typhoid and tuberculosis germs. Shepherd asked how a person could be given germs and was told they could be introduced in food or in cold water, said Faiman, adding that Shepherd wanted to know if the fact germs had been fed a poison could be revealed in a post mortem examination. Faiman was his lips occasionally as

The FLAPPER WIFE

By Beatrice Burton © 1925 WEA SERVICE INC.

The Story So Far GLORIA GORDON, beautiful flapper, marries DICK GREGORY, a struggling lawyer. Her idea of marriage is fun and fine clothes...

New go on with the Story DICK borrows MAGGIE, his mother's maid, to teach Gloria to cook. But she refuses to learn. Later Maggie leaves, disgusted with Gloria's "wild" parties and her jazy friends.

Then Gloria hires RANGHILD SWANSON, although Dick tells her they can't afford a maid. She swears they can't afford a maid, and insists upon a new automobile.

Gloria goes riding in it with STEANLEY WAYBURN, an actor with whom she was in love, before she married Dick. They are seen by MOTHER GREGORY, who begs Gloria to heed her ways.

Next day Gloria asks WAYBURN, MAY BEYMOUL, wife of DIL JOHN BEYMOUL, and May's lover, JIM CAREWE, to the house. Dick returns and puts the guests out.

Because of her silly affair with CAREWE, May is shocked by her woman friends. But that doesn't stop Gloria from seeing Wayburn, who expects to leave for New York in a few weeks.

"If I were a man friend of yours, you'd let me into your same money, wouldn't you?" Gloria asked. Wayburn nodded.

"Well, think of me just as a friend... not a woman, then," (Continued on page nine)
