

BARRAGES OF HITS AND MANY SCORES ADDED THIS WEEK

NEW YORK, June 18.—Mid-June, when major league pitchers are supposed to be warmed up to their summer tasks, finds record-breaking scoring feats appearing daily. On Tuesday American and National league players pumpeled out 174 hits including 10 home runs. Yesterday they added 148 blows to the total, eight homers being registered.

ROGERS HORNSBY is turning out to be one of the best June managers the Cardinals ever had.

A girl won the marble shooting championship at Atlantic City. . . . There seems nothing left for the boys to do but take up fancy needle work.

The little town of Dayton, Tenn., is getting almost as much publicity from the monkey controversy as if it had produced a good left-handed pitcher.

Mr. Speaker of the Indians says there are six teams in the American league race this year. But at present the Athletics seem to be all six themselves.

The critics insist Gibbons' judgment was bad in the Tunney fight. . . . It was particularly bad when he agreed to the fight.

The man who took two revolver shots at Harry Greb evidently had never seen him in the ring. . . . Otherwise he would have known the necessity of using a shotgun.

It probably would make the trial entirely too one-sided if the prosecution factored were to insist on employing Harry Thaw as an exhibit A.

Not that it is a matter of supreme importance, but just who is this week's bantam weight champion?

Tilden has obtained a release from his newspaper contract and will compete in the Davis cup matches. . . . The cause of journalism may recover from this terrible blow but it will never look the same.

Tom Sharkey laments the present day fighter doesn't take enough chances. . . . But the present day fighter certainly takes enough dough.

Habe Ruth made his first home run of the season the other day and within 24 hours the sale of hot dogs throughout the land leaped 80 per cent.

Billy Evans Says

ALL other things being nearly equal, youth invariably gets the decision in sport.

The recent meeting between Tommy Gibbons and Gene Tunney is offered as proof of the above statement.

I have never witnessed a more disappointing bout. I liked the chances of Gibbons to win. I thought he knew too much for Tunney. As a matter of fact, Gibbons never had a chance.

Tunney, in great shape, and making the best showing of his career, simply outclassed Gibbons.

The moment that Gibbons entered the ring I had my doubts as to his chances of winning. He didn't look fit physically, appeared much too fat.

If I didn't know that Gibbons was a most conscientious chap, I would surmise that he didn't train very hard for the Tunney job, didn't care whether he won or not.

The Gibbons beaten by Tunney was just a ghost of the Gibbons I have seen in action any number of times.

Plane to be Made Capable of Doing 400 Miles an Hour

NEW YORK, June 18.—(AP)—An airplane said to be capable of a speed of 400 miles an hour is being built and will be entered in the races for the Pulitzer trophy next October, according to Dr. Otto A. Koller, German aeronautical expert, now in New York.

Dr. Koller, inventor of the Albatross type of pursuit plane used by the Germans during the World war, says he expects a shatter the existing American record of 206 miles an hour. His airplane will be equipped with an 800-horsepower engine with a total wing spread of 36 feet, and a length of 23 feet from propeller to rudder.

Darkness Brings Game to a Draw

Darkness saved the day, or game, between the Postoffice and Furniture-Druggists baseball teams last night. With the score tied at three markers apiece, the sun dropped behind the hills, and Umpire Manned called for a flashlight so he could witness Fletcher Spritzing's deliveries. Falling to get the light, the umpire stopped the game and called it a draw.

BASE BALL SIMPLIFIED BY BILLY EVANS advertisement.

Are there any special methods used by major league umpires in guiding them as to what actually constitutes an infield fly, when there are runners on first and second or first, second and third and less than two out?

Major league umpires have no set instructions to guide them as to what constitutes an infield fly.

The calling of an infield fly receives itself purely into a matter of judgment. A certain hit ruled an infield fly by one umpire might not be so regarded by another umpire.

An infield fly is merely a fair fly-ball, other than a line drive, that in the opinion of the umpire can be handled by an infielder.

The umpire should reach his decision as quickly as possible on an infield fly and immediately let the team in the field as well as the baserunners know his judgment on the play.

If he doesn't believe the fly ball can be handled by an infielder, he simply remains silent. If he believes it can, he calls it an infield fly.

The calling of infield fly automatically retires the batsman, protects the runners and permits them to advance at their peril as on any other fly ball.

After the umpire once rules a fair fly ball an infield fly, it makes no difference who handles the ball. If an outfielder should make the play and catch it, he calls it an infield fly.

The calling of infield fly automatically retires the batsman, protects the runners and permits them to advance at their peril as on any other fly ball.

Lane Fishing Held Better This Year

TROUT fishing in Lane county as a whole has been better so far this year than during last spring, according to the opinion of several veteran anglers who have made the circuit of the majority of the county streams and lakes. This better fishing is for the Willamette and McKenzie rivers and tributaries as the angling in Clear Lake, the Siuslaw river and in the Siskiyou district is held to have been not quite so good as for this season.

At only a few anglers have braved the trip to Udel, Crescent and Lost lakes there are no full reports on the productiveness of these waters as yet, the fishermen state.

KNUTE ROCKNE'S COURSE TO DRAW

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, CORVALLIS, June 18.—(Special)—Great interest in Knute Rockne's course in football coaching to be given in the summer session is being shown by prospective pupils of the famous coach. Nearly 150 have applied for membership in his class, including interscholastic and intercollegiate coaches from many parts of the west.

The course will take the greater part of each day for two weeks. Rockne will devote the morning to teaching and field work, with supplementary work in the afternoon. Theory and practice will be so combined that the student will not only learn to carry out Rockne's methods himself but to teach them to others.

COACH SMITH TO AID SPOKANE, Wash., June 18.—Coach Maurice Smith of Gonzaga University will be Knute Rockne's chief assistant when the Notre Dame football coach conducts his summer school course at Oregon Agricultural College at Corvallis this summer.

Outdoor Life

What cooking utensils to take. You can get along with a frying pan, coffee pot, tin cup, knife, fork and spoon. These are essential.

If motoring, a camp stove is necessary. One that burns coal oil or gasoline.

Wood is not available at most tourist camps. Indians make a small fire and stand close. That's a good logic. Don't make a big blaze.

When leaving camp be sure the fire is out.

VETERANS WILL BE GUESTS IN SESSION

OMAHA, Neb., June 18.—(AP)—Formation of a definite and active program of legislation looking forward to a more liberalized insurance provision of the present Reed-Johnson veteran's bill will constitute the main work of the members of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War, when they meet in annual convention at Omaha, June 22 to 27.

Adoption of resolutions on rehabilitation, hospitalization and compensation are expected to initiate the veterans' program for 1925-26.

The convention is expected to attract between 8,000 and 10,000 disabled veterans. Aiding these members will be probably the largest array of army generals and leaders of the World War ever to address a single convention. Included on the speakers' roster are: General John Pershing, General Frank T. Hines, director of the U. S. Veterans' Bureau; Major General James G. Harbord, retired, and General John Dunn, National Commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, of Boston. Other prominent speakers will be Myron T. Herrick, former American ambassador to France and now National Commander of the Spanish-American War Veterans; James C. Drain, National Commander of the American Legion, and Governor Adam McMillen of Nebraska.

Omaha will extend itself in entertaining the veterans. Madame Schumann Heink, eminent singer, will give several concerts, while the celebrated French Ritz, the fun organization of the veterans, will have control of the traditional stunts and initiations. Horse-raising and a civic carnival will also be provided for the visitors.
