COAST ROAD COSTS ESTIMATE IS MADE FOR THREE ROUTES

Estimates on costs of construction and other data on the three proposed routes between Rainrock and Florence have been prepared by L. E. Bean, local attorney, from a survey made by the state highway commission two years ago. The figures have been prepared in an effort to have the north bank route selected as the official road to the coast. The other routes surveyed are the south bank and the North Fork roads.

The following table taken from the state survey report shows the mileage of the three routes, the mileage in forest area, the elevation and grades.

	North Fork.	South bank	North bank
Length.	26.8	26.	25.3
Forest area	18.8	15.	14
Miles, 5 pr. grade 5.		0.6	2.
Highest elev....	780	125	200

Estimates on the grading costs are: North Fork, $300,000; south bank, $344,000; north bank, $534,000.

Surfacing cost estimates: North Fork, $240,000; south bank, $156,000; north bank, $165,000.

Undergrade crossing cost: North bank, $10,000.

Overhead crossing costs: North Fork, $34,000; south bank, $40,000; north bank, $70,000.

Bridge costs: North Fork, $70,000; south bank, $73,000; north bank, $42,000.

Total cost of these routes: North Fork, $654,000; south bank, $730,000; north bank, $820,000.

Cost per mile on three routes: North Fork, $24,400; south bank, $28,075; north banw, $32,400.

Maintenance per year, probable cost: North Fork, $14,000; south bank, $17,500; north bank, $10,000.

In supporting the movement to have the north bank route designated as the coast road, Mr. Bean points out that about $200,000 has already been expended on this route and that this would be wasted if another survey was selected. With this amount already spent, Mr. Bean states that the cost of the north bank route would be less than that needed for the North Fork road.

WILLIAM PRENTER SUCCEEDS STONE

(By NEA Service)

CLEVELAND, June 19.—William P. Prenter, who succeeds the late Warren S. Stone as acting president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, is one of the quietest but most influential men in the labor movement today.

As first vice president and treasurer of the brotherhood, he has been in full charge of all financial arrangements for years, and the expansion of the brotherhood's co-operative bank into a $140,000,000 institution was as much his work as it was Stone's.

Prenter was born in Philadelphia. He moved to the northwest at an early age and became a fireman on the Canadian Pacific Railroad.

After serving his apprenticeship he became an engineer, and graduated into the executive ranks of the brotherhood some twenty-five years ago.

Quiet and uncommunicative, he never attained the national prominence that Stone knew, but when the brotherhood began to expand its banking activities, gaining a foothold first in Cleveland, later in New York, and then in many other cities, Prenter was the man behind the scenes who did a good share of the planning.

He is now the oldest ranking officer in the brotherhood, and at the time of Stone's death was cashier of the bank.

Prenter is 68. He lives in a comfortable home here with his wife and daughter.

His subordinates describe him as a man who works 12 hours a day and shuns publicity.

Mrs. Frances Page Dies in Seattle

Mrs. Page was the widow of Tom D. Page, who emigrated to Oregon from Baltimore. They moved to Walla Walla 60 years ago, and Page farmed on the site of that city. Twenty-two years ago they came to Seattle.

SINCLAIR'S OIL COMPANY WINS

Assistant Secretary Finney, passed on the question.

The decision absolved Rear-Admiral J. K. Robison, chief of navy engineering; E. C. Finney, assistant secretary of the interior; H. Foster Bain, director of the bureau of mines. Former Assistant Secretary Roosevelt of the navy and several subordinates involved in the leasing negotiations of all blame.

Harding Order Legal

"The defendant Mammoth Oil company was the creature of Sinclair and should be held responsible for all his acts," the decision said. The executive order of President Harding transferring jurisdiction of the reserve was held to be legal.

The decision assumed that the all transactions involving the Continental Trading company; A. E. Humphreys, Texas Oil operator, the Sinclair interests and the Mid-Western Oil company have been bonafide.

The government's contention that Sinclair was guilty of fraud because bonds of the Continental Trading company were found in the possession of a relative of Fall's, cannot be upheld from the evidence offered, the decision asserted.

No Unnecessary Secrecy

"There is no substantial evidence to show that unnecessary secrecy was shown by Fall in negotiating the lease," the judge ruled.

"The fact that congress was not consulted by Fall and Denby is not significant," he declared.

Fall was upheld in keeping the lease a secret pending consummation of the Pearl Harbor oil storage lease with the E. L. Doheny interests.

The decision reviews testimony relating how Sinclair paid about $1,000,000 to Pioneer and Belco Oil companies for mineral claims they held in Teapot Dome, which Former Secretary Fall required that Sinclair acquire in order to get a lease on the reserve.

The Continental Trading company, which the government alleged was used in a huge oil resale scheme as well as for passing liberty bonds from Sinclair to Fall, was organized legally under the laws of Canada, said the decision.

The decision at the outset set forth the title of the suit and the government's pleading that the executive order of President Harding of May 31, 1921, transferring the naval oil reserves from the navy to the interior department was granted in excess of executive authority and that Harry F. Sinclair, lessee, and Albert B. Fall, lessor, conspired in negotiating the lease.

The government's allegations of fraud and the charge that the leasing of the big oil reserve was illegal were set forth at length in the decision and Judge Kennedy then plunged into his findings of fact.

CASE TO BE APPEALED

CHEYENNE, Wyo., June 19.—(AP)—The decision today of Federal Judge T. Blake Kennedy in holding the legality of the leasing of Teapot Dome to Harry F. Sinclair's Mammoth Oil company will be appealed to the United States circuit court of appeals, Albert B. Walton, United States district attorney, said definitely this afternoon.

ORDERS POUR IN

NEW YORK, June 19.—(AP)—A flood of buying orders for Sinclair Consolidated oil stocks and bonds poured into the stock exchange market today following the announcement that the leasing of the Teapot Dome oil reserves had been upheld. The Sinclair common shares mounted two points to above 24 and the company's six per cent bonds, which carry stock purchase warrants, soared almost five points.

Dr. Young Enters Not Guilty Plea

LOS ANGELES, June 19.—Dr. Thomas Young, calm and quiet, today pleaded not guilty to a charge of murder in connection with the death of his wife, Grace Grogan Young, former widow of the olive millionaire, Patrick Grogan. Trial was set for August 17.

Superior Judge Hahn overruled a demurrer by defense attorneys to quash the indictment on the ground that there was no official reported in the grand jury rooms during the proceedings and that representatives of the district attorney's office were illegally present during the voting of the indictment.

AMUNDSEN TO PLAN ON NEW POLE TRIP

Thomas Hubbard instead of Cape Columbia.

"I always thought they would come back," said Vilhjalmur Stefansson, noted explorer here. "I am exceedingly glad of the outcome and it is another feather in Amundsen's cap. You will recall that we all thought Amundsen would go to the pole and later on to Alaska. But doing what he has done leaves the United States with a great opportunity to discover new lands if they lie in this area."

Henry Woolhouse, president of the Aerial League of America, claimed that Amundsen's feat revolutionized Arctic exploration.

"In 28 days," he said, "Amundsen has done what he could not have done in the old way in less than a year."

Friend Saved Mrs. Wilhelmy

"Overwork, worry, no appetite, no sleep. I looked like a corpse," says Mrs. Mary Wilhemy of St. Paul, Minn., "and to add to my troubles my physician advised an operation. A friend, however, asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so, and you should see the improvement. I eat well, sleep well, have gained in weight and strength and feel fine." That is what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for Mrs. Wilhemy, and it will do as much for any suffering woman.
