

SEARCH STARTS TO FIND CONVICT WHO ESCAPES IN SALEM

Sheriff Frank Taylor today took up the search in Lane county for C. E. Shelton, of Wendling, 23 years old, one of the two inmates at the state penitentiary, who escaped from the flax plants outside the prison walls yesterday afternoon.

The other man who escaped was Ezra McKenzie, 24 years old.

Shelton was sent to the penitentiary for 2 years from Lane county December 3, 1924, for larceny. He had deserted his wife at Wendling, and eloped with a young girl from Fall creek, after first having bought an automobile on credit from the Lane Auto company. It was charged.

In Montana the couple ran out of money and sold the car. Arrested in Owensboro, Ky., they were released from jail before a deputy could be sent from Eugene. It was alleged that the influence of a federal judge in Kentucky, a relative of Shelton, was used to obtain his release, and Sheriff Stickle protested the move to the governor of Oregon.

After returning to Eugene of his own volition, he was arrested and pleaded guilty to stealing the automobile, and was sentenced to the penitentiary. He attempted to return to his former wife, who married him.

"If you ever get ruffed again, I'll kill you," Shelton is quoted as saying to his former wife before he left for the penitentiary.

While he has been at Salem, his former wife obtained a divorce, and has since remarried. The sheriff's office here fears that Shelton may attempt to carry out his threat.

Shelton is 5 feet 10 inches tall, weighs 170 pounds, has light complexion, blue eyes and dark hair. He is a laborer. Two scars are noticeable, one on his forehead and a slanting scar near the top of his forehead. His partner who was sent from Polk county January 22, 1925, to serve six years for a statutory offense, is 6 feet tall, and weighs 187 pounds, and is a logger. He has a large V-shaped scar at the left corner of his mouth and a ragged scar on the left side of his chin. A third scar is to be seen at the center of his forehead near the hair line.

The men are believed to have been seen in the vicinity of Midway park between Salem and Jefferson late yesterday.

DEAN HALE SPEAKS TO EUGENE ROTARY

Freedom of speech and of the press was the subject discussed today before Eugene Rotary club at its weekly meeting, Dean W. G. Hale, of the law school of the University of Oregon, was the speaker.

Dean Hale said that while the constitution of the United States specifically forbids congress to enact any law abridging freedom of speech, and while each of the 48 states has made provision on its own account in accordance with that inhibition, there has come about with the necessities of the passing years for the protection of the general good what amounts in effect to an inhibition to the extent that the exercise of free speech or publication cannot be carried to the extent of disregarding public or private rights of protection against undesired injury.

"If there is a warning that I would give," said Dean Hale in effect near the close of his address, "it is that under our system of government we need to be regardless of the rights of minorities, for under that system minorities have the power to take care of themselves, while minorities are to some degree at their mercy."

Dean Hale pointed out that inhibition affecting the right of free speech and publication were enacted by the federal government and by some states during the period of the great war which are much more stringent than any previous ones in our history, including the famous sedition law of 1790, which at the time of its enactment was denounced as terribly severe.

The Rotary club recorded itself unanimously for the endorsement of its membership for Defense day, July 4.

An invitation was extended to the club by W. P. Walter, boys' secretary of the Y. M. C. A. to visit the Y. M. C. A. camp on the Row river on July 17, which the members accepted. Rotarians will enjoy dinner and a game of baseball with the lads at camp on that date.

WRIT ASKS RETURN OF BANK TO SALEM

SALEM, Ore., June 23.—(AP)—A writ action to compel the return of the office of the state banking department to Salem from Portland, where it was recently moved by Frank Bramwell, state banking superintendent, was initiated here this afternoon when District Attorney John Carson acting upon relation of George Putnam, editor of the Capital Journal, filed mandamus proceedings directed against Bramwell and Sam Kozler, secretary of state, and custodian of the state capitol building, to compel compliance with the state banking code enacted by the last legislature requiring the maintenance of the main office of the department here.

The writ is similar to a previous mandamus action brought on recommendation of Mr. Putnam, except that it seeks action under the new law.

The complaint alleges that in maintaining only a desk in the capitol building, Superintendent Bramwell is not complying with terms of the new law, which specifically requires that the main office of the department shall be maintained in Salem.

J. C. Balch Taken On Check Charge

J. C. Balch, an insurance dealer here, was arrested last night on a warrant from Roseburg, where it is claimed he issued a bad check. No further details on the alleged offense were received by the sheriff's office here.

Balch is being held in the county jail awaiting further word from the Douglas county authorities.

OAKRIDGE ROAD HELD DANGEROUS

Eugene motorists planning to make the trip on July 4 to the End of Steel celebration are urged to drive carefully on the road from Lowell to Oakridge, by P. M. Morse, county surveyor, and Judge C. P. Barnard, who made a trip of inspection over the highway yesterday.

"A driver should sound his horn at every curve in the road, and should be extremely careful at curves," warns Mr. Morse. "The road is being smoothed down by two crews of men, but nevertheless it is a narrow mountain road, and full of dangerous points. The trip takes four hours, if the car is driven carefully."

Earl McNitt has finished grading the Postage section on the North fork of the Siuslaw. Mr. Morse reports. The county will start rocking this road next week, and Judge Barnard and Clinton Hurd are going out next Thursday morning to arrange details.

Bridge across the Long Tom river, that recently silted from its moorings, is being rebuilt, a piling bridge being put in, it is announced. A crew of men are also being started on bond project 11, east of Cottage Grove, under H. Cotter.

PUREBRED STOCK DIRECTORY MADE

More than 185 names have been obtained for the county purebred breeders' directory being compiled by O. S. Fletcher, agent, he announced today.

The directory will contain the names of breeders of all classes of pure stock, and will be available for the breeders' use, or for buyers of stock. There are more Jersey cattle on the list than any other class of purebreds. Holsteins following, then Shorthorns and Shropshire sheep.

Mr. Fletcher has tried to communicate with all breeders, but asks any he might have missed to communicate with him, in order that his list may be as nearly complete as possible.

LADD FUNERAL PENDING
WASHINGTON, June 23.—(AP)—Completion of arrangements for the funeral of Edwin F. Ladd, senior senator from North Dakota, awaited today the arrival of his body from Baltimore, where he died yesterday, and the arrival of six sons and daughters from various cities. It is expected however, that funeral services will be held here tomorrow, after which the body will be placed in a vault to wait until Mrs. Ladd is able to make the trip to North Dakota.

Tax Cuts Planned By new Programs

WASHINGTON, June 23.—(AP)—An administration tax program to reduce the present tax burden by $300,000,000 has virtually been completed for submission to congress next fall.

That agreement has been reached on most of the major features of the program was revealed after a conference today between Secretary Mellon and Chairman Green of the house ways and means committee. The two were said to be in accord except on the question of repealing estate taxes.

ELECTION IN STATE MAY BE DEMANDED

ence to the tobacco tax act, the bus bill, and the "tithing bill," the latter requiring that self-sustaining state activities pay 10 per cent of their proceeds into the general fund of the state. On all of these measures, the referendum has been invoked. Since the governor had vetoed the special election bill the revenues from all these measures were considered to be cut off until after the general election in November 1926, thereby throwing the state's financial condition into a serious tangle and making a state deficit of over $600,000 by the end of 1926 almost certain.

If the mandamus action filed here today is successful, however, the referendum measures will be voted on in September. Should the measures not be defeated in that election, the state's finances will be bolstered up accordingly. If the measures are defeated the condition will remain serious.

The bus bill is estimated to produce about $500,000 for the biennium, and the tobacco tax act about $1,500,000, while the Tithing act was estimated to yield about $170,000 for the two years.

strike troubles and for subsequent developments.

At the same time the diplomatic corps sent to the Chinese foreign office a note refusing to accept responsibility for the delays in settling the Shanghai question. The note also charged the Chinese foreign office with arraigning a version of the Shanghai incidents that does not accord with the facts.

Attempting to extend the anti-foreign agitation to Manila, Shanghai radicals today cabled to comrades in the Philippine city urging a general strike at Manila beginning June 25.

O. S. Fletcher is Back From Meeting

Fruit growers of Lane county who can attend the meeting of 65 scientists in horticulture, entomology and plant pathology at Corvallis will find the meetings well worth their time, reports O. S. Fletcher, county agricultural agent, who returned from Corvallis yesterday.

Dean A. B. Cordley talked to the visitors on the progress of control in insect and plant disease pests yesterday, other speakers being O. M. Morris, head of plant pathology at Washington State college, and W. S. Brown

INGROWN NAIL Turns Right Out Itself

"Outgro," is a harmless antiseptic manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions.

A few drops of "Outgro" in the crevice of the ingrown nail reduces inflammation and pain and so toughens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it can not penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost over night.
