BUTTER STRONG ON PORTLAND MARKET

PORTLAND, Ore., June 23.—With the demand now in excess of the supply, the local butter market is exceedingly strong, and further advances in print prices in the near future would not be surprising. Southern California traders are taking all the butter they can get and other shipping outlets are improving since the hot weather. There is also some movement into storage.

On the dairy exchange, all cube prices are a fraction higher today, firsts being the exception. Extras 45c; standards 44½c; prime firsts 44c and firsts unchanged at 41½c.

Cream production is hardly keeping up with requirements and butterfat competition is keen among the creameries. Bids for fats in zone one are out at 44c F. O. B. shippers' track.

A half cent decline in current receipts is the only change in the local egg market. The market is apparently marking time although graded stocks are moving promptly and conditions locally show a healthy tone.

Country dressed hogs are scarce and the market is firm with choice light porkers moving promptly at 18 to 18½c. Choice light veal are steady at 13c. Receipts from the country were light today.

Poultry supplies are plenty sufficient for all requirements and the market continues about steady.
