TWO BIG LEAGUERS REACH CENTURY ON HITTING OF SEASON

CHICAGO, June 27.—(AP)—George Sisler, pilot of the St. Louis Americans and Al Simmons of the Athletics, are the first major leaguers to pass the century mark in hitting for 1925.

Latest statistics show that Sisler has collected 103 hits and Simmons 101. The figures include games of Wednesday.

The batting leaders of the American league are in the same position they were a week ago, with Sammy Hale of the Athletics topping the list with .421. Red Wingo of the Tigers is second with .419, followed by Rice of the Browns with .410 and Ty Cobb with .401.

Ken Williams, the St. Louis slugger and Bob Meusel of the Yankees failed to increase their home run totals, the Yankee still being in front with 16, with Williams one behind. Williams, however, increased his total base mark to 175.

In base stealing Johnny Mostil of the White Sox continues to lead the pack with a total of 22.

Other leading batters: Heilman, Detroit .399; Simmons, Philadelphia .388; Lamar, Philadelphia .384; Fothergill, Detroit .384; Speaker, Cleveland .373; Combs, New York .372; K. Williams, St. Louis .364; Sisler, St. Louis .363; Boone, Boston .360; Paschal, New York .330.

Max Carey and Clyde Barnhart of Pittsburgh have made an appearance among the leading batters of the National league. Barnhart jumped from fifth to third place, with an average of .393, and Carey from twelfth to sixth with .373.

There has been no stopping of Rogers Hornsby of the Cardinals, who remains safely in the lead with .427, eleven points more than he had a week ago. Hornsby collected 14 hits in his last seven games. Four were homers. He holds leadership of the majors for the homerun hitting with 21.

Hazen Cuyler, another Pirate continues to hold the honors as the best run getter with 68.

Other leading batters: Wilson, Philadelphia, .404; Barnhart, Pittsburgh .393; Bottomley, St. Louis .377; Carey, Pittsburgh .373; Stock, Brooklyn .371; Hawks, Philadelphia .368; Burrus, Boston .364; Blades, St. Louis .364; Bancroft, Boston, .364; Earl Smith, Pittsburgh .363; Fournier, Brooklyn, .358; Grantham, Pittsburgh .358; Cuyler, Pittsburgh .352; Harper, Philadelphia .351.

Puzzle Plays

By BILLY EVANS

THERE are two men out and runners on first and third. A double steal is staged. The throw to second beats the runner and he is touched with the ball by the man covering before he reaches the bag.

The umpire calls him out. The runner from third has not reached the plate, when the man sliding into second is declared out. After the umpire has called the runner out, the fielder juggles the ball several times.

While the fielder is still juggling the ball, the runner from third crosses the plate. The runner slid into second with great force and went over the bag several feet.

The fielder making the touch recovered possession of the juggled ball and again touched out the runner before he could gain possession of the base. However, the runner from third had crossed the plate in the meantime.

Did the run score?

The Answer

The run scored. The juggling of the ball by the infielder making the touch rendered void the out and made it necessary that he make another play on the runner.

The fact that the runner from third crossed the plate before he was able to again touch out the runner, who had oversild the bag, made the run legal.

On a touch play the ball cannot be juggled. Such an act immediately removes the legality of the touch and gives the runner the right to the base if he can regain it before being retired.

GOLF TITLE PENDS

TACOMA, Wash., June 27.—Forest Watson, Spokane Inland empire golf champion, and H. Chandler Egan of Medford, Ore., a former national, western and northwest champion, will play 36 holes today to decide the 1925 Pacific Northwest amateur championship. Watson yesterday eliminated Lee Stell, Seattle 2 up and 1 to play, while Egan disposed of W. J. Noonan, Tacoma city champion, 4 up and 3 to play, concluding the match at the 15th green in the afternoon by almost holing his mashie second shot. The ball came to rest but two inches from the pin.

MURPHY IS WINNER

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore., June 27.—Frankie Murphy, of New Orleans knocked out Jim Gorman in the second round of a scheduled ten round bout at the Wiulske Indian convention here last night. Joe Collman of Portland and Jack Crimm, Modoc Indian, fought an uninteresting draw in the semi-windup.

CHANCE FOR COMPARISON GIVEN

Our fleet sisters are coming along nicely, thank you, but camera evidence taken at two eastern events indicate that the boys still have a bit the best of it on athletic form. Above is a snappy action picture from the National A. A. U. track championship try-outs at Travers Island, N. Y., with Carl Christiersen and Ray Wolf, both of Neward, N. J., taking the hurdles while, below, are Minnie S. Wolbert, Millrose Athletic Association, and Mabel Gilliland, of the Savage School, N. Y., trying out at Paterson, N. J. for the National Women's Track Meet.

The NUT CRACKER

BY JOE WILLIAMS

MR. G. TUNNEY has deserted the church choir and is now hanging around the corner pool rooms yodeling with the tough kids in the neighborhood.

* * *

From the Little Lord Fauntelroy of the knuckle racket, Mr. G. Tunney has suddenly stepped forward as the Patsy of the Flats, wearing a ship on his shoulder and a snarl on his lips.

* * *

The transformation constitutes one of the dizzy wonders of the ring and is comparable to the scientific miracle of making a deep-rumbling bass singer of a canary.

* * *

By reducing Tommy Gibbons to a state of cold, fashionable debris, Mr. G. Tunney put himself on third base in the Heavyweight Ball Game. Any kind of a left hook ought to score him.

* * *

Prior to making mid-summer gumbo of Gibbons, Mr. G. Tunney's presence in the heavyweight division carried all the importance of a Senegambian protest against civic conditions in Holly Springs, Miss.

* * *

He was just a nice boy who posed well in his A. E. F. scenery and was on all accounts good to his folks; but boxing gloves looked as out of place on his fists as anchors on an airship.

* * *

Mr. G. Tunney is now being three-sheeted and bally-hooed as a second Jim Corbett, even to the pomp and the pompadour.

* * *

The risks involved in being a second Jim Corbett are not particularly great, since there are no Bob Fitzsimmonses hovering in the background ready to bounce anvils off an opposing abdomen.

* * *

With Dempsey making weight for vaudeville ordeals on Berlin's Pretzel and Cheese circuit the heavyweight division has lost practically all its ferocity.

* * *

Mr. G. Tunney seems well on his way to the top. It may not be much of a ton when he gets there, but that will not be his fault. A ward healer can be a Caesar when the opposition is low.

JIM BARNES TAKES HONORS ON GREENS

LONDON, June 27.—(Special).—Long Jim Barnes, American professional golfer, was bound for his old home in Cornwall today to receive congratulations of his mother as newly crowned open champion of Great Britain. He finished the gruelling competition at Prestwisk, Scotland yesterday with two rounds of 79-74, which added to Thursday's 70-77 gave him an even 300 or one stroke below the two Britishers on his heels, the veteran Ted Ray and the rising star Archie Compston.

MacDonald Smith, the American who had been favored for the title after his record of 69 of Thursday afternoon, broke wide open in the last 18 holes and took a bad 82 to finish third with 303. Abe Mitchell, long driving Brisisher was fourth with 305 and fifth place with divided among five Britons including the veteran, J. H. Taylor.

Joe Kirkwood, the third invading American, managed to land among the first ten with 314 by doing two 76's after his poor start of 162 for the first two rounds Thursday. The British golf experts seemingly are impressed more by the fact that Smith lost than that Barnes won. Smith was the favorite and his collapse yesterday is termed as one of the most astonishing ever seen in any open championship.

BUTTER RATE DROP IN MARKET, REPORT

PORTLAND, Ore., June 27.—Butter and eggs declined in the local market at the close of the week. Supplies were none too plentiful, but values were apparently too high for other markets.

On the dairy exchange extra and prime first butter ranged a full cent lower while standards and firsts were posted a half cent lower. The decline in cubes did not affect prints other than to decide definitely against the contemplated advance over the week end. Cream production had not shown any improvement and it is hardly likely that the decline in cubes will continue.

Eggs ranged a cent lower on extras, firsts and pullets while current receipts declined a half cent. Arrivals are not heavy and the lower prices may be held to keep supplies moving into consumption as most of the storage movement has been completed.

In the country dressed meat section calves closed slow and weak at a 13c top with some of the commission houses forced to carry veal over. Choice light hogs worked higher during the week, closing at 18½c to 19c. Arrivals were not sufficient for the demand.

Poultry is slow, with only a moderate call. Supplies are liberal and prices barely maintained.

Mill feeds are lower today. Dealers put into effect $1 decline on bran, oats, scratches and mashes and a $ decline on corn and millrun.
