MELONS SCARCE IN PORTLAND MARKET

PORTLAND, Ore., June 30.—Good quality melons are so scarce on this market that prices have climbed to almost prohibitive levels. Today fancy cantaloupes are held at $5.25 to $5.50 per standard crate, with pony crates at $4.50 and flats at $2.50. Supplies are limited and prices are advancing at the shipping point. Brokers are asking $5 and $5.25 on cars spotted on the local team track during the past twenty-four hours.

This means that produce farms are forced to handle the melons on a very narrow margin and in some instances are moved at cost.

The same is true of water melons. Prices are extremely high at shipping point and produce firms are paying approximately 3 3-4c for water melons laid down here. They are trying to get 4c on the best melons but find them slow to move at such extreme prices.
