Marye and Mom Their Letters

BY RUTH DEWEY GROVES

DEAR MARYE: I don't know how much of this is due to your influence, but I am, tempted to go into business—I wonder what you think of the idea.

The other day, Mrs. Morrison broached this matter to me, and I find myself playing with the idea. You see, she has that huge house on the Post road where she and her husband have been trying to buy from her for so long because it is such a good example of Colonial architecture and they have so many prospective purchasers for it.

She doesn't want to sell it, because she has lived there so many years, but it is entirely too large for her to keep up for hours since the judge died, and the children are all away.

She says that she is entirely too young to retire at 48, and that she wants to have something to occupy her mind. So she wants to go into the antique business. She has an attic full of the old-fashioned furniture everyone is so crazy about, and people are always waiting to buy pieces from her, and she has never wanted to sell.

Now, she says she would like to use them as a start for her shop, as well as some of the Colonial and Victorian pieces in her other rooms—and she knows where she can pick up all sorts of other pieces. She has a friend who is anxious to dispose of a collection of old glass and china.

Mrs. Morrison isn't so interested in them only, as she is getting a hobby to ride, although she says she knows there is lots of money to be made. Naturally, she doesn't want to let herself down to a shop all the time, so she suggested that I come in with her, and that we fix up one room for a little tea room where we could serve afternoon tea, hot breads and waffles—no regular meals.

She does not want to undertake this alone, but would do it in a minute, if I go in with her. She will do most of the buying, since she knows much more about antiques than I do, but I could come over every day and take charge of the tea room, and show the "stock," and act as hostess.

The first time she mentioned this plan, I vetoed it, but twice last week she brought up the matter, and I found myself quite enthusiastic. What would you say to your mother following you into business? I shall not give my answer until I hear from you. Devotedly, MOM.

Party Given In Honor of Miss Stupp

Honoring Miss Lillian Stupp formerly head of dancing at the University of Oregon women's department of physical education, Mrs. Ivan Ware and Miss Amy Dunn entertained with an afternoon party on Monday at the home of the former, guests including a number of members of Delta Gamma society.

Miss Stupp, who is visiting here after a year in Europe and while on her way to Yosemite to attend the national convention of Mortar Board, spoke informally of her sojourn in Italy, France, Germany and Switzerland, as well as Czechoslovakia, Sicily and Greece. She mentioned especially the life of the people in some of the old walled cities.

Present were the following: Miss Stupp, Mrs. John Rogers, Mrs. Arthur A. Friendship Club Letters To Mary Jordan

The perplexing questions of heart and home discussed sympathetically and sensibly by a Lane county woman.

By MARY JORDAN

A YOUNG married woman who wants to leave the farm for other work sends in her problem.

Dear Mrs. Jordan: Please help me solve my problem. I'm a young married woman, and find myself in such a position that I must get out and work this winter—or this fall, rather—I'm wondering about the Y. W. C. A. Do you suppose they could offer me any help? I wish to work in Portland, Ore., and prefer a position where I could work—or some nice place to do housework. Can furnish the best of references and would want nice people to work for.

Perhaps you wonder why I must work. In the first place, my husband (of three years) is stingy—he never has any money for me. I don't ask for so much and always meeting the same reply. We live on a farm at present, so of course I don't dress so fancy as I would like. Somehow until this summer I've managed to buy most of my own clothes with my own money, but recently I loaned most of it to friend husband and he can't pay it back.

Perhaps there would be some nice work I could get to do in a hospital or sanitarium. What do you suggest? Please print this at your earliest convenience. Give me the address of the Y. W. C. A. Believe me to be truly,

Answer: Address of the Young Women's Christian association in Portland is 194 Broadway. Or, one way of becoming engaged in the cooking business would be to call upon Anna Jackson, St. Francis apartments at the Labor temple, Eugene, pay her five dollars or what it costs to join the cooks and waitresses' union, and go to the union's own employer's meat office in Portland with your permit. Turn into a well buttered mold, filling mold about two-thirds full. Cover closely and steam 45 minutes. Unmold and serve garnished with parsley. Serve Hollandaise sauce separately in a sauce boat.

Luncheon is Given After Golf, Bridge

An original social event of the week was the "golf luncheon" given Tuesday by Mrs. E. W. Evans. Guests were invited to enjoy golf and bridge at the Eugene Country and Golf club Tuesday morning, with luncheon at the home of Mrs. Evans following.

Covers were laid for fourteen, out-of-town guests being Mrs. Harvard Moore of Honolulu, Hawaii, and Mrs. Morris Starbuck of Portland, formerly of Eugene. Present at the affair besides Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Starbuck were Mrs. J. K. Pratt, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. E. X. Schneider, Mrs. Walter O. Hummel, Mrs. Walter O. Swan, Mrs. Wanda J. Adams, Mrs. W. B. Parks, and the hostesses, Mrs. E. W. Evans and Mrs. Evans.

Menu For Today

By SISTER MARY BREAKFAST—Cantaloup, cereal, cream, potato omelet with tomato sauce, crisp toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Asparagus timbale with Hollandaise sauce, whole wheat rolls, head lettuce, French dressings, strawberries with cream, crisp cookies, milk, tea.

DINNER—Broiled fish, creamer's sauce, rice croquette, green beans, pineapple short, plain cake, milk, coffee.

Any fresh caught small fish are delicious broiled. Smelt and other equal-sized small fish are broiled without splitting flat. Slightly larger fish are split down the back and broiled first on flesh side and then on skin side.

Asparagus Timbale—Two bunches asparagus, 1 1/2 cups fine dried bread crumbs, six eggs, 1-4 cup salt, 1-4 cup butter, 1 scant tea-spoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon pepper, 3 eggs.

Wash and scale asparagus. Cut off tough ends and cut into inch lengths. Dry bread crumbs in a slow oven letting bread brown slightly. Roll asparagus in crumbs. Heat milk to maintain. If the asparagus are not brown they will absorb more milk but the brown crumbs taste better. Add melted butter, salt and pepper. Drain eggs until very light and pour in cream mixture with as-
