WOOL MART QUIET; TURKEYS DOWN HERE

Wool buying will be more active within two weeks or so, according to announcement from the Eugene Woolen Mills. At present there is little buying going on and prices during the winter have been indefinite. Only small lots are being purchased from time to time. Saturday a price of 42 cents was paid for last spring's wool but as yet no definite price list is given for this year, and contracting is not yet under way for this section.

TURKEY PRICES DOWN The Eugene branch of Swift and company was quoting turkeys somewhat cheaper Monday. Local produce buyers are now cleaning up on this year's crop and buying is not very heavy. The prices given Monday were 81 cents on young toms; 28 cents on hens; and 20 cents on both old toms and number twos.

GRAINS INACTIVE NOW No changes in the local hay and grain prices were announced Monday, and there is little activity in buying now. From now on in the next six weeks there will be more activity in seed grains, the Farmers Union warehouse announces.

PRODUCE MARKETS STEADY All eggs, poultry, and butter prices were the same in Eugene Monday as for the week-end, awaiting returns from Portland for Tuesday morning.

Some 5,000 crates of bothhouse tomatoes will have been shipped out by the end of the winter season by Chase Gardens, which annually sends out more than 10,000 crates for the entire year. A good shipment of these has just been offered on the Portland market. Chase Gardens is the only firm handling bothhouse tomatoes wholesale on a large scale in this vicinity. The prices as quoted by the local firm are from $4.50 to $5.50 a crate, wholesale. About the same amount, 10,000 crates, of cucumbers are shipped out each year and are a big item during the winter season. Prices on tomatoes and cucumbers have been about normal this year, Clarence Chase reports.

Creswell Power Charges Reduced

Reduced rates for electricity for power and lighting purposes are announced by the Creswell Power company, subject to the approval of the public service commission, according to J. P. Lane, manager. The new rates will make a charge of $1.10 for the first ten kilowatts and six or seven cents for each additional kilowatt. The first 30 kilowatts will cost about $2.40 under the new rates, as compared with $2.90 under the old. The combination range and light rate will be reduced 15 per cent. Minimum charges for the combination rate remain at $2.50; that for the lighting at $1.10, no changes being made for the present rate. The Creswell Power company buys power from the Mountain States Power company for service in the community about Creswell. The changes in rates are in line with those announced by the larger firm last week.

Membership Drive Increases Rolls

SPRINGFIELD, Jan. 21.—(Special)—The membership drive in the American Legion post in Springfield is progressing rapidly, according to M. B. Huntley, one of the captains. There are two sides, chosen at the last meeting, the losing to banquet the winners. Points are gained by adding a new member to the organization or by obtaining the dues of a member not paid up for the new year. Mr. Huntley's team is at present about 75 points in the lead. TOMATOES SHIPPED BY EUGENE FIRM

Some 5,000 crates of bothhouse tomatoes will have been shipped out by the end of the winter season by Chase Gardens, which annually sends out more than 10,000 crates for the entire year. A good shipment of these has just been offered on the Portland market. Chase Gardens is the only firm handling bothhouse tomatoes wholesale on a large scale in this vicinity. The prices as quoted by the local firm are from $4.50 to $5.50 a crate, wholesale. About the same amount, 10,000 crates, of cucumbers are shipped out each year and are a big item during the winter season. Prices on tomatoes and cucumbers have been about normal this year, Clarence Chase reports.
