

KEYES SENTENCED TO SERVE TERM IN CALIFORNIA PRISON

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 21.—(Special)—Former District Attorney Asa Keyes, who safeguarded the interests of the people of Los Angeles county for 25 years, today was sentenced to serve from one to fourteen years in San Quentin prison, where his energetic prosecutions sent hundreds of others.

The one-time prosecutor was sentenced after a futile plea that he be given a new trial and another chance to prove that he was not corrupted by defendants in the Julian Petroleum corporation collapse cases.

Rosenberg Sentenced.
Ed Rosenberg, a Julian defendant accused of paying him $125,000 to seek dismissal of an indictment, also was given a term of from one to fourteen years.

Ben Getzoff, convicted of being their go-between, was a sorry figure today, broken in health and his sentence was postponed pending a hearing on his application for probation.

The three stood together staunchly during their trial, and protested their innocence. But after a jury had found them guilty, Getzoff broke and confessed, District Attorney Buron Fitts said. Getzoff sat apart in court today and made no effort to talk to the others.

Keyes and Rosenberg received their prison sentences stolidly, and Keyes joined his weeping wife and daughter as soon as he could. The two men were granted a ten-day stay of execution and all three were returned to the county jail. A motion for liberty under bond, pending decision on their appeal, was denied by Judge Edward I. Butler.

Must Serve Year.
Under the indeterminate sentences of from one to fourteen years, the men must stay a year before the exact length of their terms are set by the state prison board.

After the first year Rosenberg will be eligible for parole, as would Getzoff, but Keyes, convicted of corrupting a public officer, must complete whatever term the board decides upon.

The denial of motion for retrial of the three men struck a climactic blow at Keyes' brilliant career. For years he was one of the nation's foremost prosecutors. His name was linked with the case of William Edward Hickman, who murdered the Marian Parkers, the William Desmond Taylor murder investigation, and the probe of Almie Sempie McPherson's mystifying disappearance by the sea.

Already Keyes has felt a touch of prison life. District Attorney Buron Fitts, once his chief deputy, but now his relentless prosecutor, opposed release on bail just after conviction three weeks ago.

Keyes and seven others were indicted for conspiring to free the men accused of wrecking the Julian Petroleum corporation through stock over-issues. All but the three were dismissed.

Keyes was said to have received $125,000 from Rosenberg and others, through Getzoff, to conduct the cases that acquittals would result. The cases were dismissed, and Superior Judge William Doran declared from the bench that "poor prosecution" forced his reluctant action.

Garden Way

GARDEN WAY, Feb. 21.—(Special)—Miss Edna Patterson, with her mother and brother, Melville, left for Yuma, Arizona, via California, Wednesday morning. The trip, which will be made by automobile, is to regain Miss Patterson's health. Their stay in Arizona will be indefinite.

HEILIG—Thursday. The Taylor Players in "What Anne Brought Home."

MCDONALD—"The Shopworn Angel," with Gary Cooper and Nancy Carroll. A sound picture, featuring a star cast.

REX—"The Kid's Clever."

"What Anne Brought Home," a comedy drama, begins Thursday evening at the Heilig for a three-day presentation by the Taylor Players. Ferris Taylor, manager of the acting troupe, in having his actors put on the play, brings to Eugene theatre-goers one of the outstanding successes on Broadway during the past season.

"What Anne Brought Home," by Larry E. Johnson, is one of those rare gems—a play that deals with an every-day subject, and a plot that might transpire in any home; but at the same time, a play that is interesting.

Plenty of screamingly funny situations and heart stopping dramatic moments enter into the comedy drama which the Taylor Players are presenting until Saturday evening.

A period of excitement and movement, time during the dramatic period a few months after the United States' entry into the World war, a time which every man and woman remembers keenly—such is the setting of "The Shopworn Angel," the sound picture which begins at the McDonald Thursday for a three-day run.

Colonial audiences have been enjoying "Jazz Mad," which finishes its showing on Thursday evening. Marian Nixon, Jean Harsholt and George Lewis are the featured stars.

Mystery surrounds the name of the "preview" to be shown at the McDonald Thursday evening, starting at 9:05 o'clock.

Thursday evening ends the showing of "The Kid's Clever," a comedy being pictured at the Rex.

Shaw and Lee, musical comedians, are featured in the Vitaphone act at the McDonald, while Oswald, the lucky rabbit, entertains his audiences in a Movietone special.

KIDNAPED CHILD IS BELIEVED SEEN IN PORTLAND BUILDING

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 21.—(Special)—A possible clue to the whereabouts of Doris Virginia Smith-Murphy, the four-year-old San Francisco girl for whom police have been hunting six days, was uncovered Wednesday when A. K. Johnson, of Salt Lake, informed the Oregon Journal he had seen a girl resembling the kidnapper's victim in the old post office.

Johnson, after studying the picture of the tot, was struck in his belief he had met the child.

The girl, accompanied by a man and woman, was in the old post office about midnight Tuesday, Johnson said. The child was seated on the stairs leading to the federal court rooms, and the man and woman were at the nearest writing stand. Apparently the woman was dictating and the man was inscribing a letter.

Johnson's attention was drawn to the girl by her apparent exhaustion, he said. She was seated with her hands folded in her lap, and her eyes were heavy from lack of sleep, he said.

The girl was dressed in a blue serge coat and cap and wore black stockings, but otherwise her description failed closely with that of the missing girl.

Johnson paid but scant attention to the man and woman, noting only that the man was garbed in a light overcoat and wore a dark hat. The woman wore a long dark dress and black hat, Johnson said. Both appeared to be deeply engrossed over their task.

Leaburg

LEABURG, Feb. 21.—(Special)—A contest was held in Mrs. Weaver's room between the classes from the 5th to the 8th grades in English, the losing side entering with a party.

DR. CHANEY GIVEN HIGH CHURCH POST

Appointment of Dr. S. J. Chaney of Eugene, superintendent of Southern Oregon Methodism, as pastor of the large St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal church at Spokane, Wash., was announced tonight by Bishop Titus Lowe, general superintendent of Northwest Methodism.

The appointment is effective immediately.

Dr. Chaney has been superintendent since 1925, and prior to that held pastorates in Ashland and Klammath Falls. His successor has not been named, but it is expected a young minister will be named.

Marcola

MARCOLA, Feb. 21.—(Special)—Mr. Labourel and son, George, motored to Eugene Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Rice and Mr. and Mrs. Ashholder, who have been visitors at the Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hill home for the past week, left Tuesday morning for Portland, where they expect to visit for a few days.

Mrs. B. Lathrop, Mrs. Lee Cox, of Waltherville, were visitors in Marcola Sunday afternoon.

Fisher's Lumber company did not operate Monday and Tuesday.

The basketball season is now over for the Mohawk union high school this year. The boys and girls are now beginning to practice baseball.

Buss Estes, Loyd Garrison, Harry Allen and Jiggs Niel motored to Eugene Monday night to see the basketball game between Oregon and Idaho.

Mrs. Audrey May, bookkeeping, typing and Spanish teacher at the Mohawk high school, is reported as being very sick. Mrs. Amram, of Wendling, is substituting for Mrs. May.

The Royal Neighbors lodge met and had a social evening Monday. The lodge initiated ten new members into the order. There were also some visitors from the Crow and Eugene lodges. Those initiated were Mrs. Neava Hardisty, Miss Lola Scott, Mrs. Wilma Addington, Mrs. M. Smith, Mrs. Marcum, Mrs. Courtwright, Mrs. Ashball, Mrs. Lila Niel, Mrs. Hickson and Mrs. Troxel. Refreshments were served and every one had a good time.

WALTERVILLE, Feb. 21.—(Special)—Master Tommy Benson, aged 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dell Benson of Walterville, was rushed to a doctor Saturday when he received cuts from pieces of flying glass.

The three Benson children, Robert, Anita and Tommy, were having a clean-up bonfire and had thrown a corked bottle into the fire. In a few minutes the bottle exploded and some of the glass struck Tommy on the cheek. He was taken at once to a doctor, who took two or three stitches in the wound, which is healing nicely.

Mrs. Carpenter, who has been staying with Mrs. J. B. McNutt and visiting, returned to her home Friday.

The Thurston orchestra recital, which was given Tuesday evening at the Thurston church, was a decided success in every way. The program was carried out according to the program in the paper, with a few
