AN OLD SLOGAN AND A NEW SPIRIT

It is only within recent years that the slogan "Patronize Oregon Industries" has come really to mean something in the way of stimulating Oregon's industrial development...

That was a long time ago and a great deal of water has since gone over the dam. In 1851 there was no industrial development in Oregon...

For many years local pride was the chief item in the appeal for support of the products of Oregon industry.

It is sadly true that for many years there was an actual prejudice against the products of home industry.

There is perhaps no more significant development in Oregon development progress than the change which has substituted confidence in the local product for the lack of confidence that formerly existed.

It is hard to gauge accurately the influence which this change of sentiment will exert on Oregon's industrial progress.

There is perhaps no more significant development in Oregon development progress than the change which has substituted confidence in the local product for the lack of confidence that formerly existed.

has characterized the people of California. There is no more encouraging sign for the future than the new spirit of pride in that which is Oregon's that is growing so swiftly all over the state.

A thousand registered voters of Yamhill county have been dropped from the rolls because they have not voted for the past two years.

The Portland team is back in the cellar again. Which brings the sporting page back to normalcy.

Speaking of unpopular citizens. How about Jack Frost?

Earlier Days in Eugene

(From the Morning Register, May 13, 1903.)

The school board has accepted the plans of the architects, Pugh and Carey, for the new high school, to be built at the corner of Eleventh and Willamette.

A. C. Barbour, of Siuslaw, is in the city. He says everybody is in the Hermann out in that section.

The fifth annual festival of music opened auspiciously in Willard hall at the university yesterday.

Today Norris and Rowe's big circus will appear in Eugene.

President E. D. Ressler, of the Monmouth normal school is in the city.

Mrs. W. W. Branstetter, of Portland, is expected here this week to visit her mother, Mrs. Olive Waller.

Strawberries are getting ripe and if there are no late frosts there will be an abundance of them.

Seattle and Tacoma are making faces at each other over the coming visit of President Roosevelt.

21 or 23. Come and spend a few days with me at Pleasantville, Come in the week, when there is only Guy and get off at Harmon and come soon and love me so I can go on this terribly lonely road a little longer.

Fourleaf Clover Is Drawn It was signed "Awari," and there was a design of a fourleaf clover drawn with a pen and near it a large cross over a smaller cross.

Leigh, formerly of the New York police department, said he went to Montreal, saw Shean, subsequently converted several times with Beauvais, and on Wednesday last the day the hearing opened in Poughkeepsie before Referee Gleason.

Beauvais gave Shean $200, he said. The Indian, Leigh declared, claimed the money was "marked" when it was shown to him.

Beauvais told me I would never get out of town alive if I double-crossed him," said Leigh.

Again after the money and letters had been exchanged, the guide remarked, according to Leigh:

"Now if anything goes wrong, you won't leave this town alive. I've got three men watching you."

The day of his arrival in Montreal, Leigh, according to Shean, was at the Ritz Carlton.

Three days later, Leigh added, he took Shean to meet Horsey in a private room in the Bank of Montreal, and a short time afterwards the exchange of letters for money was consummated in an office building across the street.

There was prolonged argument over Mrs. Stillman's handwriting. She wrote a dictation from Colonel Rand, who cross-examined her, and her penmanship was put in evidence.

The plaintiff had a handwriting expert ready to testify. He was not called, the defense giving notice that if he were, Mrs. Stillman would ask a delay of a month to hire an expert, and would ask for additional allowance money from Mr. Stillman.

Referee Gleason told the lawyers he could judge handwriting without experts.

So both sides rested and agreed to close the trial next Wednesday at noon unless the defense by then gave notice that it wanted to call another witness.

MEMORIAL PLANS ARE FIXED

YOUNGER VETERANS PLAN DECORATION DAY ARRANGEMENTS

American Legion and Spanish War Posts to Take Over Observance of Holiday from G. A. R. Post

All arrangements for the observance of memorial day in this city will be under the direction of General Lawton camp of the United Spanish War Veterans and Lane County post of the American Legion.

The action was decided upon at a meeting last evening at the armory between representatives of the various patriotic organizations of the city including G. A. R. and the Woman's Relief Corps.

The veterans of the Civil war that have been the leaders in the official program of the national holiday for so many decades will turn the burden of the preparations over to the younger generations of ex-service men for the future.

No definite program has yet been outlined for the observance of the day here with the exception of the announcement that an invitation will be extended to every military and fraternal organization in the city to participate in the big parade to be held in the forenoon.

As in the past firing squads and musicians will fire the three volleys and sound taps over the graves of the war dead at the local cemetery and a profusion of flowers and flags will be provided for the decoration of the graves of the veterans.

A meeting will be held at the armory Monday evening when further details concerning the official program will be discussed.

Willard A. Elkins, chaplain of the American Legion post, is in charge of all arrangements.

ments assisted by a committee composed of Major W. G. White and E. S. Tuttle, representing the legion, and Fred Wentworth, representing the Spanish war veterans.

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE THEATRES TODAY

Reynolds—Wallace Field in "The World's Champion" Lloyd Hamilton in "Rolling Stones."

Castro—Tom Mix in "Trailin'" Al St. John in "Past and Future."

Eugene—Kob and Dill in "Give and Take."

Coming offerings—Coel R. DeMille's special all star production, "Fool's Paradise." Collier Moore in Rupert Hughes' "Come Over." Bobbly Valentino and Gloria Swanson in Elmer Glyn's "Beyond the Rockies." Agnes Ayres in "The Last That Had No Turning." Harry Myers in "Robinson Crusoe." Road Show, "The Unholy Wife."

As an atmospheric prologue to the feature presentation of Coel R. DeMille's production, "Fool's Paradise," an Oriental dance and a specially designed stage setting with lighting effects are now in preparation at the Rex theatre for the coming three days' engagement opening on Monday.

Of pleasurable interest to devotees of music is the announcement of the engagement of Charles W. Hawley, Wurliitzer organist, who will reside at the console of the mighty Rex instrument beginning Monday of next week.

Mr. Hawley will provide the synchronized settings to the victrol presentations and will be featured each week in concert solos and in original Wurliitzer novelties of which he has composed many decided successes.

"Give and Take," the new comedy written by Aaron Hoffman for Kob and Dill, will be at the Eugene theatre tonight.

This wonderful success is built around laughter, music and girls—there is an old-fashioned chorus in "Give and Take"—each one of the girls is not only pleasing to the eye but an artist as well and each performs her share in the solo work that is winning the praise of delighted theatregoers.

"Give and Take" is best described as a comedy in three acts with a surprise every other minute as the acrobatically funny plot is first tangled and then skillfully unwound to its logical yet hilarious conclusion.

It is without doubt the biggest, best and funniest vehicle that Kob and Dill have ever had as a medium of expression for their inimitable and distinctive comedy methods.

There is a song review at the opening of the third act that is a revelation and fast becoming a cyclone of novelty and charm. Kob and Dill have selected a wonderful company of principals to assist them, each prominent on the comedy stage.

And in addition to all this, the symphonic jazz orchestra, which these comedians carry with them, is a novelty feature of particular merit.

GO-ED CONTESTS OPPOSED

INTER-COLLEGIATE MEETS SUBJECT OF RESOLUTION

Delegates of Western Athletic Association of American College Women Go on Record Against Plan

Advocating the discontinuance of inter-collegiate athletics between women with the exception of meets between neighboring institutions the Western Athletic association of American college women yesterday passed a resolution to that effect at the annual meeting of the organization held at the University of Oregon.

Eleven Pacific coast co-educational colleges and universities are represented at the convale with 41 delegates in attendance.

Following a discussion of rules that should govern swimming meets between women of the coast colleges a committee was named who will draw up a standard schedule of rules and will present the draft of the program at the business session this morning.

The committee is composed of Miss Grace Allen, California; Miss Ellen Buntz, Stanford; Miss Katherine Winslow, Oregon, and Miss Helen Clark, student representative.

The delegates of the institutions were officially welcomed to the university yesterday by Miss Ella Rawlings, president of the women's league, Dean Elizabeth Fox, of the University of Oregon also addressed the visitors. Miss Florence Alden, dean of the department of physical education for women of Oregon also was on the speaking program.

Following the close of the business meeting this morning the delegates will be entertained at luncheon on the campus and in the afternoon a hike is scheduled and an outdoor supper. Last evening a banquet and entertainment was held at the Atheneum for the visiting college women.

Will they be required to show any kind of working card. The government, Mr. O'Connor said, could not be expected to be a party to a plan of establishing an open or closed shop and "consequently it would be impossible" for it "to favor a system of hiring halls."

CHANGE OF LIFE WOMAN'S TRIAL

Proof That Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is of Great Help at This Period

Metropolis, Illinois.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it is all it claims to be and has benefited me wonderfully. I had been sick for eight months with a trouble which confined me to my bed and was only able to be up part of the time when I was advised by a friend, Mrs. Smith, to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills. I was so much benefited by the use of these medicines that I was able to be up and about in two weeks. I was at the Change of Life when I began taking the medicines and I passed over that time without any trouble. Now I am hale and hearty, do all my housework, washing, ironing, scrubbing, and cooking, all there is to do about a house, and can walk two or three miles without getting too tired. I know of several of my neighbors who have been helped by your medicines."

Mrs. EMMA CULVER, 705 E. 7th St., Metropolis, Illinois.

Depend upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Nervousness, irritability, heat flashes, headache and dizziness, are relieved by this splendid medicine.

DENIES SHIP BOARD IS SUPPORTING UNION MEN

O'CONNOR URGES COOPERATION WITH PORTLAND MAYOR

Says Government Not Party to Plan of Establishing an Open or Closed Shop

WASHINGTON, May 12.—A published statement that the shipping board is supporting union labor in the Portland, Oregon, strike is without foundation. T. V. O'Connor, vice chairman of the board, declared in a statement issued today.

Mr. O'Connor quoted a telegram he sent several weeks ago to C. F. Jenkins, acting director of the board's division of industrial relations, who is representing the board in the Oregon controversy, advising him to cooperate with the mayor of Portland and his committee and with the state board of conciliation in their efforts to adjust the differences.

The telegram to Mr. Jenkins also stated that the board "would not bear any part of the expenses in connection with maintaining hiring halls for either side" and declared that "men employed in loading or discharging shipping board vessels will not be required to obtain such employment through a hiring hall."
