

Better Optical Service

Near-sighted, far-sighted, astigmatic or whatever the visual trouble may be, my wonderful instrument reflects that knowledge with unerring positiveness.

Optical Service Appreciated

My patrons have shown marked appreciation of the good work I have accomplished. A large majority of my new patients come to me on the recommendation of some one I have successfully fitted with glasses—some sufferer from headaches and strained nerves who has been relieved by my skill.

Care of the eyes is one of the most important duties of everyone who aims to do his or her best in life. Good eyesight is essential to one's best efforts and good glasses often lead to success.

Nowhere in this vast country of wealth and resources will you find better facilities for a correct solution of your eyesight problems than here.

For over a third of a century I have been correcting eye troubles by fitting eyes with the right glasses. My phone number is 1454. Make an appointment this morning or call at my office.

NEW COMET DISCOVERED

ASTRONOMER SKJELLERUP HAS GAZED ON TUMULTUARY

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 20.—The Harvard astronomical observatory has received by cable an announcement of the discovery of a new comet by the astronomer Skjellerup, at Cape of Good Hope, Africa. It was found in the western sky shortly after sunset, a short distance south of the star Castor. The comet was observed May 17 and its position on that day (Greenwich mean time) is given as right ascension seven hours 33 minutes, 44 seconds, declination plus 19 degrees, 32 minutes.

It was described as a faint object visible in a large telescope, with a daily motion of four minutes of time easterly and 48 minutes of arc north-easterly.

Pinchot Leads by 13,922

PHILADELPHIA, May 20.—Gifford Pinchot has a lead of 13,922 over Attorney General George E. Aker for the Republican nomination for governor, with only 143 of the 734 districts in the state still unreported. Returns from 773 districts give Pinchot a total of 593,589 and Aker 497,588.

THEY ALL LOST IT

- MR. A. HID HIS money in the house and it was accidentally burned up.
 - MR. B. CARRIED his money in a secret pocket and was robbed.
 - MR. C. LOANED his money to a friend who forgot to pay it back to him.
 - MR. D. INVESTED in oil wells.
 - MR. E. THOUGHT he could win on the Board of Trade. (He knows better now.)
 - MR. F. PUT HIS money where rats ate it up.
 - MR. G. WENT INTO a business that he knew nothing about—and it failed.
- None of these men thought it was worth while to talk with their banker about their business affairs.

MEMORIAL PLANS MAKING

EX-SERVICE MEN IN CHARGE OF COTTAGE GROVE EVENT

(Register Lane County Special)
COTTAGE GROVE, Ore., May 18.—The most largely attended memorial day observation ever held here is proposed by ex-service men who have charge. The meeting of Apollonax post at Cottage Grove for the observation were discussed was most touching, nearly everyone of the "old boys" declaring that two more memorial days was the most they could hope to see and this time the younger men with determination to make the observation of the day this year a real one. The parade and march to the cemetery will be held in the afternoon. The parade and march will be held in the afternoon. The parade and march will be held in the afternoon.

BRITISH PREMIER DWELLS ON PLEDGE OF DELEGATES

MOST DRAMATIC SPECTACLE OF ALL SAYS LLOYD-GEORGE

Refers to Act of Envoys of Thirty Nations in Upholding of Non-Annexation Pact

(By the Associated Press)
LONDON, May 20.—Premier Lloyd-George, in an interview on his arrival home today, dwelt mainly on what he characterized as "the most dramatic spectacle I ever witnessed in any conference when the representatives of more than 30 nations arose and solemnly pledged themselves in the face of the world to non-annexation."

"We must remember," he added, "that only a few weeks ago armies were marching on frontiers extending thousands of miles with the evident intention of marching against each other. By the Geneva conference their march has been arrested."

The premier declared himself absolutely convinced that the Russians were sincere in their desire for peace, and dilated on the significant fact that nations formerly hardily on speaking terms were gathered about the same table exchanging civilities and courtesies.

He believed better feeling would be permanent, because as he put it, "presented a very deep feeling in the hearts of the people of Europe who are tired of fighting and want peace to resume their ordinary vocations."

The premier also declared that he hadn't the faintest doubt that an overwhelming majority of the French people desired peace and that what had been done at Geneva would result in a permanent peace for Europe and America because "it has given expression to something deep in the hearts of the people."

VALENTINO HEARD ON BIGAMY ROLE

Identify when reporters asked her if she was "Mrs. Valentino."

The trip east literally was a story without words, for while Miss Hudson refused to make anything that could be called a formal statement, her every move was carefully watched by fellow passengers, who soon learned her identity.

Alternately Coos and laughs. At times she cried, at others she laughed as the reporters pleaded with her to talk, but most of the time she sat looking wistfully at a book on her lap which always remained open at the same spot, for she never turned a page. Part of the trip was spent in cutting pictures of Valentino out of magazines and papers, and the only times she really showed signs of joy were when the paper came to with telegrams—all from Valentino. To all inquiries she had one reply: "I'm sorry, but I can't talk to you." She not only refused to talk about the marriage to Valentino but refused to discuss anything else, refusing even to divulge her dog's name.

As the train neared Chicago, she disappeared. A short time later a porter took her coat, then her big bag, in the baggage car, planning to outfit everyone by jumping off as the train stopped.

"Well, I'm in prison," she said. "I'll never try to dodge reporters again, but I'll never talk to you."

Unscrupulous Farm Machinery Dealers and others have unjustly and maliciously been lying to the public, stating that the reason the Moline Plow Company is quoting prices on farm machinery below any other company is because they are bankrupt and are trying to close out machinery on hand, and will then quit business. This is absolutely false, and we will pay to anyone that can prove this statement to our satisfaction $50.00 cash.

The Moline Plow Company is the first large company in America, to our knowledge, that has tried to do their share in trying to bring down the high cost of farming, and every fair-minded farmer should appreciate this.

The Moline Plow Company is financially sound, their credit is unquestioned, and they will continue to do business and take care of their customers promptly, as usual. Order your machinery and repairs early.
