VALUE OF SCHOLARSHIP IS KEYNOTE OF SPEECH

U. of O. Graduates Addressed By Dr. A. H. Upham

DEGREES AWARDED TO 251

Medical School Class from Portland for First Time Attends Commencement on Eugene Campus

The too little appreciated practical value of scholarship was emphasized by Dr. A. H. Upham, president of the University of Idaho, in the commencement address made to the Oregon graduating class of 1922, in the Woman's building here this morning. Service to the state, in return for the educational advantages so generously given, was the keynote of the closing word of President Campbell to the graduating class, which numbered 251.

For the first time, the graduates of the university's school of medicine in Portland, ten in number, were present on the campus to receive their degrees. They were presented by Dr. H. B. Dillehunt, dean of the school, and the degrees were awarded by President Campbell. Among the graduates is also a group of seven young women who received certificates as public health nurses. Fifteen bachelors' degrees, twelve in arts and three in science, were awarded, and one degree as a doctor of jurisprudence, the highest rating from the school of law.

Dr. Upham's commencement address was a plea for well-rounded development—for the all-around man. He deplored the present tendency to set apart the scholar from the man of affairs, intimating that in important respects the scholar is decidedly a man of affairs. Scholarly curiosity was urged—getting at the heart of things, "opening the processes of life to see the wheels go around. I have wondered," Dr. Upham lamented, "what becomes of the natural curiosity of boys and girls after they get to college. Boys and girls of ten and twelve are natural questioners. They are placed where the college student is a rather surfeited young man or young woman; if the world is his oyster he's opened it, he's fed up, he's not interested. This attitude, in the opinion of the speaker, is by no means confined to college students. "We don't find men generally interested in getting to the heart of things. Conversation is based to a large extent on newspaper headlines, in which facts have been interpreted for the public, and so many take that pre-digested and ready-made and spread it as if they themselves had solved the problems of the universe."

An interest in ideas as well as in things was suggested; also practical scholarship, emphasizing thoroughness and a considerable interest in background. "We have a veneer of culture," Dr. Upham said, "but it seems that there is hardly a varnish enough to go around, so most of us get a rather thin application. Smattering education too often is substituted for sound knowledge."

Pride of workmanship, pride in achievement, in the doing of things well for the sake of the job, should be more often found among all classes, the speaker declared, and the artist and the scholar "must look upon himself as a messenger of the gods, to bring to the public the things that are worth while."

Obligations Pointed Out

President Campbell, in his closing address after having presented the diplomas, directed the attention of the class to their obligation to the state for the educational advantages given them—an obligation to be met only with service. He pointed also to the new members of the alumni to take upon themselves individually and collectively the task of making it possible for the university to receive, in addition to the support given by the state, a growing income from gifts. In this connection the president directed attention to the university's needs, including an adequate library building, which cannot be supplied in the near future, and a new gymnasium. Within the last year the gifts received by the university, including the Warner collection of Oriental art, had exceeded $150,000. Mr. Robinson, of Jacksonville, President Campbell well announced, was presenting another valuable art collection to the university.

The invocation at the exercises was offered by Rev. C. E. Dunham, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. Musical numbers were supplied by Miss Loris Gratie, of Portland, violinist, accompanied by Mrs. George Sargent, and Mr. Curtis Peterson, of Eugene, harpist, accompanied by Miss Loris Gratie, of Portland, violinist. Mr. Peterson is a graduate of the University of Oregon school of music, and his wife was formerly a student here. The professional, Pomp and Circumstances, was given by the university orchestra, directed by Rex Underwood.

Master Degree Conferred

The degree of master of arts was conferred on twelve students: J. Carl Brown, of Portland; O. C. Frazer, of Clatskanie; L. C. Carroll, of Douglas, Wash.; Lloyd Alfred Endlund, North Bend; Charles Ferguson, Parma, Idaho; Daisy Thomas Hallock, Newport; Jessamine Margaret McLeod, Wall Lake, Iowa; Robert Manville, Eugene; Levi T. Pennington, Newberg; William James Rennie, Eugene; William R. Skidmore, Coquille; Sophia K. Winter, Eugene. The degree of master of science was conferred on Benjamin Horning, Eugene; G. Radcliffe McIntyre, Baker, and Matthew C. Riddle, Grants Pass. Candidates for the degree of master of arts and master of science were presented by Dr. Edmund S. Conklin, acting dean of the graduate school, in the absence of Dr. George Rebec.

The degree of doctor of jurisprudence was granted in absentia to Jory Kenneth Armstrong, of Portland.

The ten students who received the degree of doctor of medicine are Zilpha Virginia Galloway, Walter Herman Miller, Albert Ray Morrison, Charles Cornelius Newcastle, Charles Joseph Simon and Grace Young, all of Portland; Wilford Belknap, of Belleville; Mildred McBride, of Edwille; Edmund Henry Padden, of Creswell.

Honors Are Awarded

Highest honors were announced by President Campbell for the following students: Business administration—C. Carl Myers, of Eugene; Geology—Jan Campbell, Eugene; and Robert Schenck, Berkeley, Cal.; history, George Verne Blue, Ashland; military science and tactics, Edward L. Sloan, Eugene; rhetoric, George Verne Blue, Ashland. Honors in general scholarship were won by George Verne Blue, Sylvester H. Burleigh, Enterprise; Arthur Clark Hicks, Canyon City; Lucius E. Kilduff, Portland. Honorable mention for general scholarship was given to Lillian Auld, Eugene; Arthur Bramley, Eugene; W. Thomas Coates, Tillamook; Bill E. Dandorf, Portland; Virgil Glenn De Lap, Klamath Falls; Pauline V. DeVine, Portland; Roberta Adele Gibson, Long Beach, Cal.; Berta Alice Hays, Corvallis; Mrs. Mary Virginia McDougall, Eugene; C. Carl Myers, Eugene; Emily Abbie Perry, Tacoma, Wash.; Troy Aubrey Phipps, Ashland; Hubert G. Schenck, Berkeley, Cal.; Peter L. Spencer, Ashland; Marian F. Tridell, Taylor, Eugene; Grace Elizabeth Tizard, Tigard; Genevieve Tillotson, Tygh Valley; Floyd Thomas Webb, Eugene; Olga Wikberg, Salem; Norton Winnard, Eugene.

Love and brotherhood that will draw men together instead of erecting barriers of racial, religious and economic differences was the text of the baccalaureate sermon for the graduating class of the University of Oregon delivered by Rev. Harold L. Bowman, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Portland, who spoke at the Methodist church Sunday forenoon to the outgoing class of the university and faculty members and friends of the graduates.

"How many of us these days," he asked, "are rearing divisions between groups—walls of hatred dividing capital and labor, partitions between creed and creed, and the creating of strife between nations. But there must be others who will devote their time to the tearing down of these walls and a sincere effort to bring men together in love and brotherhood," the speaker stated.

Others who participated in the annual service for the graduating class were Rev. J. M. Walters, pastor of the First Methodist church of Eugene; Dr. E. C. Sanderson, president of Eugene Bible University; Rev. Frederick G. Jennings, rector of St. Mary's Episcopal church, Eugene, and Rev. W. H. L. Marshall, pastor of the First Congregational church, Eugene.

The musical program was in charge of John Stark Evans, and solos were presented by Madame Rose McGrew and John B. Siefert, in addition to numbers by the university choir of 40 students.

The vesper service was held in the afternoon at the Woman's building on the university campus. The school of music had charge of the program.

LARGE PRUNE CROP SOLD

LANE COUNTY FRUIT BRINGS $35,000 ON CROP

A contract for a crop of prunes estimated at 185 tons has been signed by J. J. and Clara Nicolle of the River Road. The reported price is $25,000 and the fruit will be delivered to the California Packing corporation. W. G. Klusman represented the purchasers in the deal which is the heaviest order for Lane county prunes negotiated this year.

The price is one-quarter of a cent per pound above that received last year for the crop of the Nicolle orchards. It is estimated that the crop just sold is the second largest in the county this year.

CAUGHT IN THE ROUNDS

Tourist Loses Hand-Bag—Chief of Police Christensen yesterday received a letter from Harvey L. Smith, Box 298, Kelso, Idaho, stating that while returning in his car from California a short time ago he lost a brown hand-bag out of the car somewhere on the highway a short distance south of Eugene. He asks the chief to request anyone who has reported finding it to forward it to him.

Speeder Is Fined—William N. C. Clark was fined $15 in police court yesterday for speeding his car on the streets. Loyal Rugh paid a fine of $2 for allowing his car to stand on Willamette street more than 20 minutes. A student who did not give his name forfeited $5 bail for cutting a corner with his car, and F. Farmer paid a fine of $2 for allowing the motor of his car to run unattended.

Postal Men to Meet at Roseburg—The postal clerks and carriers of Oregon will hold their third annual convention at Roseburg next Saturday. I. P. Imman, Harry Bartell and John Poland will represent the carriers of Oregon at the convention and C. C. Henderson, Charles Allen and Ed Wellman will represent the carriers. The trip to the convention will be made by automobile.

California People Here—H. H. Hicks, cashier of the New York Life Insurance company in Portland, accompanied by his family and Mrs. Daniels and Mr. and Mrs. Baker, of Portland, are here for a week-end visit. Mr. Hicks is a native of California and his wife is a native of Oregon. They spent Sunday at the McKenzie river. Mr. Hicks said he wished to show his guests the best there is in Oregon and chose the McKenzie.

Funeral Will Be Held Wednesday—The funeral of Mrs. Minnie Flegel will be held at the Veatch chapel in this city Wednesday at 2 p. m. with interment in the Masonic cemetery. Walter M. Waters will conduct the services. Mrs. Flegel was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Chambers, died in Los Angeles a few days ago. The remains are expected to arrive this afternoon.

E. A. Britton Visits—E. A. Britton, former physical director of the Eugene Y. M. C. A., and now managing the McCredie springs resort on the upper river, is a Eugene visitor. Britton made the trip to 35 miles in two hours and 45 minutes, he states. Many changes have been made at the springs, states the manager, including the installation of shower bath facilities and the employment of medical help for the summer months.

Michigan Professor Visiting Here—Professor R. K. Immel, member of the faculty of the University of Michigan, is a Eugene visitor several days. He is the guest of his brother, E. O. Immel, of this city. He is accompanied on the trip to the coast by his mother, who will remain here for a longer period. They are spending a few days at the summer home of Judge O. H. Foster and Judge E. O. Potter on the upper river.

Texas Students Return Home—Newton Harrell and Bernice Black, of Amarillo, Texas, students at the University of Oregon, have left for their home in the South following the close of the college year. They will be driving a truly automobile having also driven from Texas last fall to enter the local institution. Harrell has received his degree and will manage his father's 35,000-acre ranch in Texas. Black intends to enter the University of Texas next fall.

Pavement Is Completed—The short unpaved stretches of Pacific highway between Goshen and Creswell, south of Eugene, have now been paved, the contractors having completed the work during the past few days. As this pavement is of concrete the two detours will be used for a month yet as it takes that length of time for this type of pavement to "set." The detours are not bad and there has been no complaint from anyone about them, say the county officials.

All Applications Are Acted Upon—With few exceptions all the applications for the state soldier bonus loan have been acted upon by the Lane county board of appraisers. Last week property that has been designated for the loan was appraised near Cottage Grove, Marcella and Crowell. The board composed of John L. Dillard, Claude B. Washburne and J. W. Hobbs expects to have all applications that are now on file completed by next week.

Boys Sign to Attend Summer Camp—The following named boys have signed up for the annual summer camp to be held at the Lost Creek ranch under the direction of the Y. M. C. A.: Emmet Paris, Harry McDonald, Nat Hyatt, Delbert Addison, Royal Nettleton, Harold Elkins, Sullivan George, George Platt, Charles Warner, Kenneth Hyden, Gould Travis, Robert Giffen, Charles Wirth, Mack Hall, James Walton, Eugene Slattery, Gene and Howard Eberhart.

Car Is Overturned—Mrs. Clair Pennington escaped injury Sunday afternoon when her Dodge sedan overturned near the corner of Twelfth avenue and Alder street. The car crashed against a curb when the driver attempted to avoid a collision with another machine. Witnesses of the accident lifted Mrs. Pennington out of the car which lay on its side. With the exception of a bent fender and the breaking of the glass in one of the doors the machine is undamaged.

Many State Clubs Are Organized—Many boys' and girls' clubs have been organized in the state and Oregon ranks high in this rural activity, according to the report of the United States department of agriculture. There are 724 clubs now organized in the state with a total membership of 447, the report shows. The value of the products of the organizations is placed at $127,359.68. Oregon is in eleventh place among the states in regard to total number of clubs organized.

Library Gets Language Book—A recent gift to the public library of Eugene by Alvah Mote, is entitled "International Language" by Professor W. J. Clark. This book gives a summary of all the auxiliary languages ever invented and illustrates the superiority of Esperanto. Our library contains no other book on this subject and in a city with the educational facilities of Eugene there are doubtless many who are interested in word-wide affairs and would be glad to make use of the information contained in a book of this kind.

Frominent Men of Law Here—Superior Judge George M. Brown, of Salem, Circuit Judge J. W. Hamilton, of Roseburg, Circuit Judge H. H. Belt, of Dallas, George Neuner, district attorney at Roseburg, Ex-County Judge Murders, of Roseburg, District Attorney Fisher, of Coos county, and County Judge Wade, of Coos, are in Eugene, some of them attending commencement exercises at the university and others attending the trial of the case of Oswald West, ex-governor, against Coos county.

Shriners Josh Californians—The visiting Shriners at the annual convention just closed at San Francisco had the opportunity of taking the edge from much of the climate propaganda of the southland, according to members of the order from this city, who have returned from the gathering in the south. Heat, fog and chill were all served up during the four-day meeting at the Bay City, say the wearers of the fez, and this fact gave rise to many songs that were a feature of the impromptu gatherings of the visitors. One item that found much favor with the visiting delegations was entitled "The Sun-Kissed California But Kissed Her Goodbye."

PERSONAL MENTION

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Snellstrom, of Noti, are in the city.
V. V. Willis and wife, of Walton, are here for a day or so.
Linton W. Lilly, of Vida, is a visitor in Eugene for a few days.
Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Russell, of Cottage Grove, were in the city yesterday.
B. H. Parkhurst, manager of the Nimrod Inn, was a local visitor yesterday.
Oona V. Liles, teacher at the Crow school, was a local business visitor yesterday.
Thomas Soleim, school director of the Camp Creek district, was in the city yesterday.
Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Randall, of this city, spent the week-end visiting their parents at Cottage Grove.
Herman Beal, of Lowell, was in the city yesterday from the Diamond B.

ranch, which he manages for his father.
