UNIVERSITY TO GET NEW ARCHITECT ON FACULTY

Walter R. B. Willcox of Seattle Selected OTHER MEN ARE APPOINTED

Financial Outlook Described in Report Received from Special Committee

Walter R. B. Willcox, prominent Seattle architect, whose work has won recognition all over the country, has been added to the staff of the University of Oregon school of architecture by the action of the board of regents at the meeting Monday. Mr. Willcox will be professor of architecture, Dean Lawrence of the architecture school is particularly pleased at the acquisition of Mr. Willcox, who will add strength to a staff which has already turned out a succession of students who have won prizes at Massachusetts Institute of Technology in competition with the strongest students in America.

Other faculty members named to fill vacancies are Harold Benjamin, a graduate of the class of 1921, assistant professor of education; Earl Widmer, assistant professor of physical education; Miss Lillian Stupp, of Wellesley college, assistant in physical education; Donald Barnes, now at Oxford, professor of history; Richard M. Elliott (Oregon 1921), instructor in mathematics; Matthew Riddle, assistant professor of mathematics; Germaine Corrier, instructor in Romance languages.

Two Men Coming Back The regents approved the return of two members of the faculty who have been absent on leave: Dr. Warren D. Smith, professor of geology, who has been two years in the Philippines on special geological survey work for the United States government, and Dr. O. F. Stafford, professor of chemistry, who has brought to a successful conclusion several years' research in the distillation of wood waste.

The university's financial outlook was described in a report received from a special committee appointed in January made up of Regents Hertz, Gordon, of Portland; C. E. Woodson, of Hingham; W. S. Gilbert, of Astoria; C. C. Coll, of Portland, and Sam A. Koser, secretary of state. The committee in its report spoke of the present sound condition of the university's finances and of the large amount of building, amounting to $1,950,000, which had been completed within the last two years.

Building Program Behind Although the building program in the university had fallen behind its needs, the present carrying 30 per cent more students than at the time the college became a law two years ago, and will within the next two years be carrying an enrollment of at least 1000, greater than at that time, it was the opinion of the committee that under the present condition of economic stress no increase in appropriations should now be asked. Salaries were found to be on the median line of colleges and universities throughout the United States, and the amount of work carried by faculty members considerably above the average. The committee quoted from the recent report of Dr. George F. Zook, head of the department of higher education in the United States bureau of education:

"The salaries at both institutions for the current year closely approximate the median average salaries at other state universities and colleges over the country. I conclude that both the university and the agricultural college were serving the people of the state satisfactorily, not only as to the standard of work attempted, but in an economical way as can reasonably be expected."

LOCAL RESIDENT HONORED

HAWTHORNE IS HONORED BY SUPREME COURT

In honor of his 55th birthday anniversary Professor R. J. Hawthorne, of this city, formerly of the University of Oregon, has received a letter from the members of the supreme court of Oregon congratulating him on his many years of activity in behalf of education in Oregon.

The following is the communication signed by the judges of the court: State of Oregon, Supreme Court. Salem, June 17, 1922. Professor R. J. Hawthorne, Eugene, Oregon.

Dear Prof. Hawthorne:—We are pleased to join with your many friends in extending to you congratulations upon the anniversary of your birth, June 19, 1837, to June 18, 1922, spans an eventful period in the affairs of our nation and the world at large. To have been a beloved teacher in our institutions of learning where the ideals of the young men and women of the nation are largely formed, is to have occupied a high and useful place; this place you have occupied. To be a member of the legal profession is an honor; this honor you have. To be a worthy citizen is the ambition of every American; this ambition you have achieved. All these things should and no doubt do, bring you increased happiness with each succeeding year.

We wish for you many more anniversaries with continued health and undiminished happiness. Sincerely yours, GEO. H. BURNETT, GEO. M. BROWN, H. J. BEAN, THOMAS A. McBRIDE, LAWRENCE T. HARRIS.

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE THEATRES TODAY

Marshall Neilan's production, "The First," Charles W. Hawley in organ part; Lemon-O Quartet in musical part; "Midnight" Rex Weekly Review and Bits of the Day.

Castle—Mr. and Mrs. Carter DeHaven and Lady Friends; Harry Myers in the adventure of "Robinson Crusoe." Coming attraction—star cast in "The Midway Judge"; Larry Semes in "Between Acts"; John Gilbert in "Arabian Nights"; St. John in "Small Town Staff"; Owen in "Reported Missing"; Katherine Donald in "The Beautiful Lie."

A hit has been made by the Lemon-O Quartet, composed of four well-known college men who have been featured in a musical production, "Midnight," anticipating the picture, "The First," at the Rex this week. The boys, who will appear for the last time on today's program, open their act with "The Love Song," from the "Forsyte Teller," which, by reason of its arrangement and the harmonious efforts of the quartet, has won the hearts of both Monday's and Tuesday's capacity houses.

The Rex organ synchronized setting in the original theme, "I Love You," composed especially for the presentation by Charles W. Hawley, and the heart numbers, "Tolomato" by Hopkin, Massenet's "Meditation," from "Thais," and the selections from "Madame Sherry," are features not to be overlooked by devotees of the musical art.

Marshall Neilan is a believer in all star casts. In his latest picture, "The First," at the Rex, Richard Dix, Claire Windsor and Claude Gillis, head the stellar assemblage of players.

Edward June was engaged to direct "The Prodigal Judge," which will be shown at the Rex on Thursday, for three days. It is an adaptation of Vaughan Kester's novel of the same name, and Jean Paige heads the all star cast.

John Gilbert, the Oregon star, is coming to the Castle this week in "Arabian Nights," a story of the desert. Almost the entire picture is said to comprise desert scenes, with a shik, Arab outlaws, camels, caravans and the colorful backgrounds that are so fascinating in a subject of this sort. Barbara Bedford plays opposite Gilbert.

High Flyer "High Flyer" said the foreman at the accident, "did you break the news to Mrs. Murphy about her husband getting blown sky-high in the explosion?" "I did."

"Did you break it gently?" "I did. I told her that Tom got that raise he'd been looking for."—Los Angeles Times.
