First Pictures of Dublin Battle

Chilling Four Courts in Dublin

Here is the first picture to reach America of the singular fighting in Dublin between forces of the Free State government and of the insurgent republicans. The Free State artillerymen are seen sending a long-pointed explosive shell into the famous old Four Courts, which was destroyed by fire and mines when the republicans evacuated it. The round tower of the Four Courts is plainly visible at the upper right-hand side of the picture, while at its left may be seen one of the buildings, wrecked by artillery fire, from which the republicans previously had been driven.
