Slattery of this city yesterday caused to be filed in the circuit court at Salem his suit against Secretary of State Sam Kozer to prevent the placing of the name of Charles Hall on the November election ballot as an independent candidate for governor. Attorney Slattery contends that Hall is violating the law in running for office after having been defeated for the nomination at the primaries. A portion of his complaint reads as follows: "The plaintiff states that the said defendant is about to and will unlawfully expend the money belonging to the state of Oregon in preparing and distributing to the county clerks of Oregon said certificates of nomination, unless restrained from so doing; and that, unless restrained from so doing, he will aid and abet and encourage the various county clerks of the state of Oregon in the further unlawful use of public money raised by taxation and printing and distributing the said sample and official ballots by delivering to them certificates showing the nomination of the said Charles Hall as an independent candidate for the office of governor of Oregon; that said conduct will be to the injury of the various taxpayers of the state of Oregon. "The plaintiff further states that he has no adequate relief at law, and that he and all other taxpayers of the state of Oregon will suffer irreparable injury unless the said defendant is perpetually enjoined as hereinafter prayed. "Wherefore, the plaintiff prays that the said defendant be enjoined from using his own time, the time of his deputies, clerks, stenographers, and other assistants, his office rooms, office furniture, typewriters, stationary, ink, paper, legal blanks, envelopes, postage stamps, writing paper, and any and all other property, owned by the state of Oregon, and the time of any officer or employe of the state of Oregon in preparing and distributing to the county clerks of Oregon certificates showing the nomination of the said Charles Hall for governor; that he be enjoined from using any money of other thing of value in preparing and distributing the said certificates of nomination to the said county clerks; that the said defendant be perpetually enjoined from certifying to the county clerks of Oregon the nomination of the said Charles Hall as an independent candidate for governor of Oregon; and that the court will decree unto plaintiff such other and further relief as shall in the premises be equitable.
