

ANNOUNCING

The realization of the perfect presentation of pictorial artistry—the parting of the portals of the newest and most modern theatre in the flourishing city of Eugene.

An achievement unequalled in local theatrical history is the installation of two of the largest and highest perfected motion-picture projectors, a specially constructed super-life screen, the inauguration of a symphony orchestra and talented organist under the direction of a famous Hungarian artist, combining with the architectural beauty and commodities of the theatre.

In keeping with the magnitude of the occasion and selected for its proven entertainment qualities—

FRASIER BONDSMEN SUED

STATE SEEKS TO RECOVER SUM OF $5,000

George M. Payne and Miss Brownell Frasier Are Defendants in Court Action

George M. Payne and Miss Brownell Frasier are defendants in a suit filed in circuit court here yesterday by the state of Oregon in which the state seeks to recover $5,000, the amount of the bond furnished by them for the appearance of Miss Frasier's father, E. J. Frasier, of Eugene, in the circuit court at Corvallis in 1920 for sentenced for forgery. Frasier did not appear for sentence at the time set by the court, having disappeared, but was arrested some time later and sentenced to serve a term of from one to five years in the state penitentiary. He is still in prison.

In the complaint filed by District Attorney Clyde M. Johnston, of Lane county, it is stated that Frasier was found guilty at Corvallis December 8, 1917, having been tried there on a charge of venue from Lane county. He was sentenced February 15, 1918, and a bond of $5,000 was furnished for his release pending an appeal to the supreme court. The bond was ordered forfeited on May 26, 1920.

SANTA CLARA IS WINNER IN COMMUNITY DISPLAY

Booth Is Selected as Best at County Fair

COBURG PLACES SECOND

Close Competition Marks the Judging of the Five Exhibits from Lane County Districts

Displays from five Lane county communities at the annual county fair were yesterday passed upon by the board of judges and the Santa Clara booth today is wearing the blue ribbon as an award for having sent in the best of its products in addition to arranging the most decorative display among the booths. The West Point grange of Coburg, which entered the county competition for the first time in two years, was selected as a mark of second place. The final selection between the two exhibits was decided by a matter of a few points so close was the scoring when the judges checked up after a close scrutiny of both displays.

Community displays representing the best of the production from the soil of Lane county districts sent in from Santa Clara, Coburg, Hilychly, Western Lane and Junction City were all entered in the effort to present an attractive and varied exhibition of their agricultural wealth and the county display that will be sent to Salem for the state fair is to be selected from among the five community exhibits at the local show.

George W. Taylor, president of the Lane county fair board, highly praised the displays promoted by the various communities and stated that all of them were to be awarded money prizes as the required 70 points out of a total of 100 that are necessary to enter the prize class was recorded by the judges.

Booths Very Attractive
The Santa Clara booth, backed by a decorative arrangement of sheaves of grain and containing melons, fruit, seeds and vegetables grouped in a colorful array has won the attention of fair visitors from the past two years and the decision of the official board of judges coincides with that of a majority of the patrons of the annual show who have been inspecting the community displays and were strong in their approval of the Santa Clara booth and the artistic setting of the agricultural products.

The West Point grange represents the community, on its first entry at the county show in two years, has a display of products indicating the nature of the diversified agricultural policy of that district. Grain, seeds, fruit, vegetables and berries are tastefully gathered into a decorative arrangement that attests the interest that has been manifested in sending in an exhibit that would do honor to the community.

Blachly Display Attracts
A colorful floral display is the first feature that arrests the eye of the fair pavilion visitor on approaching the booth bearing the title of Blachly grange, 523. Although the flowers are the place of honor in front of the booth and have been the focus of much attention during the fair period the Blachly community also has a proud display of its grain, and vegetable results in addition to dairy products sent in by the Lake Creek Dairy association.

"Forward, Farmers, Forward" is the slogan swung on a white banner in the center of the grange decorated background of the display entered by the Junction City grange. Here also may be found the seeds, fruit, melons and vegetables and the pumpkins, the place of frequent mention in that district of the county.

Western Lane Shows Potatoes
Western Lane has the finest potatoes at the annual show both in size and quality and are banked in masses for the edification of the show patrons. Beets are another product of the coast community that are pointed out to the visitors to the booth as features of the display from the Slusway country. Cheese, a home product of Western Lane, is the central part of the decorated display space.

At the close of the fair Friday night, the gathering of the state fair exhibit will take place and a total of eight tons will be sent to Salem for the Lane county exhibit, according to President Taylor, who will direct the state fair display. Eighty crates of fruit will be included in the shipment and each day a crate of fresh, newly picked berries will be sent to the fair booth from Western Lane, states the director of the exhibit.

Land alleges that in making repairs to the door of one of the tunnels of the prune evaporator on Dr. Scarborough's place he was struck in one eye with a piece of wire, sustaining serious injuries. Besides $5,000 general damages Land seeks to recover $250 special damages, alleging that he paid that amount for the hire of physicians and for hospital fees. The plaintiff is represented by Attorneys, Putter, Foster and Immet.

George E. Balsinger is plaintiff in a suit against H. B. Her seeking a judgment in the sum of $71.45 with interest at 10 percent from March 30, 1921; $100 with the same rate of interest from September 1, 1917, and $300 with eight per cent interest from March 14, 1918. Gordon Wells appears as attorney for the plaintiff. John P. Kaufman has sued W.

PREVENT CAR SHORTAGE

HEAVIER LOADS URGED BY MANAGER DYER

Telegram Received by I. T. Sparks Requesting Shippers to Co-Operate

I. T. Sparks, district freight and passenger agent of the Southern Pacific company, yesterday received a telegram from the head offices of the company at San Francisco, urging heavier loading of freight cars by shippers to relieve the present car shortage. The telegram stated that J. H. Dyer, general manager, issued the following statement:

"At the end of August we had 378 less freight cars awaiting repairs than at same period last year, as we loaded on our line 91,188 cars of commercial freight with 77,841 for same month. It is observed, however, notwithstanding the increased business which has the effect of inducing a car shortage, that shippers did not load cars to capacity nor as efficiently as in August last year as indicated by the fact that our average car was but 60.8 per cent of our capacity compared with 82.7 last year. Even in instances where density permits of loading cars to capacity such as barley, hops, peas, sugar beets, brick and lumber, the average carload was considerably less than capacity while the average carloads of fruits, vegetables and other refrigerator freight was nearly a ton less than last year.

The net effect of this lighter loading applied to the 91,188 cars loaded necessitated 3,181 more cars than would have been needed if loaded as efficiently as last year. In time of heavy movement it is of advantage to the shipper to load and unload cars promptly and to the greatest possible extent load them to capacity. Delays in loading and unloading and failure to load to capacity have the same effect as a proportionate reduction in the number of available cars. If five cars be used where four would suffice it means on this ratio of 25 per cent in car supply and to a like extent it creates an artificial car shortage. In view of increased traffic, it is hoped that shippers will avail of every opportunity to avoid delays and load efficiently and by such co-operation substantially aid in relieving a situation of mutual concern."

LOCAL BABIES PRAISED

STATE OFFICIAL COMPLIMENTS LANE

Child Clinic Held at County Fair Booth Yesterday by Representative of Board

Lane county, in addition to its well-known merits as a producer of fine agricultural products, also has some of the finest babies in the state. This is the firm opinion of Dr. Estella Ford Warner, of Portland, representative of the state bureau of child hygiene, after completing an examination of 25 children yesterday at the clinic held at the county fair booth of the Lane County Health association. Many of the children were brought in from various parts of the county for examination by the state health official who was assisted by Glendora Blakely, state advisory nurse, and Miss Sally Craighill, Lane county health nurse.

"Lane county is one of the prize districts of the state for the standard of physical development and health of babies," according to the opinion voiced yesterday by the state doctor, who has directed clinics in every county in Oregon and has a fund of knowledge concerning the fine points of infants. The visiting official also highly commended the work of the Lane county health association and the assistance that has been rendered by Dr. R. M. Kerron, city and county health officer in the efforts to maintain a high health record for the county.

PRUNE GROWER IS SUED

DR. SCARBROUGH DEFENDANT IN $5,000 DAMAGE SUIT

Lee Land Alleges He Was Injured Because of Inadequate Tools With Which to Work

Dr. L. D. Scarborough, Creswell orchardist, who owns the largest prune tract in this end of the Willamette valley, is defendant in a suit instituted in circuit court yesterday by Lee Land for $5,000 damages on account of alleged injuries sustained, alleged due to negligence in failing to furnish proper and adequate tools with which to work.

Land alleges that in making repairs to the door of one of the tunnels of the prune evaporator on Dr. Scarborough's place he was struck in one eye with a piece of wire, sustaining serious injuries. Besides $5,000 general damages Land seeks to recover $250 special damages, alleging that he paid that amount for the hire of physicians and for hospital fees.
