owned and state timber holdings, covering approximately 9,940,000 acres and containing some 373,500,000,000 feet of timber. It is estimated that the value of the timber within this district amounts to $500,000,000.

Cost of Patrol is Low
 Delving here into arithmetic, it is found that the protection of this great wealth was strengthened and intensified by the aerial patrol at the insignificant cost to the government of 10 cents for every 1000 worth of standing timber. This represents just a little more than twice the cost caused by one fire during the past summer in California, a state that had the benefit of aerial forest patrol for only a brief period. There was a close cooperation between the commanding general of the ninth corps area and the forest service, whereby the air service would furnish assistance in California in cases of extreme emergency only when individual planes, equipped with radio, would be sent out over especially serious fires for reconnaissance flight.

The significance of the aerial forest fire patrol is very great in those states which have experienced its benefits. They know from actual experience that the fire-fighting airplane is an agency by means of which the great sacrifice of vast stands of timber, together with the drastic financial losses resulting therefrom, may be averted. In view of the economy program outlined by the war department, calling for a reduction of airplanes, personnel and equipment, it was first believed that no air patrol could be provided. The air service in the ninth corps area had been reduced from six squadrons, approximately 40 officers and 620 enlisted men, to but one squadron of 12 officers and 150 enlisted men.

Small Force Covers Wide Area
 Upon this organization and the personnel available at Mather field, Mills, Cal., consisting of approximately 13 officers and 60 enlisted men, devolved the responsibility of executing a program which called for air service co-operation at 13 summer training camps, extending from the 15th of June to the 15th of August 27, and necessitating a distribution of air service personnel from Camp Lewis, Wash., in the north, to the presidio of Monterey in the south, and sending as far east as Salt Lake City, Utah. This was in addition to co-operation with the coast defenses of San Francisco and the conduct of the necessary routine duties.

When the season later in the season, again found herself confronted with a difficult fire situation, she made such urgent and insistent requests for the resumption of aerial patrol that the war department finally decided to grant the request. Obviously, with only the above limited personnel available, it meant that such patrol would have to be restricted to a much smaller scale than had been the case during the past three years. Accordingly, co-operation with the forest service in fighting fires was confined almost entirely to Western Oregon.

Sent from Mather Field
 The aerial patrol in Oregon was conducted in a detachment of four officers and 25 men of the 91st and 92nd squadrons, from Mather field. Five officers and eight men of this detachment arrived via airplane at the municipal landing field at Eugene, Ore., the headquarters of the patrol on July 15 about 24 hours after authority for patrols had been received. The remainder of the detachment, accompanying a motor convoy of officers and 60 enlisted men, arrived on July 20. The radio station immediately installed at Roseburg, Ore., was discontinued several days later, as with the method of patrol inaugurated, the use of radio was not considered of sufficient importance to warrant its operation. Landing fields were maintained at Medford, Roseburg, Salem and Portland, but no substations were established. Patrols were begun out of Eugene on July 17, and were continued until September 26.

 EUGENE DEALERS TO GO TO CORVALLIS MEETING

To attend the joint meeting of the realty boards of Lane, Linn and Benton counties which will be held at Corvallis next Saturday, a delegation of about 15 members of the Eugene board are planning a motor caravan. Plans for the affair were discussed at a meeting of the realty board held last night at the rooms of the chamber of commerce.

An advertising plan backed by the Great Northern, Northern Pacific, and C. B. and Q. roads to give publicity to the advantages of the Pacific Northwest will be one of the principle matters to come before the Corvallis meeting, according to word received here. Officials of the roads will explain the plans that are being toward that end. The rail plan was recently taken up here by a delegation of officials of the roads with local business men.

 EVANGELIST HUNDERUP CLOSING REVIVAL SERVICES

The revival meetings conducted by Evangelist August Hunderup at the Evangelical church at the corner of Sixth and Olive streets and held here for the past two weeks or more came to a close last night. The evangelist expressed himself as being well satisfied with results of the meetings and the pastor and members feel that the church has been greatly strengthened.

Mr. Hunderup took occasion to thank the Morning Register for the publicity given the meetings.

 Y. M. C. A. AUTO TEAMS GET UNDERWAY

Photographers and Mechanics Will Gather Today at Noon to Make Report on Mileage Made

They're off! Ten automobiles representing an array of makes, each manned by a determined and confident crew, made their getaway yesterday morning in the thrilling Y. M. C. A. "road race" to Seattle and return. The cars entering with their pilots are the following: The Dodge, Captain A. A. Hougham. The Studebaker, Captain H. A. Soule. The Hudson, Captain W. H. Robertson. The Ford, Captain R. A. McCully. The Star, Captain M. H. Douglas. The Buick, Captain W. H. Jewett. The Overland, Captain G. M. Sprague. The Oldsmobile, Captain E. F. Carleton. The Chevrolet, Captain G. N. McLean. The Gardner, Captain C. M. Emery.

The pilots, with their staffs of mechanics and helpers, had a final meeting at a luncheon Sunday noon at the Y. M. C. A., marked by enthusiasm and confidence. During and following luncheon C. H. Hoggatt, of Eugene Bible university, had the crowd all pepped up, singing popular choruses that will doubtless arouse the natives all along the route. H. H. Bullock, western sales manager of the System company, gave some good counsel on getting maximum mileage out of a given quantity of gas, while the rules of the road were explained by other speakers.

Reports on the progress of the cars will be received over "private leased wires" at a luncheon Tuesday noon. The distance covered by each car will be indicated graphically. Dr. J. M. Walters will give his famous talk on lubricating oils, and reports will be other snappy features.

That all Eugene is interested in this race is indicated by the fact that the women's organizations are being with each other as to who shall furnish the luncheons. The women of the Congregational church were awarded the distinction of serving first, and will be hostesses on Tuesday. Participants of all the churches interested are expected to be present.

 "COME OUT OF THE KITCHEN" IS BILLED

Mask and Buskin to Stage Production at Hellig Theatre Thursday Night

Aristocratic Southerners masquerading as cooks, butlers and maids; a poet poked into a cupboard with a negro wench; a rich lawyer caught making love to the saucy Irish servant; spicy plots and counterplots; these are but hints of the rapid action, the absorbing interest in "Come Out of the Kitchen" which will be staged by Mask and Buskin, dramatic society of the university, at the Hellig Thursday night, February 15.

"Come Out of the Kitchen" needs only a well-groomed cast to make it successful from every point of view, and Claire Kenney, well-known dramatic student, who is coaching the production, is confident that such a cast can be made. The vehicle is admitted to be the best A. E. Thomas has ever written.

Not only is the comedy introduced cleverly, but the length to which parental affection will cause children to go is also forcibly depicted. The real soul of the play, which is both funny and serious, lies in the struggle of a carefully reared Southern child to turn mercenary and provide funds to aid their ailing father, the Irish cook.

Lorna Coolidge, a senior in the department of drama, portrays the part of "Olivia Dangerfield," who becomes "Jane Ellen," the saucy Irish cook, and as "Olivia" and versatility of this character the entire story hinges. Miss Coolidge has taken prominent parts in campus productions for the past three years, and as "Olivia" and versatility of this character the entire story hinges. ARGUMENTS ANSWERED
 KELLEMS SAYS NO REASON FOR STAYING OUT OF CHURCH

Evangelist Declines While There Are Hypocrites Inside There Are Many More Outside

Dr. Jesse Kellems, the young evangelist at the First Christian church, took the afternoon hour last night to answer the arguments that men and women of Eugene have been giving for not coming into the church. "You people think that you are bluffing the preacher with the old worn-out excuses," he said. "I have heard the same things all over this country. From Atlantic to Pacific, from Canada to the Gulf."

Among numerous other excuses, Dr. Kellems mentioned the oft-heard, "I would join the church but there are so many hypocrites in it. Mr. B. belongs to that church and he did me a dirty turn in a business deal. I will not belong to any church where there are hypocrites." "Now, I am afraid, my friends, that you are taking the wrong attitude and I am also afraid that you will never join any church for if you should find one where every one suits you, what assurance have you that some hypocrite will not join next week," he said. "As long as people are people there will be some who will use the church as a cloak of righteousness. I am sorry to say that there are hypocrites with their names on the church roll. However, they are not in the church; God has removed their names; it is not for us to judge who are worthy and who are not, lest in pulling out the tares we likewise uproot some wheat. There are a few hypocrites in the church, but there are a great many more outside. There are those in business who are not doing the square thing; the butcher weighs his hand when he sells you

 BLUE NOTES ON PIANO KEY TO BOOZE CATCH

SIoux CITY, Iowa, Feb. 12.—The discordant notes of a piano as played by Officer Marcus Cross, head of the police raiding squad, proved the undoing of Julius Trastover, a farmer near Sioux City, Sunday, and resulted in seizure of a large quantity of moonshine and whiskey mash.

After a full, two-hour search of the premises, the raiders were on the verge of giving up when Officer Cross received his musical inspiration.

Officer Cross noticed the discord as he ran his fingers along the keys and started an investigation which led to discovery of five gallons of pre-voiced liquor neatly packed away inside the instrument.

Further search led to the finding of 250 gallons of mash beneath the cellar floor.

Owners Deeply Deplore Loss of Life in Disaster—Families Will Be Cared For

(By the Associated Press)
 DAWSON, N. M., Feb. 12.—All but 14 bodies of the 122 miners entombed in mine No. 1 here following an explosion last Thursday had been removed by rescue crews tonight. The list of official dead now numbers 106, two of the entombed men having walked out uninjured last Friday.

Officials of the Phelps-Dodge corporation, owners of the mine, announced late tonight that exploration of the shattered mine workings had definitely revealed that the time that miners still remained alive in the mine. The cause of the explosion has not yet been determined, it was also stated.

The shattered debris-choked interior of the blast-wrecked mine was viewed this afternoon by a correspondent of the Associated Press. Utter devastation was wrought in that the terrific force of the detonation, ripped from the roof as if clawed away by a brooding giant's hand, gigantic blocks of slate, coal and rock litter the passageways, piled in helter-skelter confusion that the rescue crews for four days have been laboring with the bodies of their unfortunate comrades.

Rescue Work Amazing
 That members of the working crews have not been injured or killed by falling debris during that period is little short of miraculous. That they were able to extricate more than 80 bodies from the cluttered tunnels is amazing in the opinion of mining men.

Rescue crews tonight were tapping the tenth shaft to the south of the main entrance.

It will require several months to clean out the full of rock, re-tilt the ground and get the mine ready for production, according to mine officials.

Ismet Pasha on Way to Peace Conference at Constantinople—Powers to Remain Firm

(By the Associated Press)
 CONSTANTINOPLE, Feb. 12.—Distinct improvement in the situation respecting both Smyrna and the peace outlook is reflected in official quarters tonight. It is understood that the Turkish authorities at Smyrna have adopted a more conciliatory attitude in their exchange with the commanders of the foreign warships, while a similar softening is reported in Ankara.

Immediate favorable results are looked for on Ismet Pasha's arrival; it is expected that he will give definite assurance that peace negotiations have not been ruptured but deferred, and that the way is open for the adjustment not only of the Smyrna affair, but the resumption of peace parleys.

No official utterances have been made here, but this is the view in well-informed circles.

Snow in Rumania and heavy rain in Italy are delaying Ismet Pasha's arrival here; meanwhile Kemal Pasha and other prominent ministers have gone to Smyrna to attend an economic congress, thus postponing the conference which were expected to be held immediately upon Ismet's reaching Constantinople.

Russia-Turk Pact Expected
 The fact that a Russian soviet minister has also gone to Smyrna has caused comment in view of inconsistent reports of the conclusion of a Russia-Turkish agreement at Lausanne.

(By the Associated Press)
 PARIS, Feb. 12.—The three-day extension of the Turkish ultimatum demanding the withdrawal of the allied battalions at Smyrna is not expected to modify the positive stand taken by France and Great Britain and so far as is known, the orders to the naval commanders to defend their positions if attacked still holds good.

Press dispatches confirm reports, which have also reached London, that the Turks last Saturday decided to wait another three days for the withdrawal of the war craft. They reserved to themselves full liberty of action after the expiration of that time.
