of the coming spring are showing on the upper McKenzie country, the lower benches of the high-are all evidences of spring, accord-

Quite a number of Eugene radio

traveling salesman driving a Ford touring car ran out of gas at Seventh and Van Buren streets last night about 11:30, and when he returned to start, found his car in flames. The fire department was called and the blaze was extinguished after it had destroyed the top. It is thought that a cigarette stub may have started the blaze.

University Street Residents Name Committee—A committee composed of Judge E. O. Potter, C.
D. Korer and A. H. Caswell has been named to take up with the pany and his brother, W. C.

Yoran, has been elected to the of-

Lincoln Car Is Purchased—That the McKenzie motor trip is considerable of a business asset here, especially to motor car agencies, is the opinion of E. C. Simmons, who, in competition with several Portland car dealers, has sold a Lincoln car to George Bates, Portland banker. As a part of the complicated selling campaign of the local dealer, Bates was taken on a trip in the Lincoln up the highway and this turned the tide in favor of the Eugene purchase, is the report.

The city of Cushman in western Lane is showing the preliminary signs of a boom period, according to the opinion of Charles F. Cox, resident of that district, who was in Eugene yesterday. Every house in Acme and Cushman is occupied and there is a demand for more homes owing to the increase of day. The plant which started operations early in the winter, is now turning out close to 20,000 feet of lumber each day and the output is to be increased, says Mr.

Schultz. The timber tract from which the mill is at present drawing is sufficient to carry on operations until about the middle of the summer before moving the plant to another site, according to the owner.

Creswell Banker Gets Sympathy— Jack Hyett, cashier of the Fruit Growers' bank at Creswell, recently Jesse Wells for violating one of the county motor laws. Yesterday the check was cleared here through the Bank of Commerce and the staff, to show their sympathy with the Creswell banker, bordered the paper in black and each signed his name on the back as evidence of their condolence. The staff enjoyed it hugely, until a cynical speculator of the present pointed out that the names were all endorsements and that the check could be sent back for collection from them. The keen edge of the
