Improvement of Property and Walks, Selection of Shade Trees Are Discussed

(Register Lane County Special) SPRINGFIELD, Ore., April 23.—Co-operation of all civic clubs and organizations with a view to beautifying the city was the main topic discussed at a mass meeting, attended by many people of Springfield interested in civic improvement this evening at the new high school. Preceding the meeting the girls of the domestic science department served luncheon to about 50 business men and their wives.

BEAUTIFYING IS URGED

Beautifying of property by carefully tended lawns, plenty of attractive shrubbery and carefully planted trees was urged by Mrs. Lydia McGowan, who represented the Springfield Civic club at the meeting. Mrs. McGowan outlined several attractive plans for home gardens and landscaping, and requested that the people of the community give this matter prompt attention. She also expressed a desire on the part of the civic club that lawns be kept green during the coming summer by frequent watering.

Elms and Norway maples were recommended by Professor E. E. DeCou as the most suitable trees for shade and ornamental purposes. He suggested that a definite system be followed in planting these trees in the streets, and that care should be exercised to insure their correct growth.

He also urged that all civic organizations co-operate through their various committees in every way that will help in the improvement program. "Co-operation is the key to a beautiful city," he said, "and with the approaching wave of prosperity that is coming to Springfield, there is no reason why it cannot become one of the prettiest cities in the West."

CIVIC SPIRIT IMPORTANT

Professor DeCou also stressed the importance of a proper civic spirit, and said that the spirit of believing in Springfield and working for the city whenever opportunity presented itself, was one of the prime essentials to civic welfare.

W. F. Walker, president of the chamber of commerce, introduced the speakers and said a few words in favor of the work that was being sponsored.

Preceding the speaking a short program consisting of vocal numbers and readings was rendered.

Arrangements for the affair were under the direction of W. F. Walker, president of the chamber of commerce and a committee headed by Dr. W. H. Pollard.

Those in charge expressed their appreciation for the splendid turnout of the Springfield people and for the assistance rendered by the high school officials and the domestic science department.

Similar meetings will be staged from time to time in the future, stated Mr. Walker, for it is the desire of the chamber of commerce, the Civic club and other organizations to keep alive the community spirit that is being shown by the residents of Springfield.

PLUCKY ACT SAVES HOME

MRS. DOUGLAS CLIMBS TO ROOF TO QUENCH FIRE

(Register Lane County Special) SPRINGFIELD, Ore., April 23.—A fire that might have resulted in the total loss of the house occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Douglas on the corner of Laurel and L streets was extinguished by Mrs. Douglas this afternoon about two o'clock. After turning in the fire alarm, Mrs. Douglas climbed to the roof with a kettle of water and put the flames out. Her plucky and precise action was praised by the neighbors, who said that the house might have been badly damaged or destroyed if it had not been for her quick act.

The fire company responded immediately upon the sounding of the alarm.

LUMBER BUSINESS GOOD

67 CARS SENT FROM SPRINGFIELD DURING WEEK

One-third of Shipments Go to Eastern Points, Two-thirds California and South

(Register Lane County Special) SPRINGFIELD, Ore., April 23.—Lumber shipped from Springfield during last week totaled 62 cars, and five cars of fuel were sent out, according to Carl Olson, agent for the S. P. here. This is nearly double the amount shipped a year ago, said Mr. Olson.

About one-third of all shipments went to eastern markets, many of the cars going to Chicago and other points farther west. Two-thirds of the cars went to California. A large part of the lumber sent to California is destined for use in oil fields, while the balance is used in constructing homes and other buildings. Lumber to the east is mostly finished grades for homes and other buildings.

Although there is a lack of open cars for rough lumber, the railroads and planing mills have a good supply available in the near future, stated Mr. Olson.

When the mill at Wendling starts, part of the crew now at work will be transferred there, but this will effect the shipments from Springfield but little, is the opinion of the agent.

DAILY MARKET REPORT

(Oregon Journal Market Service) PORTLAND, Ore., April 23.—Stronger prices are showing in the market for butter, with cubes advanced beyond the usual differential. Country cubes are quoted at a rise of 10 to 12 a pound at 35c for prime first, whole centerline cubes at 35c to 36c per pound, a rise of 10 to 12 a pound.

California prices for the day will practically decide the immediate values on print stock here. Portland butter prices have been practically the low for the country, resulting in distress to butter buyers in territories where higher butter markets are competitors.

There is today a disposition to even up prices here with those of the North, the market for potatoes on Oregon country points. Some of the California buyers of lower prices, although they have some to offer. It appears that the report of a shortage of Idaho shipments to the East was spread for the sole purpose of driving the Oregon market.

SMALL WALNUTS HARD TO SELL. Much trouble is being experienced by the local trade in disposing of small-sized Oregon walnuts. These are being offered at 20c a pound or 2 to 3c below what their best wholesalers, California nuts are best steady.

PORTLAND, Ore., April 23.—These are prices retailers pay wholesalers as not as otherwise noted.

LANE COUNTY BENEFITS BY TIMBER SALE PLANS

Federal Government to Share Here, Says Official

ANNUAL INCOME $102,000

BALDWIN IS FOUND DEAD

NORTH FORK MAN BELIEVED TO HAVE SUICIDED

(Register Lane County Special) Data on the financial value of the timber of the forests of Lane county and the future income that the community is to have from the sale of the government-owned lands was the topic of a talk at the noon luncheon meeting of the Eugene Kiwanis club yesterday by E. H. Hall, examiner of the United States forest department.

The talk of the federal official was a part of the "forest fire prevention week" program that is in progress this week and his argument for the use of all possible precautions to prevent loss by conflagration was along financial lines as one aspect of the heavy annual destruction in the timbered areas by fire.

The forest examiner quoted figures on the future income that will be available for Lane county when the government timber is cut. An amount estimated at $102,000 will be annually paid to the county under the law of 1903 which provides for 25 per cent of the total income from the sale of government timber to go to the county in which it is cut. The annual plan makes provision for the cutting of approximately 214,000,000 feet of timber annually in the Cascade forest.

County to Get Share

With an average price of $2 per thousand, which Mr. Hall stated was a conservative figure, the share for the county would amount to the figure quoted. This annual cutting in the Cascade district will be unlimited as the forest department figured that with the new growth each year that the 214,000,000 feet can be cut without impairing the total supply of standing timber, according to Mr. Hall.

In his talk on the timber supply of the United States the speaker stated that the present stands total 2214 billion feet. Oregon, Washington and California have 1140 billion of this total. In Oregon there is a total of 493 billion feet, one-fifth of the United States and one-third of the Pacific coast, and in Lane county there are 48 billion feet. The Lane county total represents one-eighth of the Oregon timber and one thirty-seventh of the total for the United States. The Cascade forest, the second largest of the federal timber domains, has 134 billion feet of commercial timber, one-third of the total stands of Lane county, the speaker stated.

Figures Are Quoted

In pointing out the future financial income that is to come to Lane county as a result of the cutting and sale of the Cascade timber, Mr. Hall quoted the present tax figures of the county for 1922 as $1,535,753.34, and showed the percentage that will be cut off as a result of the estimated share amounting to $102,000, which will be turned over to the county each year when the timber cutting and sale starts within the next few years. The estimated annual income to the government is 14c 000 but the share to Lane county will be less than the full 25 per cent as a small district of the Cascade forest is in Douglas county. The present annual income to Lane county from the Cascade forest timber sales amounted last year to $155,457, according to the figures of the forest examiner.

Monday is usually a day of limited country killed arrivals here and this was no exception. Sales therefore as high as 16c 10c a pound reflected only the momentary scarcity. Hags just about steady.

POTATO BUYING VERY LIMITED. Very limited business is showing in the market for potatoes on Oregon country points. Some of the California buyers of lower prices, although they have some to offer. It appears that the report of a shortage of Idaho shipments to the East was spread for the sole purpose of driving the Oregon market.

SMALL WALNUTS HARD TO SELL. Much trouble is being experienced by the local trade in disposing of small-sized Oregon walnuts. These are being offered at 20c a pound or 2 to 3c below what their best wholesalers, California nuts are best steady.
