

GAS AND OIL TO BE MADE

HARTMAN SYNDICATE PLANS BIG THINGS FOR OREGON
Small Refinery Set Up Here to Demonstrate What Company Expects to Accomplish

Gas will be supplied to all West-ern Oregon from Ashland to Port-land, if a plan of the Hartman syndicate of Ashland, which is installing a huge plant near that city for the extraction of oil, gas and other products from a main-tain of shale, are carried out. Crude oil with a paraffin base, lamp black and other commodi-ties will also be produced in large quantities, according to the plans of the syndicate.

The company has installed a small refinery at 54 Fifth avenue west of this city to demonstrate the method of extracting the gas and oil from the Ashland shale. E. J. Barrett, representing the syndicate, has charge and last night gave a demonstration before Dr. Warren D. Smith, head of the department of geology at the uni-versity, and a number of members of the geology classes.

Thousands of Acres Controlled
The syndicate owns and controls several thousand acres of this shale rock which lies within six and a half miles of Ashland by air and 13 miles by road, said Mr. Barrett. A big refinery is now on the way from a factory in the East and will be set up on the property as soon as it arrives. A big shipment of other machin-ery recently arrived at Ashland and is being taken to the scene of operations. A road is being built to the properties and when the plant is in complete operation the oil will be piped to Ashland where it will be shipped away by rail, according to the plans of the company.

Tests made by smaller refiners indicate that each of the large refineries to be installed at the "maggins" will turn out 500 bar-rels of oil each 24 hours, besides a million and a quarter cubic feet of gas in excess of that to be used as fuel. After the first refinery is installed the company plans to manufacture the others at the Ashland iron works, which has been taken over for that purpose and many of them will be in-stalled. It is planned to have the first one in operation by October of this year.

Gas Output to Be Big
"The refinery will supply enough gas for the entire state," said Mr. Barrett, "and one can imagine the benefits to accrue to the in-dustrial life of Oregon from this cheap fuel."

From every 1000 cubic feet of gas the syndicate plans to extract one and a half gallons of gasoline and one ounce of lamp black. Every barrel of the crude oil ex-tracted from this shale contains 40 per cent of kerosene, 10 per cent of gas, five per cent of water and the per cent of ammonia and sul-phur, according to analysis.

James Hamilton, American lyric tenor, and the Mizer orchestra was the attraction booked for the evening performance. A large crowd greeted both presentations of the Ellison-White offerings yester-day.

DAILY MARKET REPORT
OREGON JOURNAL MARKET SERVICE
PORTLAND, Ore., June 18.—Trend of the butter trade continues to reflect strength here, although Monday morning prices were generally unchanged. Cube notation is far steeper than prints, al-though the latter are holding relatively well.

There is still an overabundance of off-grade stuff offering from Pacific North-west points. This is the only slow spot in the trade and there is no disposition to hold such stuff for a price. The big question in off-grade butter at this time is to find a buyer. Price appears the least consideration.

Much of the recent strength in the California trade was attributed to the heavy taking by the government. Natu-rally this case northern shippers a chance to market liberal supplies, although only tip-top stuff was in demand from that source.

EGG SITUATION HELD STEADY

Steady trade conditions are shown here in the market for eggs. No change in either buying or selling figures shown for the week's opening at Portland. Re-ceipts continue moderate.

CHEESE DEMAND LESS KEEN
Because of the unfavorable weather for-plotting, a smaller demand is showing for cheese locally. Despite this the tone at primary points is so good that little price shading is indicated.

POULTRY DEMAND FAVORABLE
Favorable demand is shown in all lines of poultry with the continued ex-ception of very light weight hens. The latter are hard to move except at a further shading of prices. All heavy stuff moves quickly.

STRAWBERRY MARKET STRONG
All through the strawberry market strength was shown for Monday. On the East Side Farmers' market sales were at $1.50 to $1.75 generally, the latter for top quality. On front street sales were at $1.75 to $2.00 generally, the latter for shipping quality.

VEAL STRENGTH PRONOUNCED
Pronounced strength was shown for the week's opening of the market for country killed calves. Sales continued at 14c generally for top stuff. Hogs were just about able to hold their own.

Love Leads Them a Merry Chase

Lord Northesk and Jessica Deane

David Carnegie, Earl of Northesk, England, and Miss Jessica Deane, former "Follies" dancer, of Buffalo, N. Y., have learned for themselves the truth of the old saw that true love never runs smoothly. The Earl came to the United States to wed the winsome Jessica, whom he had met and with whom he had fallen in love during her London appearance, but the couple were denied a marriage license by an ob-scure bureau clerk in New York on the ground her first husband, Cyril, doubt as to the legality of Jessica's divorce. Then Cyril himself appeared on the DeWitt Reinhardt, in Illinois. Then Cyril himself appeared on the scene, with the declaration that Jessica was "not yet through" with her him, and threatened action against the dancer if she weds. Her divorce decree, he said, is not legal. The Earl and Jessica have planned to go to Canada for the wedding; it is said.

Good Bread is Health Insurance

MEDICAL authorities tell us that one child out of every three is suffering from malnutrition—a condition brought about by the lack of proper foods.

Unless children eat plentifully of the foods containing the necessary vital elements, they easily succumb to this dangerous condition. Yet, surprising as it might seem to some, good bread—bread such as BETSY ROSS—contains a greater abundance of all these necessary elements than any other single food.

BETSY ROSS bread is high in the carbohydrates, the proteins, the iron—in fact all of the properties the body needs for healthy growth. Why, bread supplies 45% of all the energy needed by the body.

Yet, because there are so many opportunities to substitute inferior materials for the best, there are many grades of bread. Because of this great difference, if you choose BETSY ROSS you choose wisely, for no bread can be higher in food-value. Always ask for it by name. Don't say "bread"—say BETSY ROSS.
