

YOUNG MEN HONORED BY LUTHERAN LEAGUE... Illusen Elected President at Convention... MEETINGS CLOSE TODAY... E. Tingstad of Luther College, Decorah, Iowa, is Special Speaker... Corneliusen, president of the Lutheran League, was named president of the Lutheran Young Men's Association of Oregon for the coming year at the business meeting of the association yesterday morning.

Discussion of possibility of church union took up the main portion of yesterday's business. In addition to the nomination and election of new officers, both Rev. M. A. Christensen, of Portland, who spoke on "One Lutheran Church, Why?" and Rev. C. Skartved, of La Center, Washington, who spoke on "One Lutheran Church in America, How?" were optimistic concerning an eventual union of the church now in the United States. The speakers, however, urged their hearers to retain their fundamental faith and not to be over-anxious for hasty union. Professor E. Tingstad, of Luther college, Decorah, Iowa, was a special speaker on the afternoon program, bringing greetings to the convention from his college. His subject was "Education and Lutheran Colleges."

Care furnished by the local chamber of commerce took the visitors and delegates for a short sight-seeing tour about the city after the afternoon's session while an ice cream social and general reception for the visitors was given last night. Officers Are Chosen... Discussion in the morning business meeting centered about restoration of the league's funds which were lost when the State bank at Portland failed recently. A motion to compel the treasurer of the society to stand the loss was made but was lost after a warm argument.

Historical Truth in Text Books Favored... Educational Association on Record Here... Resolution is Adopted... Student Participation in Problems of School Government and Achievements Wanted... In a resolution passed at the last meeting yesterday afternoon the annual educational conference at the University those in attendance at the conference expressed themselves unanimously in favor of accurate and truthful presentation of historical facts in text books of student participation in problems of school government and of the use of intelligence and achievement tests in the schools of the state. The resolution follows: "At this time, when the value of education are being questioned by the public as never before, we express our faith in the continuing and rapid development of our public school system, its increasing field for useful service, and its steady progress toward such objectives as health, scholarship, vocational skill, appreciation of society, democracy and good-will. Education Cost Increases... We recognize the increasing cost of public education, but believe that its value fully justifies an increased expenditure. In view of the eight million dollars for motion pictures, seventeen million for tobacco, and one hundred million for upkeep of automobiles spent in Oregon in the last year, a steady increase over the eighteen million for education is not unreasonable. Any effort to develop confidence in our government and history at the expense of absolute truth will be detrimental to our progress toward the highest ideals of American citizenship. We must depend for the facts of history upon those who have had lifetime opportunity to make research in original sources and are trained in making accurate appraisals of the value of their sources. Any attempts to build up false impressions in regard to men or events will destroy the faith of our students in the sincerity of our teaching and will in the end be likely to increase radicalism. We endorse the present trend in school administration to put more faith in the ability and ability of the average high school student to participate in responsibilities of school affairs. There seems to be no disposition of the students to assume the responsibilities of general discipline, but there is a real desire to co-operate with the problems within the field of their interests. Achievement Tests Favored... We recommend that the larger school systems of the state co-operate in the use of some standard intelligence and achievement tests. The primary value of their results will be to aid the teacher in being more helpful in the direction of class work. We commend the department of education of the University of Oregon for calling this educational conference, and fully believe that this meeting of educators annually is productive of the highest benefits to the state. In his address before the morning session of the conference, Superintendent W. J. Cooper, of Fresno, Calif., spoke on the subject of "Education for Effective Citizenship," and urged more practical civic courses in the high schools; courses that will train and prepare the boy and girl for lives of active and interested citizenship. Round-table discussion of school problems and short talks by principals and superintendents on achievements of the past year in their particular districts featured the afternoon session.

MILL RUMORS AFLOAT... ANOTHER PLANT MAY BE BUILT AT OAKRIDGE... Reported That Hills Brothers Buy Level Tract for Outside Interests... Attorney L. E. Bean, of this city, former member of the state game and fish commission who has just returned from a trip to Oakridge in company with State Fish Warden Carl Shumaker and Fish Commissioners Kendall and Schmitt, said yesterday that there are rumors that the Penn-Timber company of Pennsylvania, which owns many thousand feet of timber back of Oakridge, and the Wheeler brothers, newspaper men of Portland, soon will erect a large sawmill on the flat between Oakridge and the Willamette river and Salmon creek. The tract of 190 acres or more has been purchased in the name of Jasper and Charles Hills, of Oakridge, who say they have made the purchase as an investment, but Mr. Bean said that the belief is very strong that outside interests are behind the deal. It is also rumored, said Mr. Bean, that if a sawmill is built there a logging railway will be built up the main river. The National extension survey extends up Salt creek across a divide from the Willamette. The logging railway if built would tap some of the large tracts of timber controlled by the Penn company and the Wheelers. Mr. Bean said that Oakridge is beginning to put on an air of great activity. Every day big shipments of supplies for the engineers who will be engaged in the survey of the Natron cutoff are arriving there and George H. Kelly, who is to erect a large mill below Oakridge, is beginning to ship in supplies. It is expected that a crew of Southern Pacific engineers will arrive there Monday to start the work. It was reported that 23 will be in the party.

RAIL PROJECT IS HELD UP... MOSS STREET PAVING WORK IS DELAYED... Work on the construction of the new Moss street railway line is being held up until the street paving project is under way. The paving contract is held by the American Paving company and the street was plowed up last year in preparation for starting work but the project was abandoned until this summer. Local railway officials, anxious to re-open the Portland car line which has been closed for some time, are making efforts to have the paving contract action on the job. Many residents of the Fairmount district are inconvenienced through the suspension of the car service and the railway officials are also hindered in completing the line until the street paving work is started, is the report.
