HARRISBURG NEWS NOTES (Special to the Register) — Two local business enterprises have undergone changes in management during the past week.

The undertaking firm of Wright and Poole has dissolved partnership and hereafter W. L. Wright, of this city, will have charge here and of the service at Halsey while Chas. P. Poole, of Lebanon, will look after the business there.

Brownsville and in the Sweet Home territory. This undertaking firm has been operating in all these places the past several years, the main headquarters being at Lebanon, Brownsville and here.

The other business affected the past week is the Coxy confectionery which has changed hands quite often. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gates, who came here from Cottage Grove about six months ago to assume the business, are moving back to the Grove, and give notice that the store will be closed July 10.

The fire discovered Wednesday evening of last week in the country northeast of town proved to be a large shed on the McCull, farm and in which a grain separator belonging to Mike Bannish, east of town, was burned up. Besides some hay and also another separator, several other articles were consumed in the blaze which resulted in damage to the extent of about $1500 which is partly covered by insurance.

Postmaster and Mrs. J. T. Anderson, Fulton Jackson and Willam Duncan, the last two the rural mail carriers here, were in Portland over the Fourth in attendance at the meeting there that day of Oregon postmasters at which President Harding addressed the postmasters, and John Bartlett, assistant to the postmaster general, presided.

Tom McClain arrived home Tuesday from Penitentiary where he has been employed with an implement firm for the past three months. Tom has met with more than his share of accidents while at work there. He arrived home with is arm in a sling. It was broken while cranking his Ford. About two weeks previously he suffered three broken ribs, and a month ago he had several bones in his left hand broken through accident.

DAILY MARKET REPORT

OREGON JOURNAL MARKET SERVICE PORTLAND, Ore., July 6.—Portland market in overstocked with all grades of butter and as a result the market is slow and groggy. Until today there was merely an overabundance of off-grade stock, but now there appears to be plenty of good butter receipts of the poorer stuff continue to arrive, and unless somebody comes along and takes this butter off the market, a price decline is almost certain to result.

There is also a very weak undertone in the cheese market, and if the Eastern market shows any weakness prices on all Oregon made cheese will have to come down.

The egg market is also in a rather unsteady condition, with good henery stock being weak. Prices, however, are unchanged.

POULTRY PRICES FIRM UP As a result of a temporary scarcity, due to Fourth of July holiday, poultry prices firmed up a little during the day. Some of the houses did not advance, as they expected a glut of stuff by Monday, but others asked 25c for heavy hens and 15c for lights.

GOOD VEAL SCARCER ARTICLE Good veal was a scarce article on front street during the day, and as a result it was asked for top stuff. Heavy receipts were also very light, causing top blockers to sell at 12c. Heavy stuff not wanted.

CANTALOUPE RECEIPTS HEAVY Overnight cantaloupe receipts were heavy, with quality none too good. Some of the cars were in such bad shape that brokers were forced to consign. Good stuff was sold, however. Front street was generally asking $2.25 for standards, $2.25 for pointers and $1.40 for flats.

POTATO MARKETS BETTER Potato markets are in a little better shape than they were a week ago. Dealers have sold nearly all their high priced California stuff and at market prices. Old crop is moving out well at $1.25, with good quality new crop bringing as high as $3.
