EUGENE GIRL TELLS HOW SHE ESCAPED CAPTURE

Party Prevents Miss Auld From Going on Train

RETURNS FROM ORIENT

Story of Bandit Raid on Train in China and Reporter's Scoop Is Related

In days of old maids were wont to take a journey while by the wayside bandits, with long knives and a desire for the gold of ransom lay in wait to capture the ladies fair and hold them prisoner until friendly suitors in the form of tribute. That such was almost the case not later than last May is the tale of Miss Lillian Auld, recently returned to her home in Eugene from a nine months' tour to the Orient, where press dispatches for several days had she and her companion held captive by bandits who wrecked an American train, captured 19 United States citizens and set international affairs agog until the Americans were released.

Just a meagre half-hour prevented Miss Auld, her aunt and traveling companion, Mrs. L. A. Beaton, and Miss Ellen Fleming, friend from Manila, from being on the ill-fated train. All plans had been made to leave Shanghai for Peking when a sudden desire to attend a social function led to the temporary postponement of the trip. But the news of delay was not sent in far enough ahead and when the train departed, it bore on the compartment doors the names of the three women. Consequently when an enterprising American newspaper man had stealthily made his escape from the bandit party and returned to the train for a "scoop" he jotted down on an envelope all names on compartment doors including those of Miss Auld and her companions. Thus their names went out in the first dispatches as among the captured Americans. It was several days before we came here, announcing that they were safe and had not been among the bandits' captives.

Women Are Respected
 "The Chinese bandit isn't at all the conventional type of outlaw," said Miss Auld last night. "He is quite overawed by the American women for whom he professes a marked respect, freeing all of the female members of his captive party as soon as he was able. The bandits seemed unable to know how to treat these strange prisoners."

"Yes, the affair shortened our trip," Miss Auld continued, when asked of the reaction of the raid upon her part. "But to show the difference—my aunt said, 'My, what will happen with all this going on and these two ladies in my charge?' But a reporter whom we knew was gloating in the fact that he had fallen heir to an unquestioned scoop of momentous importance."

This very reporter had been captured and by a plot which reads like a second-rate novel, had made his escape. He used the idea of the untied shoestring, kept falling behind the main force of bandits and when occasion offered, fell into a convenient ditch from which he wriggled his way to a safe position. He then made haste to the wrecked train, got the names and was off with the biggest story of the year."

Nine months were spent on the tour taken by Miss Auld, who made the journey as a graduation gift from her aunt, Mrs. L. A. Beaton, who accompanied her. Miss Auld finished the University of Oregon in 1922.

Five months were spent in the Philippines, several weeks in China and about a fortnight in Japan. Japanese Children Educated
 "Children are what impresses one in Japan," said Miss Auld. "Everywhere Japan abounds in bright-faced children and the remarkable part of it is that they are all literate, accomplished in reading and writing. We found no one without elementary education in Japan."

On their return to the United States, Miss Auld and Mrs. Beaton were passengers on the Maru, sailing from Yokohama, Japan. On the vessel were 300 Russian refugees, among them being many Russians of noble birth. Princess Kruputsk was the featured member of the group.

Miss Auld has made no plans for the future but says she may make use of her experiences and do some writing. She is now at home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Auld, 1057 Patterson street.

SWIMMING IS POPULAR

Swimming is proving to be the popular sport of the playgrounds children in Eugene. About 135 youngsters, enrolled in the different classes, are enjoying the swimming at the university and Y. M. C. A. pools.

Nearly 250 children have registered on the playgrounds, with an average daily attendance of 100. Special features for the different age groups are being arranged by the instructors. Each Saturday afternoon something special will be arranged for the small children, five to eight years of age. The Junior high and high school girls are invited to come, between 4:30 and 5:30, for indoor baseball. Folk dancing for the older girls, 11 to 15, will be given afternoons, beginning at four o'clock. Track work for the boys is also arranged for the late afternoon.

The boys' playgrounds are open are nine to 12 in the morning and 2:30 to 5:30 in the afternoon. Mothers are requested not to send their children before or after these hours, as there is no instructor on the grounds except during the above hours.

FOURTH IS PROFITLESS

LEGION TO MEET MONTHLY DURING SUMMER
 Due to the fact that several committees have not as yet submitted bills to the general assembly, the American Legion Fourth of July celebration cannot be closed but it is believed that expenditures will practically equal receipts. This fact was brought out at the regular meeting of the legion held last night in the chamber of commerce hall. About $2800 was received from contributions, concessions and athletic events, the report of the treasurer showed.

Warm weather has played a hand in reducing attendance at the legion's meeting so it was decided last night to have but one meeting a month during the remainder of the summer, August 9 being set as the date for the next gathering of legionnaires.

The legion went on record as desiring to thank individuals not members of the local association, who helped during the recent celebration. They also passed a resolution to be forwarded to K. K. Kubil, of Portland, in thanks for his speech in Eugene.

The order of business for the next meeting will include the selection of delegates to attend the state convention which will be at Seaside, September 16, 17 and 18.

GEORGE W. LASATER SAYS WIFE DREW MONEY OUT

Seeks Divorce on Account of Cruel and Inhuman Treatment—L. C. Helmer Given Decree

George W. Lasater yesterday instituted suit in circuit court against Vivian L. Lasater for divorce, alleging cruel and inhuman treatment. They were married in Eugene February 12, 1922, and the plaintiff alleges that soon after marriage his wife began to neglect him, refused to cook his meals, drew from the bank all the money he had and drew overdraft checks on his account. Walter B. Jones is attorney for the plaintiff. L. C. Helmer was given a divorce from Nellis Helmer. They were married at Hoop River August 1, 1907, and have the following children: James, 15; Donald, 14; Clifford, 12; Leslie, 10; Loran, 6 and Cecil, 3, whose care and custody were given to the father. The plaintiff testified that his wife struck him, and frequently deserted him.

The Bank of Commerce yesterday began suit against Ira F. Rehmen to recover money on two promissory notes, one for $100 with interest at the rate of eight per cent per annum from January 15, 1923, and the other for $150 with eight per cent per annum from December 16, 1922. Young and Ray are attorneys for the bank. Mrs. Amelia Shacklett was given a default judgment against Thomas M. Horn and Gilbert F. Cook in the sum of $2250 with six per cent interest from April 30, 1922.

'RED ENEMY' TO BE SEEN

NEW FILM MADE IN OREGON AND WASHINGTON

Entirely New Departure in Government Pictures and Will Be Popular

"Red Enemy" is the title of a new department of agriculture motion picture film. It is an entirely new departure in government films and it is predicted that it will be very popular. The story was filmed in Oregon and Washington last fall and has many beautiful scenic effects, besides carrying a large footage of logging, sawmill and industrial scenes of the Northwest. Throughout the film, which is a two-reeler, runs a story of a camping party and a thoughtless homesteader who sets his brush afire. It has airplane views, logging paper mills, a fire lookout station and a real forest fire.

The film will be shown by the forest service at the Heilig theatre at the regular afternoon and evening performance Saturday.

The film was made possible by the early cooperation of the Western Forestry and Conservation association, state foresters and forest protective agencies who, with to forest service, secured the film last September. The film is said to have a wide popular appeal for the Northwest and it is predicted that it will be in demand in motion picture houses as well as by forest protective associations, schools, churches and boy scouts. The film will be distributed also by the department of agriculture and may be requisitioned by county agents along with other department films.

PRINTERS PLAN OUTING

VALLEY ASSOCIATION MEETS AT STAFFORD GROVE

The Willamette Valley Typographic association, composed of printers from Salem, Albany, Corvallis and Eugene, will hold its regular business meeting at the Stafford school house grove on the Mohawk 10 miles above Eugene, Sunday.

It is expected that quite a delegation of the printers from the other three valley cities will be here to join the local union men, and, according to established custom, their families will be brought along.

A business session will be held after a basket dinner is served and it is probable that there will be a program and as the Mohawk is a good place in which to swim, the visitors are urged to bring their bathing suits.

INTEREST IN STORE SOLD

W. B. SCOTT SELLS OUT AT DEXTER TO SON-IN-LAW

Nathan A. Chaffee has bought the half interest of his father-in-law, W. B. Scott, in the general store at Dexter and hereafter will operate it alone, according to announcement of Mr. Scott, who was in the city yesterday.

Mr. Scott and Mr. Chaffee bought the store a year ago last January and have been operating it jointly ever since, doing a fine business. Mr. Scott will devote his entire time and attention to his Fall Creek store, where he has established a business that is conceded to be one of the best in the county.

A Masterpiece of Realism, Says the New York Mail

"There are two outstanding features in the new William Fox picture. One is the superlative performance of a small boy, and the other is a marvelous storm and flood effect. It is a masterpiece of realism, so vivid that one expects the theatre to be swept away in the path of the raging torrent. It is a tremendous thing—that storm—with an entire town built for the purpose, completely destroyed by the flood. This picture is done with real power."—New York Evening Mail.
