DAILY MARKET REPORT

OREGON JOURNAL MARKET SERVICE
PORTLAND, Ore., July 16.—With production holding up unusually good, the market for butter today is inclined to be erratic and in spots somewhat sluggish. Cube butter market situation shows an unusual spread between so-called state extra and continental of prices, due mostly to the mixture of quality. Buyers are bidding around 38c per pound for real state extra, although asking 39-40-1-2c for their own product. For extra cubes the price runs down to 34c a pound, with buyers inclined to halt even at that. Storage operations in the butter trade are of considerable volume with an oversupply generally shown. Different cubes and country cubes in the market are somewhat excessive at this time, a condition not at all justified as regards the slight difference in quality of the two offerings.
