recalls to us how warm and real and lovable and divine a thing it is to be just human and happy.

Mary achieves another unde-niable success in which she turns sadness into gladness, darkness into sunshine, hate into love.

Brought back to bring good cheer, warmth and gladness into every heart.

Auto Topics

A short circuit not only means diminished power, but is a probable cause of fire. Ferret out a "short" as soon as you have any reason to suspect one. It pays in lower battery upkeep, increased power, and may save your car from total loss by fire.

There are other common causes of fire, some of which cannot be easily detected.
Even a minor blaze in your car or garage means an outlay of cash for repairs.
It is wise to insure your car against such loss.

At City Auto Camp

Oregon Food Is Liked.
Detroiters Fond of Berries.
Texas People Seek Home.
Outdoors Is Attractive.

Visiting with the attractiveness of Oregon's scenery and climate are the berries, vegetables and fruits that are so easily obtained at this time of year. Tourists, especially those from the East, are amazed not only at the lusciousness of the food, but at the reasonable prices charged for it. Oregonians are prone to slight such foods as loganberries, raspberries and cherries at this time of the season, but to the tired travelers these are the most delectable of all entrees.

And so, on nearly every table fresh fruits and vegetables occupy the plate of honor.

Two cars of tourists from Detroit were especially enthusiastic of the berries and vegetables that their "men folks" brought over from town. "They are so cheap that we were loaded to the guards before we realized how much we needed," said Edward Stief, head of the party, "but we'll just eat and eat until everything's gone." A huge dish of raspberries was fast disappearing while they talked, as most tourists do, about what a "wonderful country Oregon is" and "how we'd like to come here to live!" Others in the party are Mrs. Edward Stief, W. E. Hannes and wife and Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Riley. They are now traveling south, after a month spent in Washington and British Columbia. Like all travelers should, they are just loitering along the way, and "will be satisfied if we reach home by the time the snow comes."

C. C. Swanson brought his family down to the Willamette valley with the definite intention of settling here, and so is looking for the most suitable place. "Of course I like it or I wouldn't have made up my mind to stay here," he says. Mr. Swanson wants a place where schools are good, and if he doesn't settle in or near Eugene, he is coming here when the youngsters are ready for the university. The Swansons came from Everett, Washington, where they had made their home for over 12 years.

Another prospective settler is J. B. Leggett, who brought his wife and daughter, Margaret, here from Fort Worth, Texas. Mr. Leggett isn't looking for what he terms "work" and has decided that a little place of five or ten acres where he can keep a few chickens and raise his own potatoes would satisfy him. His daughter, who is now in high school, has already ambitious to attend a real university, which may bring them to a decision to stay near here.
They have been through here once before, about six weeks ago, and since that time, have thoroughly explored Washington. "Oregon was all right," says Mrs.
Leggett, "but we can't decide what part to pick out." The next few days will be spent in looking around here, and if they can find a place, their travels will be over for the year.

"Oshkosh, b'gosh!" replied Geo.
P. Hotchkiss, when asked his home. The famous overalls are made in his city, but that is but one of the minor attractions of the thriving little city in Wisconsin, he says. Mr. and Mrs. Hotchkiss have been on the road for six weeks, and proudly boast that they have eaten every meal outdoors and have slept every night in the open, with but a stretch of canvas over them. "I don't think we'll ever sleep inside again," says Mrs. Hotchkiss, "at least we'll have to build a sleeping porch, and an outside breakfast nook." "Yes, and I'll build you a camp stove out in the yard," her husband laughingly said. But both seemed to have such happy dispositions that it is to be believed that they will be just as contented and satisfied when they are again living in a real home. They are now bound for Washington, and after visiting relatives in Seattle, will take in Rainier and Glacier parks before starting the voyage back.

A long and thick watermelon was occupying the attention of the Schafer and Winderberry families, and all declared it was the best melon they had ever split open.
Between bites they explained that they were out from Mt. Vernon, Iowa, on a tour to educate the children, and incidentally to have a good time. They dwell on the wonders of Yellowstone park, as all do who have come through it, and were enchanted by the Columbia river drive, of course. "It's the best geography lesson in the world for the kids," says Mr.
Schafer, "and we're all learning a lot too." They have been as far north as Vancouver, and intend to touch Mexico on the way home. No trouble has bothered them, and their cars have performed so faithfully that none is expected. They will stay at the camp over today and perhaps tomorrow to rest up and to wash their clothes for the spin on down south.

Working, Wyoming, has only a few hundred inhabitants, but it has its share of motor cars, and a great many people from there are now on the road, says G. W.
Tallon, who is here with his family. The country, which is dependent on cattle for its prosperity, is again reviving, Mr. Worling says, hence the exodus of vacationists.
The Worlings are on their way to Long Beach, where they will stay a few weeks before going back to the cattle country.

Northbound travelers from California last night at the camp included J. M. Green, of San Luis Obispo; G. E. Williams and family of Los Angeles; J. H. Jahn and wife, of Oakland; H. W. Maxwell, of Oakland. Southbound were E.
J. Suppers and family, of Seattle, who will tour for two weeks; R.
S. Scholtes, of Seattle, who will visit friends in Long Beach for the rest of the summer, and T. N.
Leonard and wife, of Spokane, bound for Crater lake.

MAYR'S WONDERFUL REMEDY FOR STOMACH TROUBLE

ONE DOSE WILL CONVINCE

Rich Bachelor Wants Wife
"Many people have blamed me for not getting married.
Since childhood I have suffered from stomach and liver trouble, never being able to get any medicine or doctor to help me. Now that Mayr's Wonderful Remedy has entirely cured me, I am anxious to get a wife." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded.—At All
