UNDERWOOD READY TO PUT RAT IN RING

Republican tariff has throttled that industry to death.

An "over-production of bureaucracy" is one of the evils confronting the country, he declared.

Senator Underwood said he had been designated by some critics as a "wet" but that he objected to a government being run by nicknames. So far as he was concerned, he said, the decision of the country on the proposed amendment, which he had opposed, was final.

"Now that it is a part of our law, I am in favor of its enforcement," he declared.
