TALES OF QUAKE HORROR TOLD BY MRS. H. MADDEN

Hemenways of Cottage Grove Hear From Daughter

KOREANS ROB VICTIMS

Mrs. Madden Says Chinese Residents Showed Elation Over the Plight of the Japanese

(Register Lane County Special) COTTAGE GROVE, Ore., Sept. 19.—Some new light is thrown upon conditions following the recent catastrophe in Japan in a letter which Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Hemenway, of this city, have received from their daughter, Mrs. Harvey Madden, who in company with her husband arrived at Yokohama the day following the earthquake.

Mrs. Madden states that the immediate suffering and the horrors that followed could hardly be exaggerated. The Maddens were not permitted to land. The boat, Empress of Canada, was not permitted to even go inside the breakwater. Refugees taken onto the vessel brought such tales of horror that Mrs. Madden hoped that they would not be even permitted to land at Kobe, where Mr. Madden's parents reside.

Koreans Robbed Hapless Victims The restraining influence of the police and military being lifted for the time, passions of every kind ran riot and members of one nationality took advantage of the situation to even scores with another nationality. The Chinese showed elation over the plight of the Japs, but did not resort to such acts of violence as did Koreans, who murdered, mutilated and robbed helpless Japs. So bold and so vicious were the Koreans that practically every crime, even to the poisoning of the water, was charged against them and retaliatory measures were taken by the Japs. One Korean was tied to a post, where he was held and beaten intermittently for several days. It was thought that he was left to suffer until death came to his relief.

Foreigners told conflicting tales of how they were treated by the natives. Some had only the highest praise for the kindness of the Japanese, while others told of being severely mistreated. Because of the scarcity of food and supplies, natives resented the presence of so many foreigners and strenuously objected to the landing of others to become a further burden upon the available supplies.

Consul and Wife Murdered The deliberate shooting of the English consul and his wife is confirmed by Mrs. Madden's letter.

Mrs. Madden graphically repeats many of the tales of the refugees. They buried themselves in mud, in vile water and in anything else that offered protection from the terrific heat of the burning ruins of the destroyed city. Yokohama was for a time in total darkness because of the dust raised by the opening and shutting of the earth and by the falling plaster and debris. Men of war of the Japanese navy were left stranded when the earth raised under them, while Yokohama harbor was deepened 40 feet.

Criminals escaped from the penal institutions and for a time had free rein in looting the de-

DAILY MARKET REPORT

OREGON JOURNAL MARKET SERVICE PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 20.—While occasional sales of select eggs are reported by small operators as low as 45c a dozen for selected stock, most sellers continue to obtain 47c for their best supplies, and demand at that is even better than current supply.

The association price of 45c a dozen for its warehouse door delivery and cash payment is firmly held, according to an announcement made by Manager Dixon.

BUTTER TRADE ACTIVE HERE

Very active trading in cube butter is shown locally as a result of the recent advance in Northern prices. No change is shown here. There is no accumulation of quality stock in the local territory.

PEACH TRADE QUITE ERRATIC

Quite erratic trade is showing for peaches in the local market with Portland being utilized as a dumping ground for much overripe stock. Sales show a wide spread, although first-class peaches are held steady.

CHERRY SALES START WELL

Sale of cherries is starting well here as a result of the unusually good quality. Most of the business in late varieties is at $5.50 per third barrel, with early blacks 50¢ to 75¢ lower.

NUZ PRICES SHOWING STRONG

Somewhat stronger tone is shown for new crop nuts. California co-operative interests have forced an additional half-cent rise over opening figures, while Brazils are up 3c a pound generally.

ONION SALES STRICTLY LOCAL

Only the Pacific Northwest section is today sufficiently high to admit of business in onions here. California values are lower than Portland, therefore, no sales can be made to the South. Trade showed no price changes for the day.
