

GRANGE PLANS SUPPORT FOR STATE INCOME TAX

Mass Meeting to Be Held Here This Month

GOVERNOR MAY SPEAK

Dr. James S. Gilbert, of University of Oregon, Will Address Gathering

Plans for the holding of a mass meeting in this city to support the state income tax, which will be the issue at the special election in November, were made yesterday at a meeting of the executive committee of the Pomona grange of Lane county.

The meeting will be held either October 30 or 31, according to E. J. Ward, master of the grange. The place has not yet been selected, but it will probably be either the armory or the rooms of the chamber of commerce, the grangers report.

Dr. James H. Gilbert, head of the department of economics of the University of Oregon, who has been active in support of the income tax law, will speak at the meeting. An invitation will also be extended to Governor Walter M. Pierce to speak at the gathering.

According to the grange committee, who report that expectations are that the chief executive will accept.

Campaign Is Started

The Pomona grange represents about 1600 farmers of Lane county and the organization is making a strong campaign to have the referendum on the tax measure defeated at the polls.

Practically every grange in the state has gone on record as favoring the income tax law, the grange officials report.

The purpose of the mass meeting is to acquaint the voters with the provisions of the bill and to explain its advantages as a means of equalizing the tax burden which at present is declared by the grange officials to rest too heavily on the agrarian interests of the state, the executive committee reports.

The executive committee of the Lane county Pomona grange is composed of E. J. Ward, Irving, master; A. C. Miller, Goshon, H. C. Wheeler, Pleasant Hill, and W. R. Wing, Irving.

DRY ENFORCEMENT JOB OF GOVERNORS

(Continued from Page One)

the sale of narcotic drugs. This use, except under the supervision of competent medical advice, is everywhere regarded as attended with grave danger, usually resulting in lamentable disaster. The effective protection of the people from these results depends on our ability to prevent the smuggling and unlawful sale of such narcotics.

Their use is, in part, perhaps due to physical weakness, and in part to lack of moral stamina, but their abuse is almost wholly a result of violations of the law. If the law can be enforced, need for local inspectors and police, the national secret service and enforcement officers can cope with the smugglers and the wholesalers, but the peddlers and retailers can be successfully suppressed without the assistance of state and municipal police.

Illicit Liquor Another Problem

The other problem which I wish to lay before you is that of intoxicating liquors. The 18th amendment was proposed by congress in 1917 and its ratification proclaimed in January, 1919. It prohibits the manufacture, sale or transportation and the importation and exportation of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes.

States' Responsibility Plain

Neither the amendment nor the prohibition act undertakes to relieve the states of their responsibility relative to intoxicating liquors, but on the other hand the amendment confers jurisdiction upon them and the prohibition act authorizes state and local prosecution.

Robberies and Holdups

When robberies and hold-ups are so prevalent, take care to have as little cash as possible about the home or on the person. Open a checking account and let this bank guard your money.

Then pay your bills by check. It is the safe and convenient way. Come in and let us explain the many advantages. If you have idle funds to which you expect to use shortly, and which could not be placed profitably in either a checking or savings account, call and leave your money with us and we will issue you a demand certificate of deposit. Issued in any amount at any time without charge.

Bank of Commerce Friendly and Willing cutting attorneys to bring injunction proceedings, in any court having equity powers, in the name of the United States.

"The national prohibition act places the duty of its enforcement on the commissioner of internal revenue, his assistants and inspectors. In accordance therewith there is an assistant commissioner in direct charge of prohibition enforcement and there are prohibition agents and inspectors in each state. Correspondent provisions will be found in nearly all state laws.

The constitution and the laws of the nation and of the several states are binding alike upon all the inhabitants. It is the constitution which we have given our oaths to support—the responsibility which we have assumed to enforce the law faithfully executed; and that the state constitutions lay a similar obligation upon their governors.

Should Know of Duties Imposed

"The constitution and the laws are perfectly plain, and the directions which they contain to the President and the governors are equally plain. The country ought to know all this. It ought to comprehend that when laws have been made, there is, and can be, no question about duty of executives to enforce them with such instruments and by such means as the law provides for securing enforcement. They have no alternatives. They cannot be criticized for doing their duty. This is not a personal question. If there be any principle which has been established by time, by common consent, by the unqualified assertion of fundamental and statute law it is that executives are the law enforcing officers of this nation. If this were not so, there would be no warrant for the present gathering. I can conceive of but one opinion on this, in which every responsible element must concur.

Binding on Every Inhabitant

"No provision of the 18th amendment, or the national prohibition act contemplates any surrender of state responsibility. Under the prohibition becomes obligatory in all states, for the constitution and the laws made in pursuance thereof are specifically declared by the federal constitution to be the supreme law of the land. They are binding upon every inhabitant. But there still remains to the states the power, specifically reserved in the 15th amendment to pass enforcing acts and there is still on them a joint responsibility to enact and execute enforcement laws, which may not always be exercised, but which can never be avoided. The complementary duty to enforcement of the law is obedience to the law. That rests with the people themselves. The 18th amendment prohibits manufacture, transportation, sale, export and import. These are the commercial activities. Trade in intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes is especially denounced. It is in this field that most of the difficulty exists. The main problem arises from those who are bent on making money in illegal traffic in intoxicating liquors. If this could be eliminated the rest would be easy.

Must Take Problem to People

"These problems must be taken directly to the American people. This government is their government. These laws are their laws. They have formed their government and enacted their laws, with all due solemnity to promote their welfare and protect their liberties. They are not a nation of inebriates; they are not a people who can be charged with being hypocrites. They have no patience with anarchy. They are sober, frank and candid people. They have respect and reverence for duly constituted authority. To the law is a rule of actions. These fundamental national characteristics are not going to be changed. These fundamental conceptions are going to remain permanent and unchangeable.

The great body of the people are thoroughly law-abiding. This great law-abiding element of the nation is entitled to support and protection.

Vouchsafes Federal Support

"I propose to give that support and protection to the limit, provided by the constitution and the law of the land, against every lawless element. The executives are required to enforce the law. The machinery for the enforcement of the law is thus supplied by the acts of congress and the acts of the state legislatures. That machinery must be used to the full extent of its capacity to secure the enforcement of the law. It is certainly in my own purpose so to use it. The people are going to continue to yield obedience to the law. This principle will continue to prevail. Whenever the American people shall pass judgment upon it, because it is the foundation of all their institutions.

Obedience to Law Expected

"We can only make progress with these problems by their frank and candid consideration. They are not going to be decided by prejudices. They are not going to be answered as a result of political intrigue. They are not going to be determined by extremists on either side.

They are not going to be solved in accordance with any sordid motive. They will yield to the calm and clear judgment of the American people, through a determined expression of their high moral purpose. The law represents the voice of the people. Behind it and supporting it is a divine sanction. Enforcement of the law and obedience to law by the very nature of our institutions are not matters of choice in this republic, but the expression of a moral requirement of living in accordance with the truth. They are clothed with a spiritual significance in which is revealed the life or the death of the American ideal of self-government."

porting it is a divine sanction. Enforcement of the law and obedience to law by the very nature of our institutions are not matters of choice in this republic, but the expression of a moral requirement of living in accordance with the truth. They are clothed with a spiritual significance in which is revealed the life or the death of the American ideal of self-government."

"The national prohibition act places the duty of its enforcement on the commissioner of internal revenue, his assistants and inspectors. In accordance therewith there is an assistant commissioner in direct charge of prohibition enforcement and there are prohibition agents and inspectors in each state. Correspondent provisions will be found in nearly all state laws.

The constitution and the laws of the nation and of the several states are binding alike upon all the inhabitants. It is the constitution which we have given our oaths to support—the responsibility which we have assumed to enforce the law faithfully executed; and that the state constitutions lay a similar obligation upon their governors.

Should Know of Duties Imposed

"The constitution and the laws are perfectly plain, and the directions which they contain to the President and the governors are equally plain. The country ought to know all this. It ought to comprehend that when laws have been made, there is, and can be, no question about duty of executives to enforce them with such instruments and by such means as the law provides for securing enforcement. They have no alternatives. They cannot be criticized for doing their duty. This is not a personal question. If there be any principle which has been established by time, by common consent, by the unqualified assertion of fundamental and statute law it is that executives are the law enforcing officers of this nation. If this were not so, there would be no warrant for the present gathering. I can conceive of but one opinion on this, in which every responsible element must concur.

Binding on Every Inhabitant

"No provision of the 18th amendment, or the national prohibition act contemplates any surrender of state responsibility. Under the prohibition becomes obligatory in all states, for the constitution and the laws made in pursuance thereof are specifically declared by the federal constitution to be the supreme law of the land. They are binding upon every inhabitant. But there still remains to the states the power, specifically reserved in the 15th amendment to pass enforcing acts and there is still on them a joint responsibility to enact and execute enforcement laws, which may not always be exercised, but which can never be avoided. The complementary duty to enforcement of the law is obedience to the law. That rests with the people themselves. The 18th amendment prohibits manufacture, transportation, sale, export and import. These are the commercial activities. Trade in intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes is especially denounced. It is in this field that most of the difficulty exists. The main problem arises from those who are bent on making money in illegal traffic in intoxicating liquors. If this could be eliminated the rest would be easy.

Must Take Problem to People

"These problems must be taken directly to the American people. This government is their government. These laws are their laws. They have formed their government and enacted their laws, with all due solemnity to promote their welfare and protect their liberties. They are not a nation of inebriates; they are not a people who can be charged with being hypocrites. They have no patience with anarchy. They are sober, frank and candid people. They have respect and reverence for duly constituted authority. To the law is a rule of actions. These fundamental national characteristics are not going to be changed. These fundamental conceptions are going to remain permanent and unchangeable.

The great body of the people are thoroughly law-abiding. This great law-abiding element of the nation is entitled to support and protection.

Vouchsafes Federal Support

"I propose to give that support and protection to the limit, provided by the constitution and the law of the land, against every lawless element. The executives are required to enforce the law. The machinery for the enforcement of the law is thus supplied by the acts of congress and the acts of the state legislatures. That machinery must be used to the full extent of its capacity to secure the enforcement of the law. It is certainly in my own purpose so to use it. The people are going to continue to yield obedience to the law. This principle will continue to prevail. Whenever the American people shall pass judgment upon it, because it is the foundation of all their institutions.

Obedience to Law Expected

"We can only make progress with these problems by their frank and candid consideration. They are not going to be decided by prejudices. They are not going to be answered as a result of political intrigue. They are not going to be determined by extremists on either side.

They are not going to be solved in accordance with any sordid motive. They will yield to the calm and clear judgment of the American people, through a determined expression of their high moral purpose. The law represents the voice of the people. Behind it and supporting it is a divine sanction. Enforcement of the law and obedience to law by the very nature of our institutions are not matters of choice in this republic, but the expression of a moral requirement of living in accordance with the truth. They are clothed with a spiritual significance in which is revealed the life or the death of the American ideal of self-government."

"The national prohibition act places the duty of its enforcement on the commissioner of internal revenue, his assistants and inspectors. In accordance therewith there is an assistant commissioner in direct charge of prohibition enforcement and there are prohibition agents and inspectors in each state. Correspondent provisions will be found in nearly all state laws.

The constitution and the laws of the nation and of the several states are binding alike upon all the inhabitants. It is the constitution which we have given our oaths to support—the responsibility which we have assumed to enforce the law faithfully executed; and that the state constitutions lay a similar obligation upon their governors.

Should Know of Duties Imposed

"The constitution and the laws are perfectly plain, and the directions which they contain to the President and the governors are equally plain. The country ought to know all this. It ought to comprehend that when laws have been made, there is, and can be, no question about duty of executives to enforce them with such instruments and by such means as the law provides for securing enforcement. They have no alternatives. They cannot be criticized for doing their duty. This is not a personal question. If there be any principle which has been established by time, by common consent, by the unqualified assertion of fundamental and statute law it is that executives are the law enforcing officers of this nation. If this were not so, there would be no warrant for the present gathering. I can conceive of but one opinion on this, in which every responsible element must concur.

Binding on Every Inhabitant

"No provision of the 18th amendment, or the national prohibition act contemplates any surrender of state responsibility. Under the prohibition becomes obligatory in all states, for the constitution and the laws made in pursuance thereof are specifically declared by the federal constitution to be the supreme law of the land. They are binding upon every inhabitant. But there still remains to the states the power, specifically reserved in the 15th amendment to pass enforcing acts and there is still on them a joint responsibility to enact and execute enforcement laws, which may not always be exercised, but which can never be avoided. The complementary duty to enforcement of the law is obedience to the law. That rests with the people themselves. The 18th amendment prohibits manufacture, transportation, sale, export and import. These are the commercial activities. Trade in intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes is especially denounced. It is in this field that most of the difficulty exists. The main problem arises from those who are bent on making money in illegal traffic in intoxicating liquors. If this could be eliminated the rest would be easy.

Must Take Problem to People

"These problems must be taken directly to the American people. This government is their government. These laws are their laws. They have formed their government and enacted their laws, with all due solemnity to promote their welfare and protect their liberties. They are not a nation of inebriates; they are not a people who can be charged with being hypocrites. They have no patience with anarchy. They are sober, frank and candid people. They have respect and reverence for duly constituted authority. To the law is a rule of actions. These fundamental national characteristics are not going to be changed. These fundamental conceptions are going to remain permanent and unchangeable.

The great body of the people are thoroughly law-abiding. This great law-abiding element of the nation is entitled to support and protection.

Vouchsafes Federal Support

"I propose to give that support and protection to the limit, provided by the constitution and the law of the land, against every lawless element. The executives are required to enforce the law. The machinery for the enforcement of the law is thus supplied by the acts of congress and the acts of the state legislatures. That machinery must be used to the full extent of its capacity to secure the enforcement of the law. It is certainly in my own purpose so to use it. The people are going to continue to yield obedience to the law. This principle will continue to prevail. Whenever the American people shall pass judgment upon it, because it is the foundation of all their institutions.

Shop by Mail—Prompt and Careful Attention to All Mail Orders
New Grape Cluster Pendants 65c
Large Glass Bead Necklaces $1
Fancy Wrist Watch Ribbons 25c
Decorative Candles, all sizes, $1.50 to $3.75.
500 Large Size Dressed Dolls Very Specially Priced 98c, $2.48, $2.98

Three Big Floors Fairly Overflowing with Thoroughly Dependable Merchandise
And Priced as Low as Goods of Real Integrity Can Be Sold Legitimately, Anywhere in the Pacific Northwest

Truthful Advertising
So many people think that advertising is an attempt on the part of the merchant to persuade you to come and buy something from him, and as far as most advertising is concerned, this is the correct idea.

Three unusual dresses—make your choice
Then buy your pattern and material at our store

WORK ON RIMROCK DAM
INDICATIONS POINT TO COMPLETION IN 1925
The dam which is being raised near the headwaters of the Tieton river is acclaimed to be one of the engineering feats of the world. It is an earth fill and said to be 21 feet higher than any other of its type in the world.

Hand Embroidered Real Spanish Madera Handkerchiefs 65c
Dainty hand embroidered designs on very fine soft batiste. Excellent values at 65c each.

Handsome New Beaded Bags, Unusual at $2.95
Heavily beaded in exquisite colors of blue, Chinese blue, Indian red, cinnamon, black and gunmetal. In popular draw-string top style.

4855—Don't be afraid to attempt a fur-trimmed dress. The Deltor, enclosed with this Butterick Pattern, shows you with pictures the correct way to sew on fur. It also shows you how to lay out your pattern, how to put the dress together and how to add the finishing touches.

MALT SYRUPS UNDER BAN
HAYNES MOVES TO STAMP OUT HOME BREW
WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—As a move to stamp out the "menace" of traffic in home brewing ingredients at the source, Prohibition Commissioner Haynes has notified brewers to cease the manufacture of malt syrups, said to be the base of much home made beer, under penalty of a revocation of their permits to manufacture cereal beverages.

Gossard Type Corsetry
insures each of us looking our individual best always. Our expert corsetiers can tell you some interesting things about this new beauty aid.

To Look More Youthful
The modern Corset doesn't aim to make us all over, so we look all alike, as did the old-fashioned corset. It doesn't aim to give us that objectionable corseted look.

Beth Hats
A glorious blaze of autumn colorings. Large hats and small hats. Hats of bright hue or sombre tone. Feather trimmed and flower trimmed, or bejeweled and embroidered—all after the manner Fashion approves.

Indestructo Trunks are Fully Guaranteed Against Loss or Breakage
In fact they are doubly guaranteed—guaranteed by the maker and by this store. If any Indestructo trunk is broken or smashed beyond repair a brand new Indestructo trunk is replaced absolutely free to the customer.

From the Basement Store
100 Pieces "Bonnie Blue" Good Heavy Enamelware
Robin egg blue with white flake. Lot consists of 2-qt. Coffee Pots, 8-qt. Deep Preserving Kettles, 14-qt. Dish Pans, Covered Chambers, 4-qt. Covered Sauce Pans and 4-qt. Covered Preserving Dishes.

Everything for Baby's Health and Comfort
Every day more mothers are learning to find just the things they need for the tiny tots at the McMorran & Washburne baby section on the second floor.

McMorran & Washburne Store
TOP STYLE QUALITY ECONOMY

NEW HEADS OF BANKERS' ASSOCIATION
Walter William Head, president of the Omaha National bank, of Omaha, Neb., formerly first vice-president of the American Bankers' association, has been unanimously elected president of the association, Puellcher, of Milwaukee. William E. Knox, president of the Bowery at its 49th annual convention in Atlantic City. He succeeds J. H. Savings bank, of New York city, was elected first vice-president, and will automatically become president next year.