PROGRAM FOR "Y" BOYS IS AROUSING INTEREST

Pioneer Plan Being Extended, Is Report

CHURCHES TAKING PART

Local Association Officials Outline Details of Organization in This City

The pioneer program which is being promoted by the boys' department of the local Young Men's Christian association is getting away to a good start, according to those in charge. Already 150 boys have been lined up to take the program and others are expressing a desire to get into one of the pioneer clubs.

"This work is four-fold in its scope, helping a boy to develop physically, intellectually, socially and devotionally," said W. P. Walter, boys' secretary. "The program is no designed as to tie a boy more closely to his home, the church and the school and seeks to help him find his place in service in these three great institutions as well as a place of service in the community."

The pioneer clubs of the city are open to any boy, regardless of his religious belief or nationality. The boy simply signs an application blank for membership in one of the clubs. He is then asked to pass the pioneer test which consists of his learning the aims of a pioneer, the first verse of the "Star Spangled Banner," the salute to the American and the Christian flag and the memorizing of the Lord's prayer. He is then eligible for membership and is awarded a bronze pioneer button. He then strives for points in the four sides of the program, physical, intellectual, social and devotional.

Each month that he attains at least 50 points in each of the above phases of the program he files a notch in the pioneer button; if he gets 60 points he files two notches; 70 points he files three notches; 80 points he files four notches. It was stated when he has filed 24 notches in the button he is awarded a silver button and when he has 24 notches in the silver button he is awarded a gold button and then a third degree pioneer. There are other awards, such as felt awearer emblem and service awards. The boy is also entitled to wear the pioneer uniform which consists of corduroy hiking breeches, a flannel shirt with four pockets, a symbol of the four square program, and a pair of pioneer wool stockings. The uniform is very serviceable and can be worn to school.

Mr. Walter announces a leaders' training class which starts today at 5 p. m. and which will run for a period of five weeks. Leaders' certificates will be awarded to those leaders taking the full five weeks' course. Twenty men are already lined up for the course and it is hoped that many more will join. The course is open to any man or young man in the city interested in investing some of his spare time in helping some of the growing boys of Eugene to find themselves and their place in life.

School Credit Given

"One of the best things about this program," says Mr. Walter, "is that it gives credit for his attendance at church and Sunday school. This induces him to go to Sunday school and does not force him to go. He sees the value in taking the whole program and is willing to line up and be a regular fellow with the rest of the crowd." Boys interested in the program are urged to get in touch with Mr. Walter at the Y. M. C. A.

A local boys' council is being formed to handle the work and a pioneer news sheet will be published the latter part of the month of the fore part of November, telling of the activities of the pioneer clubs of the city. A pioneer club has been organized in the Methodist church and clubs are being organized in the Baptist, Congregational and the Christian churches. Other clubs will be formed as rapidly as leadership is available.
