DR. T. W. HARRIS DIES
AFTER EXTENDED ILLNESS

Pioneer Physician Prominent in Affairs Here

FUNERAL IS THURSDAY

Came Here in 1891 and Practiced Medicine Continuously; Former Mayor of City

Dr. T. W. Harris, pioneer physician, died at his home in the Park apartments at 77 Eleventh avenue east yesterday afternoon after a long illness. He was aged 76 years. The funeral will be held at the Veatch chapel Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Dr. E. V. Siverson, pastor of the First Christian church, will conduct the services.

Dr. Harris was born near Russellville, Putnam county, Indiana, December 27, 1849. His father, John Moses Harris, was a noted minister of the Christian church. His family moved to Minnesota in 1854 and a year later to Adams county, Illinois, where he attended public schools. The family crossed the plains with ox and horse teams and arrived in Portland on September 11, 1865. In the same fall they located on a farm near Albany in Lane county. He attended public schools and took a two years' course at Albany college. He spent one year at Christian college at Monmouth, Oregon. He then taught school in Lane county about three years. In 1872 he was graduated from the Ohio medical college at Cincinnati, Ohio. On June 1, 1872, he settled in Albany to practice medicine. In 1875 he took a post graduate course in the medical department of the University of California. In 1878 he moved to Eugene, but after two and a half years he returned to Albany.

Lived Here Since 1884

Dr. Harris' residence in Eugene dates back to 1884 when he returned to this city for the practice of his profession and had been in practice continuously since that time. During all of these years he had shown himself thoroughly conversant with the most advanced methods and principles of medicine and surgery, and in all of his professional duties he had held to high ideals and gave to his patients the benefit of his zealous service. He was always ready to respond to the call of the sick whether they were affluent or in humble financial circumstances.

He was a member of the Lane County Medical society from its inception and was elected to the presidency of this organization five times. He was also a member of the Oregon State Medical society and the American Medical association.

Member of Masonic Branches

He was a prominent Mason, belonging to the Eugene Lodge No. 11 A. F. & A. M., of which he was 33rd degree master. He was also 10 R. A. M.; Ivanhoe commandry No. 2 K. T.; Oregon consistory A. & A. S. R., and Al Kader Temple of the Mystic Shrine. He was a member of the Eugene Elks lodge No. 357. He was also a member of the Christian church. In politics he was a Republican. From 1899 to 1901 he was mayor of the city of Eugene. He was not a politician in the sense of desiring office as a reward for party fealty and service. He had, however, been chairman of the Republican county central committee for several terms and chairman of the first district congressional Republican committee and conducted three congressional campaigns. Eugene numbered him among the valued representatives, his life being one of signal service and usefulness in many connections.

Dr. Harris is survived by his widow, Mrs. Pearl Harris; two children, Judge L. T. Harris and Mrs. Agnes Harvey, all of whom reside in Eugene.
